Tobin Still Balks At Reikard Reinstatement

landlord problems since Mrs. Reikard's dismissal on May 8.

"It has been functioning quite well in the mayor's office," he said. Some of the calls, he added, were "planted" by friends of Mrs. Reikard; he could tell by the type of questions asked.

Most members of the Council wore the little buttons with crude printing on blue-green paper that said "We Want Jane" and "Save Jane a Job."

Councillor Joseph J. LaRaia, who first appointed Mrs. Reikard when he was mayor, said her work as mediator between landlords and tenants probably saved the city from a demand for rent controls.

"The Rent Grievance Board is necessary," said Councillor Francis X. McCauley. "When we eliminate this one person we have no department. We have a board of dedicated people with nothing to do."

Councillor John J. Quinn noted that Mrs. Reikard was paid only

$5,670 a year so it would "only be a drop in the bucket to continue her for six or seven weeks."

The post of executive secretary is contained in the 1980-81 budget, a $5,795 item, but Tobin said the city "may have to cut back" on a number of funded positions.

Mrs. Reikard's supporters included Dan Weisberg, a teacher of real estate economics at Boston University, who owns a number of Quincy rental buildings, including Meadowbrook Apartments.

"The role she played was a significant and important one," he said. "She kept the balance so that things didn't get out of hand between tenants and landlords."

"Her word was worth something. She spoke to my tenants the same way as she spoke to me. If my tenants were to organize against a rent increase, I would want somebody to be my mediator."

The most rousing speech in Mrs. Reikard's behalf was delivered by Sophia Kazolias of 67 Island Ave.,

Houghs Neck, who works at the Southwest Community Center.

"I must wonder," she said, noting that the job continues next year, "if it is a financial move or simply a device to get rid of Jane Reikard. Is someone else going to get the job?"

"The mayor and this council cannot play political games which hurt people and at the same time think we do not understand or care."

"If political shenanigans such as this continue the time will come when the citizens of this city will stand up and say, 'No more!'"

Others who spoke in support of Mrs. Reikard were Michael Dwyer, president of the Quincy Community Action board; Rosemary Wahlberg, executive director of QCAO; and Monica Allison, an attorney for the Greater Boston Legal Services.

Petitions containing some 500 names also were presented to the Council.

School Budget Runs Into Snag

Several committee members at the time expressed a belief the teachers would win the lawsuit.

Kennedy said the school committee would have to first reconsider the provision to pay the raises if forced to keep within the mayor's budget.

He said the May 13 decision to retain 13 previously cut art, music, physical education and industrial arts teachers would also be among the first items reconsidered.

Kennedy expressed doubt that the revenue department ruling is binding, however. "I don't see that this decision is the last word," he said.

He cited a suit by the Medford School Committee against the city administrator, in which a Superior Court judge ruled that the School Committee, not the administrator, can set the school's bottom line spending figure.

That decision was cited by Dr. Crendon at the May 13 school committee meeting as evidence that Tobin's school budget may not be legally binding. At the time Crendon also said counsel for the school department believed Tobin's action to be "premature" and "invalid."

Although the school committee failed to keep within the mayor's budget ceiling, deep cuts were made at all levels.

The school committee's budget came at a cost of nearly 500 school jobs, including 197 classroom teachers and 70 full time teachers in allied programs such as music, art, physical education, industrial arts, library services, guidance, and speech/hearing therapy.

Five elementary schools were closed.

An alternative learning program serving 105 potential dropouts was eliminated. A program for gifted elementary students was reduced.

Layoff notices were also sent to all 27 full time Quincy Junior College teachers. These notices may be rescinded if legislative approval is given to a plan to put the college on a revolving account, according to John Osterman, assistant superintendent for personnel.

Mayor Tobin said Tuesday he would not add to his $26.7 million budget unless there is additional state aid to the city. He would not specify what percentage of additional monies would go to the schools.

He said if no substantial increase in state aid is forthcoming, the additional teacher layoffs he warned of earlier were possible.

"But additional monies may straighten out our problems," he said. "Everybody ought to sit back and cool it," he said, referring to his budget dispute with the school department.

"Everybody ought to sit back and cool it," he said, referring to his budget dispute with the school department.

QJC Culinary Arts Accepting Students

The Culinary Arts Program at Quincy Junior College, which provides students with the skills for careers in restaurants, hotels and resorts, is taking applications for admissions in September.

"Not only do students learn the basics of many different kinds of cooking and baking but they learn overall kitchen management as well," said Ed Tolini, culinary arts instructor.

"Our graduates are chefs at South Shore Country Club, Logan Airport's Sky Chef, the Ritz Carlton and many other distinguished restaurants in Boston and the South Shore."

"The food service industry is an expanding industry. The opportunities for a fulfilling and financially rewarding career are limitless."

Raymondi Sees 1981 Decisive Election Year

City Councillor Daniel G. Raymondi, a candidate for mayor has called the upcoming mayoral election "decisive for Quincy's future."

Raymondi told more than 40 people at a coffee party at the home of Charles Kane, 50 Warwick St., North Quincy, that "Quincy is at a crossroads."

"We will either be remembered for the things that we accomplish in enabling this city to reach its highest potential or we shall be remembered forever for the steps we did not take but perhaps should have taken to ensure that Quincy remained a viable and dynamic city."

He pledged to be an "honest and hardworking administrator (who will) take firm control of the reins of government and with competence, common sense and personal involvement lead the city on a positive course."

Raymondi denounced the politics of "blame and negativism" that are crippling the city and added that "Quincy is being torn from within by political factionalism and bickering that has a tendency to color objectivity and judgement."

He vowed to bring the city together to overcome the "negative effects" of city government infighting.

"My campaign is based upon the premise of unity," said Raymondi. "Together we can offer Quincy the new start it needs to survive in the 1980's."

"Positive action must be taken now or the city will face a dismal and dying future."

Council, Mayor Seek To Resolve Sewer Dispute

The City Council's Public Works Committee will meet in the next few days to seek a resolution to a dispute between the Council and the mayor that threatens to bring the city's development to a halt.

The city recently received word from the State Division of Water Pollution Control that a permit for a School St. development to hook into the sewer system is being denied.

The reason for the denial is that the Town Brook Interceptor, which serves South Quincy and traverses Quincy Center, is so outdated that it cannot handle the expected flow.

And the city can't get the federal or state funds to update the connector until it has an approved sewer user charge and the city Council has turned down four of the mayor's proposals for such a charge.

That was the stalemate Monday night when Mayor Arthur H. Tobin passed along to the Council two communications from the Division of Water Pollution Control along with a letter of his own.

"In order to continue the development momentum of our city," he said, "the Council will have to act favorably on an acceptable sewer usage program of which several plans have been submitted."

"Kindly inform my office as to which of the several plans previously submitted is acceptable to the City Council so that the future development of our city will not be impeded."

Councillor Daniel G. Raymond moved the package into the Public Works Committee so that the Council "can begin the process of opening communication in an attempt to resolve this serious problem," he said.

"I don't think we can, in a sense, turn our backs on the responsibility we all share with the mayor's office to resolve this problem," he said.

Councillor John J. Quinn, who chairs the committee, said he will call a meeting before the next Council meeting on June 1 to discuss the whole subject of the city's sewer system.

"We'll just talk about this and we'll go from A to Z on it and come up with some conclusion," he said.

"It is unthinkable to have various projects come to a halt because we can't come to a conclusion in this particular area."

Politics aside, it's up to all of us to keep moving this city forward just a little bit. To put the brakes on it and lock the brakes in place is not in the best interest of the city."

QCAO No. 1

In Weatherization

The Quincy Community Action Organization's weatherization program has been ranked number one in Massachusetts for total percentage of units weatherized in a seven month period.

As a result, the QCAO Energy Department received a commendation from the Offices of Energy Conservation and Communities and Development.

The Weatherization Program is designed to assist eligible low income residents of Quincy, Braintree, Cohasset, Milton and Weymouth in combating rising utility costs by cutting their consumption through weatherization.

QCAO was mandated to complete 210 units to meet its quota. Instead it completed 354 units which was 165 per cent of the production goal.

The Energy Department was also able to stretch its dollars further by spending less money for materials per unit than any other local program.

On the average, weatherization saves approximately 25 - 30 per cent on fuel and utility bills.

$77,000 Plumbing Work

Plumbing and Gas Fitting Inspector James A. Erwin Jr., reported that he issued 114 plumbing permits for work estimated to cost $77,010 during the month of April.

He collected $646 in fees and made 190 inspections.

A total of 69 permits were issued for gas fittings estimated to cost $24,805. Permit fees totalled $218 and there were 94 inspections.

Quincy Pupils Learn To Understand Handicapped

Quincy public schools and the Volunteer Information Agency are sponsoring a school program called "Understanding Handicaps" to acquaint youngsters with the problems of the handicapped.

It has been running as a pilot program at the Quincy School, under the direction of Dr. Luleen Anderson, coordinator of psychological services for the public schools, and Mrs. Joan McDonald, head of the VIA's Understanding Handicaps Program.

The special needs staff of the school has been conducting classes to familiarize the students with blindness, retardation, physical and learning disabilities.

Betty Hourihan, director of VIA, said recent studies have shown that prejudices toward handicapped people are best addressed at the fourth grade level. "One of the most difficult things about being handicapped is the world reacts to your handicap," said Dr. Carol Lee Griffin, director of Pupil Personal Services for the Quincy schools.

"The Understanding Handicaps program is designed to sensitize fourth graders to all disabled persons."

"We are using a curriculum which is entertaining and allows for a great deal of student participation," said Dr. Patricia DeVal, coordinator of special education in Quincy schools.

"Students have worn masks and used canes to experience blindness. They have become familiar with braces and crutches. They have even tried to talk with a mouthful of marshmallows, feeling the frustration of a person with a speech impediment."

"The VIA's goal is to educate as many fourth graders as is humanly possible," said Mrs. McDonald.

St. Coletta Day School To Hold 15th Summer Program

Crisafulli, "there are daily opportunities for academic enrichment."

One of the few Massachusetts Chapter 766-approved private summer programs, the Braintree St. Coletta program is also accredited by the American Camping Association.

For older students, Crisafulli has developed an adventure program which includes problem-solving activities, community awareness skills, sailing, canoeing, backpacking and swimming.

The summer program student ratio is very low. "On an average, we have one staff member for every three summer program participants," said Crisafulli. Many of our staff members have been working together over a number of years," he adds. "As a result, we have an excellent program."

Information on the summer program is available by calling Braintree St. Coletta Day School at 848-6250.

Hard Times For Quincy, North Baseball Teams

The Quincy and North Quincy baseball teams have fallen on hard times this season with each having only a 2-9 record going into this week's games.

And neither team can claim the city championship, as North defeated Quincy, 7-2, last week to avenge an earlier loss to the Presidents.

Quincy hosted Cambridge Rindge and Latin yesterday (Wednesday), is home to Newton North today (Thursday) at 3:30 at Adams Field and next Thursday will wind up against Brookline at 3:30 at Adams.

North today plays at Weymouth South at 3:30, will be at Newton North Tuesday at 3:30 and next Thursday night will host Cambridge in a 7:30 arc-light game at Adams Field.

Bob Bolster continued to pitch well for North last week, holding Quincy to five hits and striking out eight. Gary DiNardo, who has pitched well for the Presidents this spring, was the loser.

The Raiders scored three runs in the first and third innings as Ken Mann had three hits and two RBI. Jamie Walsh had two hits and an RBI and Mark Millane had a hit and an RBI.

Later in the week Quincy bowed to Weymouth North, 9-3, and North lost to Suburban League-leading Brockton, 7-3, but continued to give the Boxers trouble.

North coach Charlie Bunker started sophomore Jim Kelly, who pitched outstanding ball for four innings. North led, 2-1, after four innings but Brockton scored three in the fifth and added three in the seventh.

Earlier in the season Brockton had overcome a 4-1 North lead to win, 5-4, in eight innings. "In 10 years I've been at Brockton, North Quincy has been by far our toughest opponent. Before this year they had beaten us five times in a row and I think the series now stands at 10-10."

In their previous two games Quincy had been shut out, 9-0 by Silver Lake and 3-0 by Brockton.

"This is just one of those years," said Coach Bud Mosher. "We just can't put everything together." DiNardo has been one of the few bright spots for Quincy, pitching both victories and pitching well on other occasions.

North had lost its previous game, 6-2, to Waltham.

"It has been a frustrating season," Bunker said. "We have lost five games by one run, leading in most of those games going into the last inning."

"By far our most pleasant surprise has been Bob O'Brien, our sophomore shortstop who has been outstanding all year, making only two errors. He has made some spectacular plays and is as good defensively as any shortstop in the league. He also is batting .255."

"Despite our record, we have had some very good pitching from Bob Bolster, Mark Millane, Jamie Walsh and Paul Earle. Our big problem has been behind the plate, where Bob Biagini (now in the Red Sox farm system) left an awfully big hole. I'd venture to say if we had him this year we would have won four or five games we lost."

—TOM SULLIVAN

North Girls Clinch Suburban Track Crown

The North Quincy girls' track team virtually clinched an undefeated Suburban League championship last week when it defeated a strong Newton North team by a surprising 77-41 score to improve its record to 7-0.

Lou Tozzi's Raiderettes needed only a victory over Quincy Tuesday to finish unbeaten and they were solid favorites to do just that.

The North girls won nine of the 14 events against Newton and Linda Kennedy broke the school record in the two-mile, winning in 11:28.0.

The Raiderettes swept both the discus and shot put as unbeaten Michelle Millane won both events. She did 38-3/4 in the shot and 111-11 in the discus. Caryn Smith was second and Kathy McCarthy third in the shot, while Karen Lindenfelzer was second and Smith third in the discus.

Other North winners were Lisa Cavanaugh in the javelin (106-1); Kara Crehan, high jump (5-0); Mary Kate Kennedy, 220 (27.5); Mary Gannon, 440 (64.8); and Nancy McCarthy, 880 (2:31.4).

The mile relay team won in 4:44.8.

Placing second for North were Lindenfelzer, discus; Smith, shot;

Deirdre Donovan, long jump; Lindenfelzer, 220; O'Donnell, 880; and Sheila Barrett, mile.

Taking third places were Smith, discus; Kathy McCarthy, shot; Mary Kate Kennedy, long jump; Jane Leonhardt, hurdles; Kathy McCarthy, 100; Lisa Reynolds, 440; and Mary Crehan, mile.

In their two previous meets North had defeated Cambridge Rindge and Latin, 66½-51½ and topped Brookline, 69-48.

Kara Crehan broke the league record in the high jump against Cambridge, clearing 5-5½. She had shared the old mark of 5-4.

The Raiderettes made an excellent showing in the recent State Coaches Open Invitational meet at Brockton, setting four school records. There were no team scores and it was strictly an individual meet.

Millane won the discus with her best toss ever, 135-5.

Underclassmen Give Quincy Hope For Brighter Future

Although the Quincy boys' track team took only a 2-5 record into Tuesday's finale with North Quincy, Coach Mark Conroy is pleased with the performances of several underclassmen and sees better things in the future.

Last week the Presidents were edged by Brookline, 73-72, and probably would have won its third meet if a couple of seniors hadn't decided to skip the meet.

Brookline had already clinched the meet going into the two relays but the Presidents won both to come within a point.

"We felt we had a chance to finish at .500," Conroy said. "The future looks bright at Quincy and a lot of our younger kids are doing well."

"I respect the boys who ran the two relays. They knew we had already lost the meet but they did it for pride and did outstanding jobs."

Quincy's 440 relay team comprised Chris McCray, Richard Parker, Mike Shaughnessy and Dave Church. The mile team had Shawn Burnes, Sean Burke, Fran Connell and Mike Williams.

Sophomores Williams, McCray and Parker had good days, each winning an event in addition to running with the winning relay teams.

McCray won the 100 in 10.4 seconds, Williams took the 440 in 52.5 and Parker won the long jump at 18-7.

Other Quincy winners were Bill

Walsh in the high hurdles (18.1), Burnes in the low hurdles (41.6), Larry Newman in the javelin (148-8) and Fran Duggan in the discus (118-7).

Taking seconds for Quincy were Parker, 100; Shaughnessy, 220; Jim Zupkofska, high hurdles; Burke, low hurdles; McCray, triple jump; and John Herald, pole vault.

Placing third were Burke, discus; Church, 100; Williams, high jump; Walsh, long jump; Mattson, javelin; and Bill Bomar, shot put.

Later in the week the Presidents were no match for powerful Weymouth South, one of the Suburban League powers, and bowed, 103-42.

A-N Girls Romp Over Sterling

Markham and Ellen DeLuca.

Other A-N winners were Meg Leary in the mile, Tracy Coull in the 880 and Tammy Powers in the shot put.

Taking seconds were Theresa Hutchings in the long jump, Marjie Markham in the shot, Alice Seto in the hurdles and Julie Walsh in the mile. Ellen DeLuca took third in the 880.

The Atlantic-North Jayvees just missed a shutout as they paraded over Sterling, 77-1.

The Jayvees swept the long jump with Angela Nogueira, Wanda Ilacqua and Susan Geary 1-2-3; Donna Woods, Stephanie Petrakos and Donna Gelsomini were 1-2-3 in the high jump and Jean O'Hare, Patti Catalte and Michelle Palmer 1-2-3 in the shot put.

Woods, Debbie Leonard and Kerri Burke swept the hurdles and O'Hare, Ilacqua and Palmer swept the 100. Christine Edmonds and Barbara McCarthy were 1-2 in the 440. Joy Pimental won the 880 and Joanne Linahan and Michelle Wallace were 1-2 in the mile.

Both relay teams won, Ilacqua, Patty Gibbons, Woods and Palmer making up the one-lap team and Carol Keating, Leonard, O'Hare and JoAnne Zdanowski made up the two-lap team.

North swept the 100-yard dash with Don Fink winning in 11.7 seconds, Chris Gazelis second and Bob King third.

Jim Kennedy won the 440 in 61 seconds with John Tambauri second.

Dave Blaton won the 880 in 2:25 with Bill Donnelly third, and Wally Sullivan won the mile in 5:18 with John Sullivan second.

John DeLappe won the hurdles in 7.1 seconds with John McGuire tied for third, DeLappe also won the high jump at 5-7 with Kennedy second, and Fink won the long jump at 17 feet with King second and third.

Phil Iacobucci won the shot put at 30 feet with Joe O'Hare second.

Both relay teams won, the one-lap team of Gazelis, Fazel Rachied, McGuire and Blaton winning in 44.1 seconds and the two-lap team of King, Fink, O'Hare and Kennedy winning in 1:27.

In the Broad Meadows meet North trailed by eight points going into the final two events, the relays, and won both to squeeze by.

The young Raiders trailed, 40-32, but the one-lap relay team of Gizelis, Rachied, McGuire and Tambauri won in 44 seconds.

Then the two-lap team of Bob King, Don Fink, Joe O'Hare and Jim Kennedy blew past BM in 1 minute, 44 seconds to win the meet.

"I am very pleased," Hourin said. "The kids did a great job and the two relay teams really came through for us."

Fink won the 100 for North in 11 seconds with Gizelis third. Kennedy won the 440 in 58 seconds and John DeLappe was a double winner, taking the 45-yard hurdles in 6.7 seconds and winning the high jump as he jumped over his own height of 5-7.

Dave Blaton was second in the half mile and John Sullivan second in the mile.

Joe Russell placed second in the shot put, Kennedy was third in the high jump and King, Fink and Tambauri tied for third in the long jump.

10 QHS Seniors College Bound On Scholarships

Ten of the 20 senior members of last fall's Quincy High football team will enter college in the fall on football scholarships.

Last week Coach Tom Fitzgerald hosted a breakfast get-together of the players, their parents, coaches, school administrators and college coaches.

Only two college coaches, head coach Bob Weiss of Worcester Tech, and Boston University assistant Buddy Teevens, were able to attend, with the others sending their regrets.

Among the school administrators present were QHS Principal Lloyd Hill, Assistant Principal Bob Basiliere, Vo-Tech Acting Principal Edward Hannon, QHS Guidance Counselor Bill Hutchinson, Vo-Tech Guidance Counselor Francis Bukunt, Athletic Coordinator Carl Leone and former coach Bill Sullivan.

Weiss expressed his delight at outstanding end and center Ed Mackey choosing Worcester Tech.

"Our scouts saw Ed several times and we know what an outstanding player he is," Weiss said. "We are delighted to have him coming to Worcester and we know he is going to help us considerably."

Teevens was equally enthusiastic about Sean Burke, 6-5 end, picking Boston University.

"Sean is an outstanding end and has a great pair of hands," he said. "We are eagerly looking forward to having him at Boston University."

The other players going to college on football scholarships are:

Fran Duggan, all-scholastic tackle, Harvard. Fran last week was one of 11 schoolboy players to receive the National Football Foundation and Hall of Fame scholar-athlete award.

Halfback Mike Abboud, Northeastern.

Linebacker Walter Kilgallon, U. of Lowell.

Quarterback Ron Pettinelli, Lowell.

End Jim St. Angelo, Norwich University.

Halfback Ed Iodice, Plymouth State.

End Scott Anson, Plymouth State.

Tackle Chris Chevalier, the only Vo-Tech student receiving a scholarship, Hudson Valley Community College, Troy, NY, the fourth ranked junior college in the nation in football.

"We are very pleased to have 10 of our players going to college on scholarships," Fitzgerald said. "We know you all will make a fine impression in college and make things easier for players who will go to college in the future."

Fitzgerald introduced assistant coaches Peter Chella and Bill Mayer, who, along with Mark Conroy, who was unable to be present, are due to lose their jobs due to Proposition 2½.

"We are awfully sorry to lose such fine young coaches, but they will always be with the players in spirit and ready to give any help

DANGER IN THE GARAGE

There are two areas in the home that wind up as junk collection points - the attic and garage. The difference is that the materials stored in the garage can destroy your home. I am referring to the flammable liquids such as gasoline, paint thinner, varnish, etc. Vapors and spills from these dangerous liquids are major fire hazards. Especially since children are particularly fascinated with garages.

Here's some advice. Store flammable liquids in sturdy metal containers (never glass) with labels and tight-fitting caps. Do not fill gasoline containers to the top but allow room for expansion. If you have young children, store all receptacles in a locked metal wall cabinet.

Machinery should be fueled outside of the garage. If there is a major gasoline spill, ventilate the garage thoroughly.

Pratt Concerned Over Future Physical Education Programs

The April 2 story in The Quincy Sun telling of the projected cutting of 27 coaches at Quincy and North Quincy High Schools prompted Mary Pratt, long-time athlete and coach, who is an adapted physical educator in the city working in the special needs program, to give her opinion of the situation.

"Segments of physical education could be devastated as decisions are made in local cities and towns resulting from the mandates of Proposition 2½ and the effects of declining enrollment," said Mary, now coaching on the junior high level.

"In some communities drastic cuts in teaching personnel are either contemplated or have already been made. This could have a tremendous impact on the structure and direction of future physical education programs within the public school sector."

"In order to function within the projected financial constraints of Proposition 2½, budget cutting is an absolute necessity and so many school committees and administrators have set to the task of determining which physical education services will be retained and which will be curtailed."

"The discipline of physical education is very broad in scope, involving at one end of the spectrum, the teaching of basic fundamental gross motor skills. At the opposite end of the continuum, physical educators instruct students in the skills generally associated with sports and athletics. Done in the after-school hours, we tend to label it as coaching and it continues to remain an integral part of the overall physical education curriculum."

MARY PRATT

"At the present time it would appear that great concern is being addressed to the after-school athletic segment of the program. This became very obvious to me when I read an article in the April 2 edition of The Quincy Sun. Teachers, principals and an administrator expressed concern over the possible loss of 27 high school coaches in Quincy."

"I sensed less concern over the possible loss of their full-time teaching positions. Reference was made to the fact that most of the coaches were physical educators, when in fact only 16 of the 35 in the department currently do coaching. The coaching assignments which are well in excess of 100, are held by predominantly male members of the academic staff."

"Elementary physical education teachers instruct approximately 150-180 children, with all levels of ability within the framework of 8-10 classes a day. Secondary staff members carry similar loads with a 5-7 period day. Most coaches work with squads that would approximate the size of a traditional class and in most instances the skill level of a student is above average. Their assistants work with a similar number. Many of the sports being offered on the varsity and junior varsity level are being duplicated by out of school organizations. The same is true with the junior high athletic program."

Mary pointed to the youth baseball, football and hockey programs and the many YMCA programs as examples.

"Today, more than ever, we realize the benefits to be gained when children at the primary level are given the opportunity to develop their motoric and physical abilities. The positive effects derived from early intervention are numerous. In fact, gross motor development can really be viewed as a stage of readiness for the more formalized classroom work."

"It just seems educationally unsound that we show so much concern for the loss of coaches and yet hear little in regard to elementary physical education programs which in large measure will be delegated to the regular classroom teacher come September. Yes, it is legal! The current state regulations do not require that a certified physical educator teach grades K-6."

"Proposition 2½ may never solve all of our budgetary problems. However, it might serve as a catalyst that is needed if we are to rethink and rearrange our priorities. Many of us anxiously await as school officials chart their courses for the Fall. Their actions will affect the lives of thousands of students and after all, isn't that what schools are all about?"

QJC Finishes Hot

By PETE ZOIA

Coach Dave Burke's Quincy Junior College baseball team won three games to finish with a 7-3 record after a slow start.

The Jaguars walloped Blue Hills Technical, 11-2, in the season's finale with Bob Thomas pitching a no-hitter for five innings. Burke put in Jack Connolly to pitch the last two innings. Thomas helped his own cause with two hits as the Jaguars scored all their runs in the first four innings.

John Connolly had a home run and a single, Paul Vespaziani, John Newcomb and Jack Connolly had two hits apiece and Steve Cook, Eric Carrera and Mike McCormack had one each.

In its previous game QJC again blasted Blue Hills, 12-1, with John Wilkinson striking out 13 and giving up only three hits in six innings. Connolly pitched the last inning and struck out the side.

Four runs in the first paved the way for the Jaguars and five in the third wrapped things up.

Wilkinson, former North Quincy and Morrisette Legion pitcher, finished unbeaten and also played well in the outfield, hit well and had a number of stolen bases. Cook had a homerun, Carrera and Newcomb had three hits apiece, Wilkinson and Joe Argente two each and Vespaziani one.

Earlier in the week the Jaguars had defeated Wentworth, 4-2, as Thomas pitched three-hit ball, struck out eight and walked only two. QJC scored the two winning runs in the last inning.

Cook reached on a fielders choice, stole second and scored the winner on Carrera's single. Wilkinson drove in Carrera with the insurance run.

Carrera had two hits and an RBI. Argente drove in two runs to tie the score in the third and Newcomb, Jack Connolly and McCormack also had hits.

"Thomas, Wilkon and Jack Connolly were probably the three best pitchers we have had at one time at QJC," said Burke, who completed his 13th year as the Jaguars' only coach. "They also did a tremendous job at the other positions they played." Thomas is a former North Quincy star and Connolly pitched at Weymouth North.

● South Suburban Softball

McGinley Belts Grand Slam For PJ's

Den Dellmano (2-0) pitched the Outlaws to a 6-4 victory over the Tigers in the Suburban Softball League with Joe Condon (1-2) the loser.

The Outlaws completed a sweep with a 2-0 win in the second game as Steve O'Rourke (2-0) spun a three-hitter and Jim Austin hit a two-run homer in the first inning. The Outlaws are now 4-0.

Bill's Welding swept the Presidential Pub, winning, 8-4, in the first game as Tony Monti (2-0) pitched six-hit ball, Kevin Cox went two-for-three including a homer and had two RBI and Steve Mancuso was two-for-two. Al Vak made several fine defensive plays. Bill's also won the nightcap, 8-7, with Bill Wylo's third hit of the game driving in the winning run. Roger Galante (1-0) topped Tom Watts for the win.

Joe McGinley's grand slam homer in the bottom of the seventh was the key blow as PJ's Mini Mart edged Roxie's Market, 12-11. Dan Finn improved his record to 2-0, while Mike McAuley took the loss in relief. John McFarlane was four-for-four and Dave Flaherty went three-for-three.

PJ's completed a sweep with a 6-2 win in the second game, sparked by McGinley's three-run homer.

Quincy Girls Win 2, Raiderettes Divide Pair

The Quincy girls' softball team, which had lost its first four games, won four in a row, then lost two more, last week had its batting shoes on and breezed to two easy wins to even its record at 6-6.

Quincy walloped Weymouth North, 16-7, and earlier in the week had romped over Waltham, 15-5.

Barbara Webster's First Ladies played at Cambridge yesterday (Wednesday) and will be at Newton North Friday at 3:30.

In the win over Weymouth

North, Quincy overcame a 5-0 deficit as Nancy Chludzinski had three hits and three RBI and Liz Derbes added three hits and an RBI. Sue Gallery was the winner. She has pitched every game for the First Ladies.

Chludzinski drove in four runs and Susan Callahan two in the victory over Waltham.

Lou Ioanilli's North Quincy girls pounded Brookline, 20-1, last week but were bombed by Brockton, 20-5, in their next game to make their record 5-7.

The Raiderettes today host

Weymouth South at 3:30 and Tuesday will be home to Newton North at 3:30. Both games will be at Artery Field.

In the romp over Brookline JoAnn Runge, Lauren Apollo and Sue Ayles had four hits apiece for the North girls.

The Quincy junior varsity, again coached by Hank Conroy, is having another fine season.

Other jayvees are Stephanie Veneto, Theresa Flynn, Mary Ann Higgins, Dolly Doherty and Stacey Doherty.

WEEK OF MAY 21

AQUARIUS—January 21-February 19

Keep rivalries on a professional, not a personal, level. Romantic dilemma seems to defy solution — till the answer lands right in your lap. Hunches are strong all week.

PISCES—February 20-March 20

Good time to get away from it all, preferably with a close friend. Don't take financial good fortune for granted. Avoid controversial topics whenever possible.

ARIES—March 21-April 20

A financially beneficial week provided you take the initiative more often. Friendship doubts diminish and love is on the upswing. Faraway place suddenly seems much closer.

TAURUS—April 21-May 22

Allow more time for long-term financial planning. Your best role is a supporting one, out of the limelight. Don't neglect health concerns — especially those relating to the throat.

GEMINI—May 23-June 21

Favorite person is surprisingly reserved but don't pressure him/her. Despite this, weekend sparkles with social fun. Household chores may prove more than bargained for.

CANCER—June 22-July 22

Romantic setback is reversed by weekend provided you take a patient, mature approach. Look for new angle in dealing with work problem. Reclusive friend perks up.

LEO—July 23-August 22

Written agreements may prove deceptive, sign nothing on impulse and resist pressure tactics. In all areas but romance, use a conservative approach and tried-and-true methods.

VIRGO—August 23-September 22

Life on the job improves, but rival isn't entirely out of picture. Good week to re-evaluate long-term relationships and short-term goals. Fellow Virgo proves great friend.

LIBRA—September 23-October 22

Good news from out of town highlights the week. Contests of skill, not chance, are favored now. Help friend boost confidence by unearthing a hidden talent.

SCORPIO—October 23-November 21

Good time to tie up financial loose ends and to speak up about any injustices, no matter how minor. VIP figures in weekend picture and more than lives up to expectations.

SAGITTARIUS—November 22-December 22

Communication is the week's theme. Making requests comes easily and a mail or phone tie-up is straightened out. One warning: Check that comments aren't taken out of context.

CAPRICORN—December 23-January 20

Friends reveal intimate secrets but your best reaction is a blasé one. Mini windfall brightens the week, despite mechanical troubles and communication tangles.

BIRTHDAY THIS WEEK

Versatility is your trademark, proving both a strength and a weakness. A marvelous conversationalist, your verbal skills prove invaluable assets over next four months. Mid-autumn try-outs are favorably accepted.

BORN THIS WEEK

Quirk Plans Ford Agency For Old President Chevrolet Site

By NANCY McLAUGHLIN
Daniel J. Quirk told the License Board Tuesday he plans to spend $150,000 to upgrade the old President Chevrolet building at 540 Southern Artery and establish Quirk Ford Inc.

But Quirk will have to come up with further plans to improve the property to win the approval of Building Inspector Allan MacDonald.

Quirk, whose application for a Motor I (new car) license was continued to next week, told the board he will lease the property from Ford Motor Co., present owner.

Between 50 and 100 people would be employed at the establishment, according to Quirk who added that taxes on the property are in excess of $40,000. MacDonald said that he would like Quirk to further improve the area by adding landscaping and having 10 foot setbacks.

"The area is going to be brought up," said MacDonald, "big things are coming."

Quirk didn't think much landscaping would be possible "because I have to display what I'm selling."

MacDonald and Quirk then clashed over landscaping obstructing Quirk's display of cars.

MacDonald insisted that low shrubbery would be feasible.

"It doesn't have to be a blacktop jungle," said MacDonald who added that he was only asking Quirk to do what other Quincy businesses are doing.

"I would vote for the license and hope the business would be a success," said MacDonald, "but I want it (the property) to be upgraded. It's a very simple thing to ask. It would be good for him (Quirk) and good for the city."

Police Chief Francis Finn commented that Quincy automobile agencies are "going out fast" and said that six such businesses have closed in the last two years.

Finn suggested Quirk and MacDonald sit down together and iron out their differences.

'Not Going To Be Easy'

Hospital, QJC Accounts Face Legislative Problem

Quincy's bid to separate City Hospital and the Quincy Junior College from the city budget and set them up in enterprise accounts of their own have run into unexpected problems in the Legislature.

"I don't think they're in trouble," said Sen. Paul D. Harold, "but it's not going to be as easy as we initially anticipated."

The chief problem is that Rep. Robert A. Vigneau (D-Burlington), House chairman of the Committee on Local Affairs, takes a dim view of any and all revolving accounts.

"He has opposed them for the past 13 years," said Harold, who is the Senate chairman of the same committee, "and he feels he has to be consistent."

The home rule petitions for City Hospital and the Junior College have run a tortuous course since they were approved by the City Council and sent to the Legislature by Mayor Arthur H. Tobin.

At first they were bundled up in one big omnibus package that included similar home rule petitions from 23 other cities and towns that saw them as a way around certain aspects of Proposition 2½.

"The omnibus draft we came up with contained 80 to 90 percent of what the city was looking for in the Quincy bills," said Harold.

Later, the Junior College bill was separated from the package so that it could retain the "roll over" provisions, that is, it could keep one year's surplus into the next.

"Quincy Junior College is unique in that it is the only such college in the state that is part of a public school system," said Harold. "The Quincy reps thought they could get it through the House."

Harold said Vigneau permitted the Junior College to be removed from the omnibus package as a courtesy to him.

He said he is going to try to remove the City Hospital bill from the package when it gets to the Senate so the Hospital too can have a "roll over" provision in order to build a new hospital facility.

"Then it can go to the Houses as a separate bill to be voted on its merits and not as a procedural matter," said Harold. "It's a way of circumventing the House chairman."

"Whatever is the most opportune thing we will do."

Licensing Board He Sunday Danci

Chief FRANCIS FINN

'I haven't received as many calls...'

By NANCY McLAUGHLIN
"I haven't received as many calls on anything as I have on this," said Police Chief Francis X. Finn Tuesday as the City License Board continued its deliberations on public Sunday dancing in Quincy.

Finn said all of the calls registered opposition to the topic which the board eventually voted to continue to the June 9 meeting. Health Commissioner Dr. Robert P. McKeogh opposed the continuance.

"Personally, I see no big problem (with Sunday dancing)," said Finn, "but if that's the will of the people..."

Building Inspector Allan MacDonald also said he has received a number of calls from people concerned with the License Board's possibly changing its policy by allowing Sunday dancing.

City Clerk John Gillis read to the board, letters opposing Sunday dancing, from St. Joseph's Church, St. Ann's Church and St. John's Church.

Gillis also read letters from the Quincy Citizens Association and its president, Arthur Chandler, favoring a city ordinance proposed by Councillor Daniel Raymond which would prohibit Sunday dancing.

osition Sour Note

Rep. Robert Cerasoli also registered opposition to the matter, according to Gillis.

The only letter in favor of Sunday dancing, said Gillis, was from Carmela Lynch, 83, who wrote she saw nothing wrong with Sunday dancing.

"It's a controversial issue because it involves Sunday, the Lord's Day," said Richard J. Vita, manager of the Quincy Bay Inn, who opened up the question of Sunday dancing when he recently requested a Sunday entertainment license.

Vita asked that his request be tabled until the city council votes on the proposed ordinance June 1.

He felt that the ordinance was "a long way from being passed." Vita also said that the letters and calls of opposition did not convince him that there wasn't a large, quiet majority of citizens not opposed to Sunday dancing where it was appropriate.

"It's been 50 years since it (Sunday dancing) was passed

Condon Proposal

Approval Expected For 'Reasonable' Condo Law

By TOM HENSHAW

"It may not be the best legislation," said City Councillor Joanne Condon, "but it's a step in the right direction. Without the Rent Grievance Board, there is no protection for anyone."

It was with this in mind that Mrs. Condon hastened a hearing before her Ordinance Committee Tuesday night on a proposal to regulate condominium conversion in Quincy.

Her proposal is considerably less restrictive than an ordinance that was introduced last year by Councillor James A. Sheets and drew opposition from all sides.

"I believe that a reasonable proposal could probably be agreed on by a majority of landlords and tenants," said Mrs. Condon.

"This ordinance protects the rights of the tenants and gives the landlords the opportunity to convert if it is right. It also provides for the Board of Appeals to oversee the process.

"I hope by June 15 that we can put all the pieces together and have a vote on it."

One of the major differences between the current proposal and that advanced by Sheets is that this one does not set a bottom line vacancy rate for the city under which conversion could not take place.

The Condon proposal provides that:

- No residential property can be converted to condominium unless a notice of intent has been submitted to the Board of Appeals and a copy of the notices is given to the tenants of the building.

- Tenants will have six months notice to vacate; or if they are elderly on a fixed income, handicapped or in severe need they will have two years to get out.

- Tenants will have 120 days in which to decide whether to purchase the unit in which they live.

- The Board of Appeals will hold a public hearing on a conversion application within 120 days of filing and the hearing must be published 14 days prior to the date set.

Among the points to be considered at the hearing are the condition of the building, its conformance to the building code and the impact of conversion on the city's tax base and tax rate.

The Board is empowered into the hardship of operating the building as rental housing and the hardships that would be placed on elderly, handicapped and low income tenants by conversion.

Any owner who violates the ordinance would be subject to a fine of not more than $200.

Dispute Continues

Court Action Possible On School Budget

By FRANK MORTIMER

Several School Committee members believe that nothing short of a law suit can get their $28.4 million budget into the City Council chambers for consideration.

But as of Tuesday afternoon, no one seemed ready to fire the first legal shot at Mayor Arthur Tobin.

Tobin gained the edge last week in the budget battle when the state Department of Revenue ruled that under Prop 2½ mayors in the state can set the school budget bottom line.

The decision came as a shock to the School Committee, which was recently told by its counsel that Tobin's $26.7 million budget submitted in February was "premature" and "invalid."

Finance Committee budget hearings are scheduled to begin tonight (Thursday) with the school budget planned for 8 p.m.

School Committeewoman Patricia Toland said Tuesday she spoke with Paul Gordon, executive secretary of the Mass. Association of School Committees, who, she said, told her the revenue department ruling will stand unless challenged by a law suit.

Mrs. Toland said she was told that the suit would have to be filed by "an aggrieved school committee" against the mayor.

Mrs. Toland was also told that a recent Superior Court suit by the Medford School Committee against the city manager over the budget "did not obviate" the more recent department of revenue ruling. In the Medford case, Justice Herbert Abrams ruled that the city manager must submit the school committee budget to the city council.

Mrs. Toland said she would not initiate a suit against the mayor over the school budget, and hoped that legal action could be avoided.

School committee member Mary Collins said she would

7,100 More Riders At North Quincy MBTA

The commuting rate at the North Quincy MBTA station will go up by some 7,100 riders per day on June 20 when the section of the Red Line between Andrew and Ashmont stations is closed for repairs.

The additional riders will be bused from Mattapan and Ashmont to North Quincy until Dec. 26 when the reconstruction of the Dorchester line and the Mattapan High Speed line are completed.

In order to handle the overflow, trains on the Quincy Red Line will operate at 3- to four minute intervals instead of six at peak hours and six to seven minutes intervals instead of 11 at off peak.

Mila Dixon, spokesman for the MBTA, said some trips will stop at Quincy and return to Boston to relieve overcrowding and give extra service to Wollaston and North Quincy.

A few buses will run from Ashmont to Andrew station, she said.

The shuttle from Ashmont and Mattapan will be free, she said, and those commuters will receive a transfer entitling them to ride from North Quincy to Boston for 50 cents, the same fare paid now from Ashmont.

Auditor Committee To Interview Mullaney

The City Council's Special Committee to Elect an Auditor will meet Tuesday, June 2, at 5:30 p.m. in the Council Chambers to interview James Mullaney, the sixth candidate for the post.

Mullaney, a Quincy accountant who lives at 86 Sims Rd., Wollaston, was out of town attending his daughter's graduation from college when the other five candidates were interviewed.

Board Suspends Liquor Store License For 24 Hours

two previous occasions.

Police Chief Francis Finn said that there is a problem with minors getting duplicate licenses with false information and that the problem is getting very serious.

A local liquor establishment owner reported 34 attempts over a recent week-end of minors attempting to buy liquor with a phony ID, said Finn.

Finn said he has discussed the problem with Registry of Motor Vehicles supervisor Harry Woods. "Anyone in Quincy who pulls that stunt will go before the registry," said Finn who added a hearing will be held and licenses will be suspended or revoked.

Building Inspector Allan

MacDonald pointed out that this was the second occasion that Quincy Adams was before the board for selling to a minor.

City Clerk John Gillis said the first complaint against the establishment was dismissed. Gillis sympathized with the sales clerk saying it was human nature not to ask for an ID after he had been satisfied as to the purchaser's age on two previous occasions.

Gillis also said that it is a normal thing for kids to try and get liquor and that it was not Rowell that was responsible.

Health Commissioner Dr. Robert P. McKeogh maintained that sales clerks are to continually ask for ID's. McKeogh also said it was one of the brightest days in his recent life when he was asked to show an ID.

MacDonald said, "the culprits doing it (buying liquor when underage) should be nailed."

Finn explained that no action could be taken on the youth who bought the liquor because it would come down to his word against Rowell's.

"I have no intention of giving the impression of being lenient," said Finn who also said that liquor establishments have a tough time with regard to checking IDs.

While Finn sympathized with Rowell, he agreed that the sales clerk should have asked for an ID the third time.

License Board Briefs

The City License Board took the following action at Tuesday's meeting at City Hall:

- Granted an auctioneer's license to Mrs. Linda E. Johnson of Quincy. Health Commissioner Dr. Robert P. McKeogh was opposed.

- Placed on file complaints against McGinn's Shell Service, Furnace Brook Parkway and Newport Ave., George V. McGinn, Jr., said he will no longer allow flowers to be sold on his premises.

- Granted one video machine to Kelly's Pub & Grub, 21-27 Billings Rd. Dr. McKeogh was opposed.

- Continued for one week a request from Loretta's Donut Shoppe, 76 Billings Rd., for common victualer and Lord's Day licenses. Loretta Majorowski is to meet with the Norfolk Downs Local Development Corporation.

- Voted to send a letter to Daniel J. Quirk of the proposed Quirk Ford, Inc., 540 Southern Artery, asking him to appear at next week's meeting in regard to his request for a Motor I (new car) license.

- Granted a request from the Squantum School PTO to hold a field day on the school grounds Saturday, May 30, 11 a.m. to 3 p.m. The fair will feature food, crafts and white elephant items.

- Postponed to next week a request from United Cent., Inc., 111 Hancock St., for approval of pledge of its license and stock.

Memorial Day Speaker

Hunt Lauds 'Best Generation Of Young'

"We have the best generation of young people that ever existed in the world," Paul A. M. Hunt told the Memorial Day exercises at Mt. Wollaston Cemetery Monday.

"They think a lot. When they gain wisdom we will have the wisest generation of all. Let us be prepared to throw the torch to them."

Hunt, a Quincy lawyer and legionnaire, was the keynote speaker at the exercises, filling in for James Conway of Charlestown, state commander of the American Legion, who suffered a heart attack.

"Americans have no need to bow their heads," said Hunt. "We can hold them high. If we keep our strength and use our resources well we can do nothing but remain the No. 1 country in the world."

Hunt noted that Legion posts around the world start their meetings by dedicating themselves to God and country.

"If there is no love of God or country, then there will be no love of fellow men," he said. "Where there is no love in the heart there is a void and into that void goes hate."

"When you get people who hate their country, they try to kill the President. When you get people who hate God then they try to kill the Pope."

"Don't become too afraid of these haters," he warned. "Love can always conquer hate."

Fin Com Hearings Start On $66.6 M Budget

The City Council's Finance Committee will open hearings tonight (Thursday) on Mayor Arthur H. Tobin's $63.8 million budget, which has grown to $66.6 million in the past three and a half months.

When Tobin first presented the budget for fiscal 1982 to the Council in mid-February it did not include funding for the Water and Sewer Departments.

But the mayor's plan to set up an independent Water and Sewer Commission with a revolving account of its own was rejected by the City Council.

Now the sum of $2.7 million must be added to the original budget to cover those departments plus $38,117 to pay the city's share in the operation of parking areas.

The water and sewer budgets break down like this:

Water - $1,828,273, plus $155,000 debt and $86,450

Sewer - $250,302, plus $260,000 debt and $146,519 interest.

Finance Committee hearings on the budget will continue Monday, June 1, and Tuesday, June 2.

Department budgets will be taken up in this order:

Thursday

5:30 p.m. - Auditor, William Grindlay.

6 p.m. - Assessor, John Comer.

6:15 p.m. - Fire, Chief Edward Barry.

7 p.m. - Police, Chief Francis X. Finn; Animal Control, Frank Berlucchi; Harbormaster, Gerard Gallinaro; General Services, Edward Lynch.

Kaufman Moves Up In The GOP Big Time

Former Quincy resident Ron Kaufman, who went from the staff of City Councillor James A. Sheets to the Republican State Committee, has moved on to still larger things.

He is now regional political director for the Republican National Committee in charge of senatorial, congressional and gubernatorial campaigns in the northeast from Wisconsin to Maine.

"It's one of the few fulltime political jobs in the United States," says Kaufman, who first stepped on the national stage campaigning for George Bush when the vice president was running for president.

Kaufman, who lives in Holbrook and has a Washington office, recently returned from Michigan where he planned the successful congressional campaign of Mark Siljander. Siljander won the House seat that was vacated by David Stockman, who resigned to become President Reagan's economic advisor.

"We're also recruiting candidates for 1982," says Kaufman. "There are eight governors to be elected and we'd like to pick up two congressional seats. If the President has a good two years I think it'll be easy."

He has three newspaper subscriptions at his Washington office, he says, the Detroit Free Press, the Washington Post and The Quincy Sun.

"I read The Sun first," he adds.

SCORE ONE EARLY PR point for Raymondi in his campaign for mayor. The city councillor from Ward 2 got some 15 seconds of TV exposure on Channel 4's 11 o'clock news Monday night, discussing with anchorwoman Liz Walker his proposed ordinance to ban Sunday dancing in Quincy, except for social functions. You might say Raymondi went right to "The Source," which is what the publicity folks at Channel 4 call Laz Walker.

SENATOR Paul D. Harold, who has been a featured speaker on the American Legion's Boys State program for the past two years, is being asked to do double duty next month.

Harold will be the speaker for the third straight year at Boys State Sunday, June 14, at Nicholes College in Dudley, Mass.

And he has also been recruited to speak on the Girls State program Thursday, June 18, at Bridgewater State College.

Harold was a participant in the Boys State program himself when he was a high school student in 1965.

QUINCY ATTY. Richard Barry has a new title: editor. Barry has been named an editor of The Lawyer's Weekly which he says has the largest circulation of any legal publication in Massachusetts.

JOSEPH BRETT, former city councillor and state representative, was a head table guest at the Morrisette Legion baseball reunion last week. Joe, who is not a veteran, was made an "outside commander" by the post at ceremonies several years ago. He's been a rabid fan of the Morrisette teams since they began in 1945.

THE COMMITTEE to elect Ted DeCristofaro will hold a campaign fundraiser Saturday, May 30, from 7:30 p.m. to 12 midnight at Montello's, Mass. Ave., Quincy Point. Tickets may be obtained by contacting Tom Barrett at 773-4535.

Anselmo And Prop. 2 1/2

Editor, The Quincy Sun:

A recent news item stated that Quincy School Committeeman Frank Anselmo plans to donate $500 of his own money to any person or group which can overturn Proposition 2 1/2.

In the article, Mr. Anselmo claimed that he didn't even know what 2 1/2 was all about until after it was approved by the voters last November. For his information, 2 1/2 was widely discussed for over a year prior to its passage. During my 1979 school committee campaign against the incumbents, including Mr. Anselmo, I made frequent reference to my membership in Citizens for Limited Taxation, and of our intention to place the issues of exorbitant taxation and excessive public spending before the voters for their action, since it was painfully obvious that the big spenders in government would do nothing to give us tax relief.

Now, one of those elected officials feels, evidently, that we, the people, are so stupid that we didn't know what we were voting for, so he is very generously planning to spend his own money to thwart the clear will of the voters. In a government supposedly of and by the people, such an elitist "I know what is best for you" attitude is an insult to all of us who worked to make Proposition 2 1/2 a much-needed reality.

It is the job of our elected officials to make proper cuts in spending without eliminating truly essential services. If Mr. Anselmo would put his energies to that task, instead of attempting to obstruct or circumvent the mandate of the voters, we would all be better served. I said in 1979 that no longer should the people be crucified on a cross of unbearable taxation. Last year, two-thirds of the voters of Massachusetts said it also, and we meant it.

Quincy School's Last May Dance Festival

Editor, The Quincy Sun:

On May 20, 1981 the Quincy Elementary School on Newbury Avenue, held its last May Dance Festival.

Due to 2 1/2 and much questioned deals, the school will close its doors at the end of this school year forever.

The festival is an annual school event enjoyed by both the students who participate and the large crowd of parents, friends and neighbors who attend.

This year the festive feeling was missing. As principal Mr. Daniel Malvesta put it after dress rehearsal, "the children are missing that certain pizzazz they always put into this event."

I can well guess why that feeling is around the school. The children know when the dance festival arrives, so not far behind it is the end of the school year. Usually this day can't come fast enough, but not when your beloved neighborhood school will never re-open again, its all too sad.

The first graders, under the direction of Mrs. Dermody, sang goodbye and put into words what everyone there was feeling.

"Quincy El, Quincy El, We all knew and loved you well, Quincy El, Quincy El" farewell, farewell."

Editor, The Quincy Sun:

All of us at the Snug Harbor School wish to thank you and Mr. Frank Mortimer for writing and publishing the article on our school play "Baby X".

It was not only written beautifully, but also conveyed to the readers exactly what we wished expressed to the students by performing it. It is most heart-warming and encouraging for teachers to see that the knowledge we feel is important for our students is also appreciated by other adults outside of our own classroom.

We are extremely grateful both for your interest in this project and for the time you took in reporting about it with accuracy and enthusiasm.

Governor's Task Force Recommendation Juveniles In Serious Crimes Would Be Treated As Adults

Juveniles who commit serious and violent crimes would be transferred to adult criminal courts under guidelines drawn up by the Governor's Task Force on Juvenile Crime.

But the task force also recommends establishment of a statewide diversion program to remove young first time offenders from the fast track to a life of crime.

Governor's Councillor Peter Eley of Quincy, a member of the task force, called it "a tough response tempered with a realistic response to help those who are disturbed or just starting off on the wrong foot."

"Let's not forget the victims of youth crime," he said, "but at the same time let's work towards preventing future criminals with programs like the diversion program."

The report of the task force, which was several months in preparation, makes 11 recommendations for the handling of juvenile offenders.

"The recommendations address the issue of the public's safety first but not at the price of neglecting to aid the juvenile offender where appropriate," said Eley.

"The two recommendations which I most strongly support are the extension of transfer powers for judges and the establishment of a statewide diversion program for young offenders."

Under the transfer proposal, judges would be able to treat serious offenders as adults and also order them held in secure facilities until their release would not endanger the public.

Present law requires judges to refer serious juvenile offenders to the Department of Youth Services (DYS) for commitment and treatment. Sometimes, violent offenders are released almost immediately.

"Expanding the transfer powers of judges is absolutely required to cope with today's younger criminal element," said Eley, "otherwise the abuses which result in a justice system for teens that does not judge nor sentence will continue."

"On the other hand, the task force is not only reacting to the increasing violent criminal acts of youngsters, but we are also recommending a means of preventing a youngster from ever reaching the level of committing a serious crime."

"Through the proposed statewide diversion program, certain youngsters who commit a non-violent, minor offense and have no prior record would be given the option of participating in a community program instead of receiving a criminal record."

"If we can reach the potential criminal at his or her first time in court, there is a good chance we can steer them away from a wasted and destructive life of crime."

The following is a summary of the task force's recommendations:

The Task Force endorsed the concept of three types of DYS commitments; the first retains the existing placement power of DYS; the second creates a category for repeat juvenile offenders which would require secure care for up to six months; and the third creates a category of violent juvenile offenders which would require secure care for up to 12 months.

Should the Court find that adequate protection of the public or the inability of the current juvenile justice system to rehabilitate the child is evident then transfer may be made to the adult criminal court.

The Task Force found a need to increase the number of secure treatment beds by 250 and the number of secure detention beds by 50.

The DYS should be required to prepare an individualized treatment plan for each juvenile committed by the court to secure care and treatment - and at any time during court ordered commitment to secure care and treatment, the court may check on the status of the treatment.

A state-wide diversion program should be established with the goal of diverting first-time minor offenders.

Provide the Commissioner of Probation with a sum of money to purchase needed services for juveniles on probation.

Provisions were made in the current legislation to make the Department of Mental Health (DMH) more responsible, that is, DMH must accept and treat court referred juveniles.

Funds are to be included in the Court budget to provide training or education for judges and probation officers.

One or more juvenile court jurisdictions should be established and five additional juvenile court justices appointed.

Develop a plan to upgrade the salaries of DYS.

Conduct an on-going study to measure the impact of the recommended laws and the feasibility of a state-wide juvenile court system.

Everyone was disappointed when the Lindbergs dropped anchor in Provincetown instead.

Other celebrities at the Dennison field for the Memorial Day weekend included three members of the New York Yankees, George Pipgras, Leo Durocher and Robertson, who took the scenic flight over Quincy.

That is what we paid our depositors in interest for the fiscal year closing April 30, 1981.

The amount was $1,737,802 more than the preceding year. That's an increase of 22.9%.

And we folks at The Quincy Cooperative Bank are happy that we have been able to disburse these several millions to our faithful and wonderful shareholders. Quite candidly, it gives us a good feeling.

This large amount indicates how our customers' money has been working for them. Our handsome interest total has been achieved because we always pay the highest interest allowed by law. Being a cooperative bank, our shareholders are our owners. We have no stockholders.

Thus, as we make money, it goes to our shareholders within the limits set by the U.S. Government.

If you are not a member of our family of shareholders shouldn't you consider joining us? After all, you can join up for as little as a dollar — but you really should deposit more so we can give you our high return on your dollars.

Iacobucci Disagrees

Picard Says Programs To Remain The Same At Lincoln Hancock School

By FRANK MORTIMER

If you want to take an evening dip next year in the Lincoln-Hancock pool, you'll pay a nominal fee and climb into your trunks.

If ceramics relaxes you, that too will be taught evenings at Lincoln Hancock.

In fact, most of the 40 or so courses and programs now enjoyed by over 4,000 residents will be offered again next year, according to Joan Picard, who serves on both the School Committee and the community school council.

"Everything is going to stay the same," Mrs. Picard said the day after the School Committee voted to place the community programs on a revolving account through Quincy Junior College.

The May 13 decision eliminated the full time coordinator's position and a part time secretarial position. Clerical work will be handled by the adult education staff at QJC, according to Picard.

"The only difference will be that you might sign up at QJC," she said. "You'll still go to Lincoln-Hancock for ceramics or whatever."

"The program will still be under the guidance and supervision of the Lincoln Hancock Community School Council.

"Even the pool won't be affected except that there won't be a coordinator or secretary there."

Community Council President Ron Iacobucci disagrees.

Iacobucci, who advocated the plan that would have kept the coordinator and secretary jobs with the aid of a $10,000 school budget appropriation, said the decision "will destroy the concept of community education."

Asked for specifics, Iacobucci said the coordination of many teachers and handling the program's complex financing is a full time job.

He predicted the program will suffer a "loss of sensitivity to the community" and a "loss of community identity."

Asked how activities such as scouting, senior citizens groups, swimming and ceramics will be affected, he said, "In all likelihood these courses won't be eliminated."

The $10,000 request was denied in March and again, on reconsideration, last week.

To succeed, the plan to keep the coordinator's position also required School Committee and City Council endorsement of a state law that permits community programs to operate on a pay-as-you-go basis. The committee did not endorse the request.

The program can now spend only $3,000 of its income on supplies, and none on salaries. The new plan would have released an accumulated $15,000 in tuition receipts for the salaries. Together with next year's tuition, block grant money, and the hoped-for $10,000 from the school department, the program would have met its annual $50,000 operating costs, Iacobucci said.

In past years, prior to Prop 2½, the schools appropriated $50,000 for the program.

In opposing the $10,000 appropriation, Mrs. Picard said more than half of the budget paid the coordinator's $26,000 salary.

She said she opposed paying administrative salaries at a time when classroom teachers are being laid off.

School Supt. Dr. Lawrence Creedon was also against the plan. He said making the community programs part of adult education at QJC would eliminate the need for "picking up a $10,000 deficit." He said the program will, instead, realize a $5,000 annual profit through tuition.

Creedon criticized both The Quincy Sun and The Patriot Ledger for editorials urging School Committee approval of the $10,000 appropriation.

Calling both editorials "totally false and inaccurate," Creedon said the Lincoln Hancock Community School Programs were in no danger of being cut, with or without the $10,000 appropriation.

School committeeman John J. Sullivan alone voted in favor of the request. "Lincoln Hancock was built as a community school, to reduce or eliminate (these programs) would be wrong," he said.

Fatima Statue Shown At St. Joseph Church

The National Pilgrim Virgin Statue of Our Lady of Fatima, which has been traveling around the United States since 1967, was on display Sunday at St. Joseph Church, Quincy Point.

The hand-carved wooden statue depicts the Virgin Mary as she was described by the sole survivor of three children who saw her in a vision in Fatima, Portugal, in 1917.

The Fatima Statue was carried in the annual St. Joseph Parish May Procession and crowned during the ceremonies.

Special hymns to Our Lady and an act of consecration were recited.

Benediction of the Most Bless Sacrament concluded the ceremonies.

The statue remained in the church until Monday morning.

The statue was created in 1967 to commemorate the golden jubilee of Fatima when the bishop of Fatima decided to bless special statues to be placed in the sanctuaries of churches around the world.

The one displayed at St. Joseph travels from one diocese to another in the United States.

Slides and a talk on Fatima were held in the St. Joseph School hall after the procession.

Federal Funds Available For Elderly Transportation

The State Office of Transportation is administering for the sixth year a federal program to provide financial assistance for the transportation of the elderly and the handicapped.

A total of $465,000 is available for 1981.

Rep. Michael W. Morrissey said the program provides grants to private, non-profit organizations for the purchase of vehicles, two-way radio systems and related equipment.

To be eligible for consideration, agencies must be organized under Chapter 180 of the General Laws and have tax exempt status with the Internal Revenue Service.

Morrissey said the vehicles and equipment purchased through the program must be used to provide transportation service to the elderly and handicapped in the agency's proposed area.

Last year the Atlantic Neighborhood Center was awarded an elderly van under the program.

Those interested in participating in the program should contact Russell Thatcher of the Office of Transportation, 1 Ashburton Place, Boston.

Preliminary application is due March 16.

Donnelly Bill Asks Tax Credits On Home Help To Handicapped

Cong. Brian Donnelly has proposed a "Barrier-Free Home Bill," granting income tax credits to homeowner who make their homes more accessible to handicapped family members.

"A handicapped person should be able to live at home. He shouldn't be forced out by the cost of removing barriers that exist in the home," Donnelly said.

More than 50 lawmakers co-sponsored Donnelly's proposal when he first filed it last year, but Congress adjourned before the issue could be voted upon.

The Barrier-Free Home Bill gives a tax credit of 50 percent of the cost of labor and materials needed to make a home accessible to a handicapped member of the owner's family.

"The federal government pays hundreds of millions of dollars every year to keep severely handicapped people in institutions. This tax credit will make it possible for many of these people to live at home with their family instead," Donnelly said.

"Americans in business and in government have already made a commitment to remove architectural barriers from public buildings. Now we should assist the families of handicapped citizens to make the same commitment in their own homes," Donnelly added.

Donnelly anticipates widespread support for his proposal in Congress and in the Reagan administration. "The President has said he wants to use the tax system as his major tool for domestic policy. My proposal should mesh with his plans quite well."

AT WHAT AGE SHOULD CHILDREN BRUSH?

Since some children start getting teeth at five or six months, there is often a long time during which teeth are subjected to decay-producing bacteria, when no brushing can be done. As soon as a child is old enough, he should be given a children's size toothbrush. Brushing should be done in a sort of fun way that the child will respond to favorably.

Children's teeth should be brushed by an adult after they eat something containing sugar or chocolate.

The child may brush by himself in the morning and during the day, but before bedtime the parent should check all surfaces thoroughly. By the time the child is two or three and has all his baby teeth, he should be enjoying the ritual of brushing.

Developing good habits early means a healthier adult dentition. Presented as a service to the community by

McCauley Plans To Be Full Time Mayor

City Councillor Francis X. McCauley says that if he is elected mayor in November he plans to devote his full time to that office.

"The office of mayor is a full time, seven day a week job and I plan to be a full time mayor," he told a coffee hour at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Scurti, 105 Verchild St., South Quincy.

McCauley, a Quincy banker for the past 23 years, said that if he is elected he will sever all of his connections with the banking industry at the end of the year.

He is currently president and director of the Presidential Cooperative Bank.

McCauley said the complexity of the problems facing the city would require the complete attention of a full time mayor and that trying to combine it with another occupation could lead to conflict of interest.

Anyone wishing to sponsor a coffee hour for McCauley can do so by calling Mrs. Kathryn Roberts at 479-8280.

QCA Opposes Sunday Dancing

The Quincy Citizens Association has recorded itself in opposition to public dancing on Sunday "to prevent Quincy from becoming a honky-tonk city where no holds are barred."

The issue of Sunday dancing currently is before the License Board, which is scheduled to rule Tuesday on a Sunday entertainment license sought by Quincy Bay Inn, North Quincy.

A proposed ordinance, introduced by Councillor Daniel G. Raymond, is before the City Council which would ban most forms of Sunday dancing under penalty of $100 fine.

QCA President Arthur M. Chandler, in letters to City Clerk John M. Gillis, who is also chairman of the License Board, said the group opposes Quincy Bay Inn's bid and favors Raymond's ordinance.

"Our association," he said, "is interested in preserving the small city residential character of Quincy and we feel that public drinking and dancing six days a week are sufficient."

"We owe it to the people who live here to do everything we can to preserve the quiet residential character of Quincy -- especially on Sundays."

Raymond's proposed ordinance would permit dancing at weddings and other private social functions and Chandler said the QCA concurs with that exception.

James O'Brien Candidate For School Committee

James O'Brien of 19 River St., Quincy Point, manager of Wendy's Restaurant on Newport Ave., Wollaston, has announced his candidacy for a seat on the School Committee.

"I am running because I strongly believe the school system should be run more like a business than a grand, societal commitment," he told a coffee hour at the home of Mary McCarron, 68 Babcock St., Houghs Neck.

"I believe students should be held accountable for their responsibilities, i.e.: course electives, conduct; for learning is their job, and they should be expected to perform to their potential."

"I believe parents, firstly, need to be informed about the goals and objectives of the schools they help pay for, and to be held accountable for making sure these goals and objectives are followed through."

North Trackmen Defeat Quincy

The North Quincy boys' track team finished a successful season with a 79-57 victory over Quincy last week.

The Raiders finished with a 5-3 record and, although Quincy finished only 2-6, the performances of several underclassmen make future prospects bright. There was more interest in track at Quincy this spring than there has been for several seasons.

Jack Brown was a double winner for the Raiders, taking the 100 in 10.6 seconds and winning the long jump at 20-6½, equaling his best jump.

North's Walter McConaghy set a school record in the low hurdles, winning in 40.5, and he also anchored the winning 440 relay team.

Jack Leone won the high jump with a six-foot leap and other North winners were Pat King in the 880 (2:13.7), Rick O'Brien in the mile (4:50.2), Gary Morin in the high hurdles (17.0), Bob Pound in the shot put (47-9), and Lou DiPietro in the discus (133-0). Joining McConaghy on the winning 440 relay team were Brown, Palma and John Mantalos. The time was 45.5.

The Presidents won six events with Mike Williams winning the 440 in 52.3 and running a 51.0 anchor to lead the winning mile relay team. Mike Shaughnessy won the 220 (23.8), Chris McCray won the triple jump (40-8), John Herald took the pole vault (7-6), Larry Newman won the javelin (152-0) and joining Williams on the winning mile relay team were Shawn Burnes, Bill Walsh and Fran Connell.

Taking second places for North were Mantalos, 440; Joe McDonald, 880; Garth Petracca, mile; McConaghy, triple jump; Paul Ciarfella, shot put and Jim Allen, discus.

Second place finishers for Quincy were Richard Parker, 100; Dave Church, 220; Herald, two-mile; Burnes, low hurdles; Walsh, high hurdles; Shaughnessy, long jump; Williams, high jump, and Ron Pettinelli, javelin.

Taking thirds for North were Peter Clark, 220; Magrath, two-mile; Leone, high hurdles; Palma, long jump; John Toland, high jump, and Mike Panaro, javelin.

Quincy third places were taken by McCray, 100; Connell, 440; Cascarano, 880; Cagdas, mile; Newman, low hurdles; Church, triple jump; Chris Chevalier, shot put, and Fran Duggan, discus.

Debbie Lewis On N.E. Jr. Olympics Basketball Team

Debbie Lewis of Northboro, a freshman at Algonquin Regional High School, has been selected as a member of the 1981 New England Junior Olympic girls' basketball team in the 15 and under age group. She was the only freshman selected.

Eleven girls were chosen out of approximately 200 during several tryout sessions. Debbie is one of three from Massachusetts selected. The team will compete in the Junior Olympic national championships in Kansas City in July.

Debbie is the daughter of Edward T. Lewis Jr., and Jeanne Cassani Lewis, both formerly of Quincy. She is the granddaughter of Lou Cassani and the late Lee Cassani, and Patricia Lewis and the late former Quincy City Manager, Edward T. (Red) Lewis.

Deb was the starting point guard this past season on the Algonquin varsity which advanced to the district playoffs. Her father, Ted Lewis, was a member of the 1952 and 1953 Quincy High teams.

Deb also plays volleyball and softball. In 1979 she became the first girl ever to play in the Northboro Babe Ruth League. She was selected to the all-star Babe Ruth teams in 1979 and 1980. She is an A student and currently ranks third in the freshman class.

Debbie will play guard on the

Raiderettes Win Another League Title

By TOM SULLIVAN

At the start of the season Lou Tozzi, coach of the North Quincy girls' track team, who has had phenomenal success since taking over the girls' reins, would say no more than he expected a good season.

The Raiderettes had won the Eastern Mass. cross country title last fall and the state indoor crown last winter and Tozzi admitted:

"I'm concerned that people will expect too much from us now that we won those two titles. Our first priority is to do well in the state meet, the second to have a good dual meet season and third to let everyone participate in a team concept."

"My biggest concerns are that some of our important veterans are not out for the team and we've had several dropouts. We are still looking for a certain type of girl — one who is motivated and willing to make a real sacrifice."

To say the Raiderettes surpassed Tozzi's expectations is putting it mildly.

Last week the North girls breezed by Quincy, 91-27, to finish a perfect dual meet season (8-0) and win another Suburban League championship.

That more than reached the team's first priority and the Raiderettes were among the favorites to win the state Class B championship Monday.

Last year North finished second to Falmouth in the state championship meet.

The North girls set four school records in outclassing Quincy, which finished 2-6. They were the first wins in three years for the Quincy girls.

"These two wins are a good beginning for us, particularly since most of the people who have been doing the damage for us are sophomores," said first-year coach John Franceschini.

Junior Deirdre Donovan had an outstanding day for North Quincy, breaking two school records. She won the 220 in 25.9 and the long jump at 16-9½. She then helped the 440 relay team break its own school mark in 51.4.

"That's the first time a girl has broken two individual records in the same meet," Tozzi said. "Deirdre is one great competitor and we expect her to do well in the 440 in the state meet."

Mary Crehan broke the school mile record, doing 5:22.7. This broke the mark held by Sheila Barrett, who won the 880 against Quincy.

The North girls are enjoying their phenomenal success with just

Joining Donovan on the record-breaking 440 relay team were Kathy McCarthy, Nancy Lindenfelter and Nancy McCarthy. Nancy McCarthy won the 440 in 59.7, a record for North runners at Veterans Memorial Stadium.

Other winners for the Raiderettes were Michelle Millane, who finished unbeaten in the shot put (39-10½) and discus (120-0) ("She's like an automatic 10 points for us in every meet" — Tozzi); Deirdre Corrigan (12:27), who led a sweep of the two-mile; Kara Crehan in the high jump (4-10), and Lisa Cavanaugh in the javelin (104-6¼). The mile relay team of Barrett, Diane Flynn, Lisa Reynolds and Corrigan also won.

The First Ladies won only two events, Darlene Marston winning the 100 in 11.9, her best time, and sophomore Mary Kussman taking the hurdles in 18.3.

"That was a great win for Darlene," said Franceschini. "She was our MVP in winter track but missed the first two meets this spring with a severe leg injury. She has been unbeaten in her last four meets. Her best time had been 12.2 at Brookline."

Finishing second for North Quincy were Mary Kate Kennedy (hampered by knee trouble), 100; Kathy McCarthy, 220; Lindenfelter, 440; Linda Kennedy, 880; Robyn O'Donnell, mile; Terry Jones, two-mile and Caryn Smith, shot put and discus.

Placing second for Quincy were Kathy Reddish, hurdles; Sue Murray, long jump; Jeannie Sandomato, high jump, and Zennis, javelin.

North third places were taken by Mary Gannon, 440; Zdzankowski, 880; Kathy Moriarty, two-mile; Jane Leonhardt, hurdles; Nancy McCarthy, high jump; Lindenfelter, discus, and Sheila Quintiliani, javelin.

Quincy thirds were taken by Murray, 100; Theresa Munroe, 220; Cathy Brown, mile; Marston, long jump, and Maureen Walsh, shot put.

North Girls 2nd In E-Mass Championships

For the second year in a row the North Quincy girls' track team finished second to Falmouth in the Eastern Mass. Class B championships Monday at Lawrence.

Falmouth scored 76 points to North's 71, the most points ever scored by a second place team. Reading was far behind with 46 and Acton-Bosboro had 28.

Last spring Falmouth defeated the Raiderettes, 47-38.

"I was very pleased with the girls' performances and we would have won any other class," Coach Lou Tozzi said. "We had the lead with a few events left, but they scored the points when they had to. Falmouth is very strong and did a great job."

North's mile relay team won in 4:02.1, a meet record. Weston had held the previous mark of 4:02.8. The team was made up of Mary Kate Kennedy, Linda Lindenfelter, Nancy McCarthy and Deirdre Donovan.

Mary Kate Kennedy, who had been hurt, won the 440 in 58.9 and Donovan was second at 59.7. Nancy McCarthy won the 880 in 2:16.2, a school record.

Michelle Millane was defeated for the first time in the discus, finishing second with a 126-4 toss.

Kara Crehan, hampered by a pulled hamstring, finished third in the high jump at 5-4. Mary Crehan was third in the mile at 5:16.2, a school record, and Sheila Barrett was third in the two-mile at 11:48. Linda Kennedy was fourth at 11:52.

Caryn Smith placed fifth in the shot put at 35-3, her best effort, and Donovan was sixth in the long jump at 16-1.

"This was the fifth time the North boys or girls finished in the top five in this meet since 1975," Tozzi said. "I want to thank the Quincy Track Club, for which many of our girls compete. It has played a major role in our success."

The Quincy girls' top performer, Darlene Marston, was unable to compete in the Class A meet at Andover because of an injury and the First Ladies failed to score.

The Raiderettes and First Ladies will compete in the Suburban League meet today (Thursday) at Brockton and several North girls will be in the all-state meet June 6 at Gardner.

Over 200 Compete In Track Club Meet

More than 200 boys and girls took part in the second spring B league meet held by the Quincy Track Club at Veterans Memorial Stadium.

There were several fine performances, with Brendan Farrell, Regina Murphy, Matt Flynn, Tracy Cullen, Marta Martinez, Joe Bangs and Laura Ciulla scoring more than one victory.

Coach Jeff Hennessy said at least 20 will be promoted to the A team when the B season ends next month.

Last week's winners: 50-yard dash: Girls 6 and under, Regina Murphy, 8.9; boys six and under, Evan Kiley, 8.3; girls 7 years, Nicole Grabau, 9.3; boys 7, Matt Flynn, 8.7.

Morrisette Baseball Reunion Stirs Fond Memories

By TOM SULLIVAN

It was a night for renewing old friendships and reminiscing when more than 100 Morrisette Legion baseball players from the first team in 1945 to the present got together for a baseball reunion at the post home.

Most of the teams were represented with several present from the 1945 team and 14 of the 18 players on the 1975 team which won the state and New England titles and played in the Legion World Series in Rapid City, South Dakota. This was the only team to win a state crown although several times Morrisette went to the state finals.

Morrisette has won 21 Zone 6 championships, present coach Ray Cattaneo winning eight titles, former coach Nick Malvesti eight and former coach Connie Carlozzi five.

Bill Keefe, the post's late athletic officer, was responsible for the post starting baseball in 1945. Frank Osborne, who has been the team's scorer and jack-of-all-trades since the beginning, has been largely responsible for the post's success in baseball and was the man behind last week's memorable reunion.

The "man of the hour" at the reunion was Malvesti, who came up from his home in Clearwater, Fla., for the event and was given a standing ovation by the more than 170 in attendance.

Malvesti, with Bruno Carloni, coached Morrisette for 18 years after taking over from the late Pryor Hall, the team's first coach who handled the reins in 1945 and 1946.

Frank Barone, one of the post's best shortstops, coached with Billy Corcoran for a year, Carloni and Bill Stewart handled the reins for a while, the late George McCall then coached and Carlozzi and Fran Rinaldi coached for eight years before Cattaneo took over in 1970. Cattaneo, Corcoran and Carlozzi are still coaching the team.

"Wouldn't you know, after all my years with the Morrisette teams (he was manager for many years after stepping down as coach in 1964), that I had nothing at all to do with the 1975 team which went to the World Series?" Malvesti said.

Nick said that, man for man, he felt his 1947 team, which went to the state semifinals, was as good as any team he ever coached.

Among the players on that team were Cattaneo, Carl Leone, Joe Hughes, Charlie Sacchetti, Lou Marini, Skip Campbell, Jim Goslin, Fran Pineau, Corcoran and Paul Landstrom. Campbell came up from South Carolina for the reunion.

Malvesti told of several incidents during his coaching career. "Jim Hebert always wanted to play shortstop but I told him he was an outfielder," Nick said. "He insisted on playing short and, after a game in which he had a very bad day in the field, I told him he was our centerfielder and he went on to become one of our best ever. He had one of the best arms of any player I coached."

"One day at Dedham Mike Volpe hit three long home runs. I told him to try for a fourth but, lo and behold, he bunted. I asked him why he did it and he answered, 'I thought I'd get them with the element of surprise.'"

Malvesti told of the best of three series with Lynn that went five games, then came two tie games. Morrisette won the fourth and lost the fifth. Morrisette tried a suicide squeeze bunt but the ball was high and the runner on third could have easily scored the winning run. But he stopped halfway down the line.

"I couldn't believe it," Nick said. "I asked him what happened and he told me, 'He didn't bunt the ball.'"

"In another game we had a runner coming around to score on a wild throw that hit the backstop. He stopped running rounding third and walked home. He was tagged out and he told me he thought the ball was dead and he was entitled to score."

"In 1951 we had a good series with Pittsfield in which we split the first two games. In the deciding game we had the bases loaded and no outs and it looked like we had the game won but, believe it or not, the next batter hit into a triple play."

"We had another good series with Walpole, which eliminated us from the state tournament. One of their players was Joe Morgan, who now manages the Red Sox' Pawtucket team."

"There are so many stories I could tell. Some of my experiences were funny, others very frustrating. But my years of coaching Morrisette teams were among the best of my life and I will never forget them."

Nick told of seeing Bob Biagini, Morrisette's outstanding catcher of the past two years, at the Red Sox training camp. Bob will join the Elmira Club of the New York-Penn League June 15.

"Bobby has impressed everyone who has seen him," Malvesti said. "Ted Williams was very impressed with him and he has been really hitting the ball. I think he has an excellent future and he may be our first player to make the major leagues."

Biagini is the latest in a line of many Morrisette players to play pro ball. Others were Cattaneo, Corcoran, Billy Myers, Marini, Sacchetti, Tom Burke, Dick Taylor, Hebert, Bob Reardon and Biff Barker, who was the top draft choice of Kansas City.

Many players who faced Morrisette through the years went on to pro ball including Russ Gibson, who caught for the Red Sox. He played for Fall River Legion.

Among the former players who attended the reunion were Gayton Salvucci, who was head football coach at American International College and assistant coach at Holy Cross, and Ralph Morrison, who now coaches Hingham Legion. Veteran umpire John Flaherty, who has worked hundreds of Legion games, also was present.

The members of the 1975 team that went to South Dakota present at the reunion were Jim Roberts, the third baseman for the U.S. Naval Academy team; John Lawlor, Mitch McBride, Brian Corcoran, Chuck LoPresti, Frank Micelli, Dennis McGuire, Joe Glynn, Jack Rabel, Dave Perdios, Paul Messina, Steve McKinnon, Jim Maze and Mike MacKenzie.

The only ones unable to appear were Tim Clifford, Mike DePolo, Mark Dwyer and Paul Jackmaugh.

It was mentioned that Morrisette baseball is represented at the Hall of Fame. It was said before the World Series in South Dakota that the ball hit for the first home run in the series would be placed in the Hall of Fame. The first homer was hit by Morrisette's Perdios.

Cattaneo was the toastmaster and Post Commander George Nicholson welcomed the former players. A roast beef dinner was served by Basile, former Braintree White Sox coach.

LIGHTNING CAN BE LETHAL

With every second's tick of the summer clock, 100 giant bolts of lightning, moving 30,000 times as fast as a bullet, strike somewhere on earth. In the average square mile there are 40 to 80 hits per year. In a typical lightning accident, up to 100 million volts of electricity may be generated. It can burn, jolt, paralyze and kill. In fact over 150 persons are killed each summer from lightning.

With lightning lurking, the most dangerous places to be are on a high spot of a golf course, in a boat, atop a hill, at a beach, near a metal clothesline, or riding a bike, tractor or horse. About one third of all lightning victims lose their lives when sheltered under isolated trees, which in themselves attract bolts. The safest place in a thunderstorm is probably in an all-steel closed car. Keep the windows closed.

North Comes On Strong Quincy Edged, Rebounds

If the baseball season was a little longer, North Quincy probably would have wound up with a winning record.

Going into last week's games the Raiders, who had lost five games by one run, leading in most of them until the last inning, had only a 2-9 record.

But last week North won all three games played (all in extra innings), including a big 7-3 victory last Thursday over Suburban League leading Weymouth South (12-2 going into the game).

North finishes up with two night games at 7:30 at Adams Field, hosting Cambridge Rindge and Latin tonight (Thursday) and Milton Monday night.

Junior Ray Mallory hit a grand slam homer in the ninth inning to give the Raiders their upset victory over Weymouth South.

Jamie Walsh singled in a run in the first to give North the lead, and, after Weymouth tied it in the bottom of the inning, Walsh drove in two more with a triple in the fourth. Weymouth again tied it and it looked like the Wildcats would win it in the bottom of the seventh, but Walsh again came through, this time on defense.

With the bases loaded and one out, Jim Grass hit a long fly to center. Walsh made the catch and made a great throw home to nip the would-be winning run.

Mark Millane went all the way for North Quincy.

North defeated Brookline, 5-3, the winning run scoring on a Brookline wild pitch in the 10th inning. Sophomore Jim Kelly pitched all the way, giving up only five hits and striking out nine. Brookline's John Balero hit a two-run homer to send the game into extra innings.

The Raiders also edged Weymouth North, 5-4, as Walsh doubled home Glen Segalla in the ninth inning. Bob Bolster went the route, allowing seven hits and striking out eight.

Quincy, which went into last week's games with the same record as North, lost two one-run games but snapped its losing streak Thursday with an 11-6 victory over Newton North to make its record 3-11.

The Presidents host Brookline today (Thursday) at 3:30 in their final game.

Quincy broke out with nine runs in the first two innings against Newton North.

Jim Bandera, making his first start of the year, was the winning pitcher. He also had RBI singles in the first and second. Tom Canavan an RBI single as did Andy Fames, Paul Quigley and Gary DiNardo in a five-run second inning.

Earlier in the week Quincy had forced Weymouth South to go 12 innings before losing to the league leaders, 5-4, and the Presidents also lost to Cambridge Rindge and Latin by the same score.

Hourin Eyes 25th Junior Track Crown At North

Dave Hourin is in his 34th year as North Quincy junior high boys' track coach and today (Thursday) he hopes to complete an unbeaten dual meet season when the young Raiders face Central.

"Then we hope to take our 25th city championship (June 11 and 12)," said Hourin.

North rolled over an undermanned Point team, 60-22, last week to improve its record to 3-0 with only Central left.

North's Jim DeLappe remained unbeaten in the 45-yard hurdles (6.8 seconds) and Jim White finished second.

Dan Fink also stayed unbeaten in the 100 (11.3) with Chris Gizelis second, Jim Kennedy won the 440 (58.9) and also is unbeaten and Faizel Rashid was third, Dave Blaton stayed undefeated in the half mile (2:33) with Bill Donnell second, Tim Sullivan is still unbeaten in the mile (5:22). DeLappe also remained unbeaten in high jump (5-4) with Kennedy second and Sullivan third.

Fink won the long jump (16-9½) and Joe Russell finished third in the shot put.

Point's Doug Toechio was his school's only winner, taking the shotput (31-4) with Dave Kurr second. Kurr was second in the 440, Mike Gilmore second in the long jump, Toechio third in the 100, Willie Smith third in the hurdles, Dick Chesbi third in the half mile and Bruce Much third in the mile.

North won both relays, the one-lap team of John Tamburi, Rashid, White and Blaton winning in 42 seconds and the two-lap team of Gizelis, Fink, Joe O'Hare and Kennedy winning in 1:24.

"We had four boys, John Sullivan, Phil Iacobacci, John McGuire and Bob King, on the sick list," Hourin said. "I had to shuffle some of the others around. Jim White found himself at last as a great hurdler, while Tamburi dropped out of the 440 in favor of the 100."

"In 34 years at North these are the greatest boys I've had and they can't wait to beat Central and then go on to win our 25th city championship," Hourin said.

Mary Pratt Day At Snug Harbor School

It was Mary Pratt Day, honoring Quincy's most noted woman athlete, recently at Snug Harbor School.

Miss Pratt, a graduate of North Quincy High School and a physical education teacher for 40 years, addressed the students and was presented with an award.

"Mary Pratt was the pitcher on an all-male softball team," said School Committeeman John Sullivan. "I never could get a hit against her."

"Mary Pratt was always a role model for me when I was in school," said Ken Rickson, coordinator of physical education. "I thought how wonderful it would be if I could grow up and do the things she's doing."

Miss Pratt, who was inducted into Boston University's Hall of Fame in 1979, once played softball in the All American Girls Professional League, often before crowds of up to 4,000 people.

She has taught in every school in the city except Furnace Brook and has been active for many years in starting teams for girls, mostly in softball.

Mary Pratt Day activities were planned by the action team of Project Inter-Action and the faculty at Snug Harbor School, which is one of six Quincy impact schools involved in the project.

The day was observed as Physical Activity Day and students took part in cooperative sports with those in each grade receiving awards for teamwork.

PROGRESS REPORT

Exceptionally fast progress is being made toward the introduction of cable television services for your city. Utility contracts with Massachusetts Electric and New England Telephone have been executed, and preparatory work for line construction has already begun.

As early as December 1981, we expect to offer service to portions of South Quincy and Quincy Point, with the balance of the city activated soon after. Customer service information will be available just prior to the activation of the cable television system.

That means that you have just a short wait before this exciting new entertainment service becomes available.

There are no substitutes for cable television. There is no other entertainment medium that offers as many services for such a low cost.

$12,000 Study Started In Center Historic District

A Cambridge consulting firm has begun a $12,000 study of the Quincy Center Historic District to inventory its historic and architectural assets and plan for their future.

The survey is funded $8,000 from the Massachusetts Historical Commission and $4,000 from the federal Community Development Block Grant.

Vision, Inc., of Cambridge is expected to produce by June 15 an action plan report the goals of which are:

- To conserve structures of historical significance or architectural value, and to continue the usefulness of these structures.
- To improve the physical appearance of the area in order to enhance the structures and make the area a more aesthetically pleasing place in which to live and conduct business.

- To establish general design guidelines for new buildings.

The work is being done under the supervision of Jerry Cavanaugh of the Planning Department and Planning Director James Lydon.

The final report is also scheduled to contain an implementation schedule plus a list of sources of funding, which is drying up rapidly under current fiscal constraints.

Robert Luongo of the Planning Department said he is setting up a hearing, possibly as early as next week, in which public input is requested.

State Budget

This is the 50th in a series of articles written by Rep. Michael W. Morrissey.

The Massachusetts House of Representatives will be considering their version of the state's $6 billion budget. The most controversial aspect of the budget will center around how much local aid the state will provide to our cities and towns to help ease the impact of Proposition 2 1/2. The budget does not fund any new jobs or new programs. It provides for a 3% cost of living increase for state, county, and municipal employees at a cost of about $6 million.

The day care program was not shifted over to the Dept. of Public Welfare as the Governor had proposed. The Committee on Ways and Means did recommend that the state pick up the cost of the 766 residential program which should save the cities and towns almost $12 million.

If you interested in a budget item and would like to know how it is progressing, please call me in the Statehouse at 722-2470.

Let's be direct—

Consider the ways that DIRECT DEPOSIT of your Social Security, pension or pay checks could benefit you:

DIRECT DEPOSIT saves you the annoyance of extra trips to the bank, a big plus when the weather's bad.

DIRECT DEPOSIT avoids the chance of theft from your mailbox.

DIRECT DEPOSIT gets your money to the bank sooner—that could mean more days of interest.

DIRECT DEPOSIT is easy to arrange. Come in to one of the offices listed below and talk with one of Quincy Cooperative's very cooperative staff.

'Mother' Of Abandoned Baby Fails To Show Up

By FRANK MORTIMER

As ever, the Salvation Army was at its post.

Major Charles L. Waddington, a 22-year veteran of the service, stood surrounded by reporters outside Lincoln Hancock Elementary School Tuesday night waiting for the mother of a newborn boy left on his Wollaston doorstep last week.

There were over 100 spectators there. But if she was among them, only she knew it.

So instead of attending to the "spiritual and physical" well being of a troubled mother, Major Waddington had to just stand and answer question after question from reporters.

There were representatives from Quincy and Boston newspapers, wire services, and television stations in addition to the spectators.

But no one stepped forward to say that she was the mother of the abandoned baby.

He was there at 6 p.m. and waited until after 7 p.m. He then left to attend a scheduled 7 p.m. graduation of pre-school children at the Salvation Army office.

Waddington said earlier Tuesday he had "reservations" about a letter that came to his house Monday morning, asking for a reunion with the baby.

The letter, handprinted on white sheet of spiral notebook paper, asked Waddington to bring the baby and "cameramen and reporters" to Lincoln Hancock swimming pool for a 6 p.m. reunion Tuesday.

"I want to die, but before I die I want to see my Johnny, (sic)

At another point the name is spelled Johnny. The letter is signed, "The Sorry Mother, Lorie."

"I want everybody to know me," the letter says. "I want to be famous before I die. Please contact the papers that I am still living."

Waddington said Tuesday that the writer's desire for publicity made him wonder if the letter is not a hoax.

But he planned to go to the pool because the letter could be legitimate. "I have some reservations. But what she's done already is rather extreme," he reasoned.

He did not plan to bring the baby, however.

The child has already been placed in a foster home, by the Department of Social Services, he said. He did not know where the child's new home is located.

The newly born baby was listed as Master John Doe at Quincy City Hospital after Waddington found him in a paper bag on his

MBTA Bus Blockade Looms Here

By TOM HENSHAW

The MBTA was in trouble at both ends of the city this week, amid indications that the worst was yet to come.

Two city councillors hinted broadly Monday night that residents of North and South Quincy may be forced to take matters into their own hands and block buses on the Neponset Bridge and prevent commuters from using the new Quincy Adams station.

The Council approved home rule petitions which, if passed by the Legislature, would prohibit the MBTA from using passengers between Ashmont and North Quincy stations and prohibit opening of the Quincy Adams station until the ramps to Route 3 are finished.

Meanwhile, the MBTA has scheduled a public hearing tonight (Thursday) at 7:30 p.m. in City Hall to explain a plan under which some 7,100 Dorchester commuters would be bused to North Quincy while their section of the Red Line between Ashmont and Andrews is closed for repairs.

And a month-old strike of masons and bricklayers threatens to delay the full opening of the Quincy Adams station in South Quincy.

"It hasn't been delayed yet," said MBTA spokesman Paul DiNatale. "If the strike is not prolonged we can still finish the station in the fall."

Councillors James A. Sheets and John J. Quinn indicated Monday night that residents of North and South Quincy could be provoked into using the same tactics against the MBTA that residents of East Boston have employed to reopen a closed police station.

Quinn urged City Solicitor Robert Fleming "to do some homework on this so that if the home rule petitions fail we can slap an injunction on them immediately," and he added:

"I wouldn't want to have the citizens of the northern end of the city go to Neponset Bridge and form picket lines like they have been doing at the tunnels and only let so many buses and automobiles in or out of that particular area."

Sheets, speaking on the home rule petition that would ban the opening of the Quincy Adams station, warned that "if we fail we will be faced with the situation where we are going to have to rally the people in their own defense."

"I'm not sure what that will mean yet but I certainly cannot stand by and see people who did not want the station in the first place have to face this type of new problem."

"We have no choice but to try to find some means by which we can stop the South Quincy MBTA station from opening without the access ramps."

"I pledge to the people of

Planners In Washington On UDAGs From HUD

Planning Director James Lydon will take a delegation from Quincy to Washington today (Thursday) to consult with the Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) on three proposals for Urban Development Action Grants (UDAGs) for Quincy.

Mayor Arthur H. Tobin said he would go along too if he has the time.

Included in the party are Judie Cullen of the Planning Department, developers Peter O'Connell, Mark Dickinson and Nat Martin, and consultant Robert Kenney.

The city has applied for UDAGs to construct parking garages in conjunction with developments planned by O'Connell and Dickinson in North Quincy and by Martin in Quincy Center.

The group is scheduled to meet with HUD officials in the office of Cong. Brian J. Donnelly.

MDC Pledges No Landfill At Nut Island

The Metropolitan District Commission has assured Rep. Thomas F. Brownell in writing that no land-taking or land-filling will occur as a result of the upgrading of the Nut Island Sewage Treatment Plant.

Francis J. Hopcroft, the MDC's director of project planning and management, said he has directed the MDC's consultants "that no significant filling or land taking be included in any plans."

The MDC further agreed with Brownell's proposal that existing problems at Nut Island be given a high priority in the use of available funds.

5 Take Out Papers For Councillor-At-Large

If all the candidates who have taken out nomination papers remain in the race the contest for the three at-large seats on the City Council will be an exciting one this fall.

In the first week since papers have been available at the election office five potential candidates have picked them up and the two incumbents who are likely to run for re-election have not yet appeared.

Those who have nomination papers include:

Richard J. Koch Jr., 26, of 40 Putnam St., Quincy Center, an insurance claims representative and son of Richard J. Koch, executive director of the Park Department. He lost in 1979 by a narrow margin.

Timothy P. Cahill, 22, of 35 Packard Lane, Quincy Point, a recent graduate of Boston University.

Louis Edward Dolen, 29, of 119 Centre St., West Quincy, a sales clerk.

Robert J. Niven, 49, of 293 Fayette St., a security guard.

Gregory P. Brooks, 24, of 949 Hancock St., a supply technician.

Two incumbents, John J. Quinn and Joseph J. LaRaia, have not yet announced their intentions in the race and the third, Francis X. McCauley, has taken nomination papers to run for mayor.

Theodore P. DeCristofaro, 58, of 17 Murdock St., who works for the National Parks Service, and Joseph Cortese, 48, of 48 Ellerton Rd., have taken papers to run for the Council in Ward 2.

James J. O'Brien of 19 River St., manager of Wendy's Restaurant, has picked up papers for School Committee.

Nomination papers may be taken out anytime until Aug. 14, Aug. 18 at 5 p.m. is the deadline for filing and Aug. 20 at 5 p.m. is the deadline for withdrawal.

Voters have until Sept. 1 to register for the Sept. 22 primary and until Oct. 13 to register for the Nov. 3 general election.

Layoffs Will Not Eliminate Tenured Teachers Evaluation

Widespread teacher layoffs will delay but not eliminate Quincy's first program for evaluating tenured teachers' classroom performance.

In past years only untenured teachers were evaluated, according to School Committee woman Patricia Toland, who initiated the "Clinical Supervision Program for Evaluation" recently developed by a six member committee of teachers and administrators.

Dr. Richard K. Chrystal, who chaired the committee, told the School Committee last week that the layoffs caused by Prop. 2½ require that adjustments be made in the program.

He said the loss of coordinators would make it difficult to find qualified evaluators at the junior high level.

Dr. Lawrence Creedon said layoffs at the high school level require remaining teachers to spend more time in the classroom, leaving less time for evaluation of colleagues' performance.

The original plan was to have department heads supervise evaluations at the high school level, according to Carl Deyeso, who helped develop the program. School principals were to do the evaluations at the elementary level, he said.

Patricia Toland told the School Committee that evaluations are more needed than ever in a school system operating with reduced staff and budget.

"We still have got to find a way to educate these children."

"We are not going to be able to buy a lot of programs anymore," she said. "The only measure of this school system is going to be the quality of the education that is coming from teachers."

"We're going back to a basic kind of teaching and education system."

Mrs. Toland said she hoped the evaluations system could be implemented by early fall of this year.

She said that the newly developed system is a give-and-take between teacher and supervisor. She said it is superior to the one page report card like evaluation previously used to rate the performance of untenured teachers.

City Strikes Back At Gypsy Moths

Quincy has started fighting back against the gypsy moth caterpillars that have been munching happily on the greenery in West Quincy and scattered sections of the city for the past couple of weeks.

Arborist Construction, Inc., of Weymouth, was scheduled to start spraying trees in the Wesson Ave. section of West Quincy with an insecticide called "Sevin" yesterday (Wednesday).

Forestry Supt. John F. Koegler said the spraying will go on for three to five days in the areas that have been heavily infested, particularly those with a lot of Oak trees.

Mayor Arthur H. Tobin said the spraying will coast about $1,000 a day for 10 hours work with the money coming either from transfers of city funds or possibly a state allocation.

The subject of gypsy moths came up at Monday night's City Council meeting with Councilors James A. Sheets and Daniel G. Raymondi regaling their colleagues with hair-raising caterpillar stories.

"If you had spent two and a half hours in certain sections of West Quincy this afternoon," said Sheets, "you would soon come to realize we have a serious problem."

"If you stand silently on Forest Ave. you can hear them eating away on the leaves of the oak trees."

"I know of one situation where a child had to be taken to the doctor because he developed a substantial rash as a result of exposure to these caterpillars."

"Stand and talk to a resident of the area for five minutes and you spend one minute picking bugs off your clothing."

"I found one gentleman up on the roof of his home trying to spray them off. He told me he spent almost $200 in the past week to try to get rid of the caterpillars."

Raymondi told of visiting a home where a youngster and his mother had been bitten by caterpillars.

"People tell me the caterpillars don't bite but all these people had bites on their hands," he said.

Koegler said the areas to be sprayed include most of West Quincy, Faxon Park and a wooded area of Quincy Point off South St. that backs up on the Faxon Commons development.

Also the oaks in the Beechwood Knoll area of Wollaston, the Puritan Drive - Mt. Ararat area, Merrymount Park and a small section of Elmwood Park in Montclair.

Koegler said Arborist will use one truck with a 3,000-gallon tank and a hose which will enable the sprayers to drag the hose into backyards to spray the woods.

"We are not spraying every street," he said, "just the areas that are heavily infested, particularly oaks."

He warned that the preparation Sevin is toxic to bees.

Health Commissioner Dr. Robert McKeogh said the caterpillars present no concern for humans.

"There have been some reports of a rash but it is not a major problem," he said. "They don't bite."

Dr. McKeogh said he consulted with the Poison Control Center in Atlanta about the preparation Sevin to make sure it is safe.

"It is innocuous," he said.

Koegler said he plans to have hourly reports broadcast over WJDA announcing the areas of the city that the spray truck will be working at a particular time.

GYPSY MOTH CATERPILLARS, which have descended upon local cities and towns in droves recently, are swept from his front porch by John A. Malvesti of West Quincy, retired Quincy police sergeant. Officials say the bugs will be in the non-eating moth stage by the first week in July.

Sidewalk Bazaar Set

The Quincy Center Business and Professional Association was granted permission by the License Board Tuesday to conduct its annual Sidewalk Bazaar July 16, 17 and 18.

The group was represented by Austin Wickens, executive director.

Quirk Ford Granted License

By NANCY McLAUGHLIN

July 1, is the tentative opening date for Quirk Ford, Inc., 540 Southern Artery, which was granted a Motor 1 (new car) license at Tuesday's License Board meeting.

Quirk told the board he would work with Building Inspector Allan MacDonald on further improvements to the property, a point of contention between the two at the May 19, meeting.

Although willing to spend $150,000 to upgrade the old President Chevrolet building, Quirk had balked at adding the landscaping and other improvements MacDonald suggested.

Quirk felt shrubbery would take away from his display of cars.

"It doesn't have to be a black-top jungle," contended MacDonald who maintained he was only asking Quirk to do what other businesses are doing.

MacDonald reported that, since that meeting, he has taken Quirk on a tour of the city to show him what is required of other businesses.

"He's (Quirk) willing to work out something," said MacDonald, "cleaning, screening up the property where possible."

At the earlier meeting, Quirk had said he would lease the property from Ford Motor Co., present owner.

He also said 50 to 100 people would be employed at the business.

Multibank Completes Purchase Of Gosman Stock For $10.6 Million

Multibank Financial Corp. announces it has completed the purchase of all shares of stock owned by Abraham D. Gosman for $10.6 million.

At a special meeting, Multibank stockholders approved the stock purchase agreement.

Gosman recently engaged in an unsuccessful attempt to take control of the bank holding company in a proxy contest at a special meeting of stockholders in March.

In other business at the special meeting in lieu of the company's annual meeting, stockholders re-elected the four directors whose terms were expiring to new three-year terms.

They are Donald P. Babson, first vice president and treasurer, United Business Service, Boston; Hale Champion, Executive Dean of the John F. Kennedy School of Government, Harvard University; David B. Lynch, Chairman and President, Multibank Financial Corp.; and Janet Gerdes Short, executive assistant to the President, Babson College. The stockholders also reappointed Coopers and Lybrand as independent auditors.

Lynch thanked the stockholders for their support and looked forward to a bright future for Multibank, noting record 1980 earnings of more than $9 million, and total assets of more than $1 billion.

"We are confident that Multibank will continue its strong growth through the eighties," he said. "Our earnings momentum, financial strength and strong management team combine to make our future very promising indeed."

Multibank Financial Corp. is a bank holding company with more than 80 banking offices statewide. Multibank affiliates are South Shore Bank, Quincy; Mechanics Bank, Worcester; The Falmouth National Bank, Falmouth; First Agricultural Bank, Pittsfield; Durfee Attleboro Bank, Fall River; Security National Bank, Springfield and Northampton National Bank, Northampton.

Sandy Strikes Again

It's Not Spiderman It's ---!

By FRANK MORTIMER

Seven year old Michael Scalisi told his six year old brother, Mark, just what those two plastic booths marked "his" and "hers" are all about.

"It's a time machine," he said as their mother, Helen Scalisi of 87 South St. led her boys past Beacon Fabric and Furniture in downtown Quincy Tuesday afternoon.

That theory would have suited

Sandy Rounseville just fine.

Rounseville is rapidly establishing a reputation for finding fanciful solutions to serious problems.

The two brown and blue portable toilets parked at his store entrance are his latest, but not last innovation.

Today (Thursday) at high noon, a man in a three piece suit is going to enter the "his" booth and emerge dressed in a red cape, blue leotards, and a blue T-shirt with the words "Comfort Man" emblazoned in gold letters across the chest, Rounseville said.

Comfort Man will be wearing eyeglasses similar to his own, he promised, and will climb the one story Beacon Building using plungers.

And if this stranger should fall? "The meter maids will catch him," Rounseville replied.

The owner of Beacon Fabrics and Furniture first drew headlines by offering in April, to pay parking tickets for any customer who spends over $10 in his store.

His campaign against the city's stepped up ticketing policy culminated in a Patriots Day horseback ride from his store to city hall. He wore a tri-cornered hat, carried a parking meter, and shouted a warning: "The meter maids are coming."

Rounseville complained that parking tickets were hurting business in the downtown area. His current concern is that the lack of a public restroom is also making it less pleasant to shop downtown. The comfort station in the McGrath parking area was closed in March due to budgetary constraints.

But some of his colleagues as well as city officials do not agree with his latest solution.

He is keeping the sidewalk toilets in defiance of the Health Department.

Dr. Robert McKeogh, commissioner of public health, said Rounseville said he'd remove the toilets by Saturday but failed to do so. He said he then asked Bernie Reisberg, President of the QCBPA to "lean on" Rounseville. This measure was also unsuccessful, McKeogh said.

The next step is to issue a "cease and desist order" from the Health Department. If Rounseville fails to comply with the order, the health department will take him to court, McKeogh said.

Rounseville counters that the city is breaking the law by failing to provide restrooms.

He said he is paying $160 per week to rent the Johnnys-on-the-spot. He is willing to pay that fee "for a year if necessary," he said.

Meanwhile, passersby have mixed feelings about the sidewalk toilets.

"I'd be a little embarrassed having someone see me come out," said Florence Joyce of Lancaster St., who would not use the facility.

"If I had to I'd certainly use it," said Ellen Clark of Granite St. "You can get caught short in any situation, but that's the worst one of all," she said.

Less concerned at the moment with practical needs, 11-year old E. J. Hartnett of 37 Keyes St. took hold of a Sears catalogue hanging from a string outside the "his" door. "There's a telephone inside and you order from in there," he laughed.

Will The Real School Budget Please Stand Up?

By FRANK MORTIMER
"It's in limbo" was School Committeewoman Mary Collins' summary of the current status of the school budget after Monday's City Council meeting.

It's pretty confusing, too. Despite two letters from Mayor Arthur H. Tobin indicating his intention to allow the City Council to consider the school committee's budget, councillors were not sure they had the power to do so Monday.

Letters from the mayor and from City Solicitor Robert J. Fleming were therefore referred to the Finance Committee for further discussion. The committee was scheduled to meet Tuesday night on the school budget.

Tobin's latest message to the council, dated June 1, simply says:

"I hereby submit the School Committee's Fiscal 1982 Budget voted May 13, 1981.

"I wish to advise the members of the City Council that my recommended school budget for fiscal 1982 for the operation of the Quincy Public Schools was submitted in February 1981."

Councillors were not sure if this constituted a formal appropriation order.

Tobin's original budget is $26.7 million, nearly $1.7 million less than the budget voted May 13 by the school committee.

Tobin had insisted he would stick to his budget, but reversed his position May 28 on the advice of the city solicitor.

Fleming recommended the reversal "to avoid unnecessary litigation," and because, in his judgement, Proposition 2½ "authorizes only the City Council to take action on School Committee budgets."

Several school committee members suggested last week they may sue the mayor to force him to present their budget to the City Council.

But councillors still aren't sure that the School Committee's budget is legally before them.

"In reality we don't have the $28 million budget before us?" Councillor Stephen McGrath asked City Clerk John Gillis at Monday's City Council meeting.

"That is correct," Gillis answered.

"If he (Tobin) wants to submit an additional figure, he'd have to bring in an additional amount," Gillis said.

But Gillis added that the status of the two school budgets is a legal question "not a parliamentary question". He said he would offer his personal opinion due to the absence of the City solicitor.

The City Council has only until June 15 to take action on the city budgets, Councillor Daniel Raymond warned.

Raymond gave two reasons for referring the school budget to the finance committee pending legal advice.

He said it is unclear which budget is before the council. And he noted that it was also unclear whether the mayor or the City Council bears responsibility for keeping the school budget within the restraints of Prop 2½.

Councillor Joseph LaRaia also expressed concern about the exact legal status of the two budgets.

"Is it really up to the City Council to act or not to act?" he asked. "That's what it boils down to."

Councillor Francis McCauley suggested that the mayor has promoted confusion. "The administration has been all over the lot on this question," he said.

After summarizing the up and down history of the school budget situation since February, McCauley said, "Now we have a letter from the city solicitor saying if we vote against a negotiated contract it has to go back to the bargaining table."

McCauley was referring to a June 1 ruling from the city solicitor to the Council on the legality of appropriating money to pay $1.4 in raises owed to school employees.

Let Them Dance

Editor, The Quincy Sun:

On May 28, my name was mentioned in connection with Sunday dancing. I was incorrectly identified as being 83 years old, an age far from my own, which appeared to be an attempt by certain people concerned to degrade the comments which I was making.

I wish at this time to express more fully my concern about Sunday dancing and alcohol sales. It occurs to me that the major problem in this city is an overabundance of small, dingy bars and taverns, which are allowed to remain open because of their endorsement and financial backing of political candidates, and a lack of entertainment establishments.

Dancing would eliminate some of the problems around these small neighborhood establishments, if the location of these dancing facilities are well controlled, because the clientele would be attracted to these larger places and away from the small neighborhood bars where most of the area's problems occur.

Sunday dancing seems to be

opposed merely for the reason that it will take business away from these establishments. I believe that if anything should be banned on Sunday, it is the opening of these very same taverns and bars which are causing the majority of our problems. This is not the first time that I have written to the board (License Board) regarding liquor establishments. I have written in opposition of the 2 a.m. closing of the Washington Tap, and also the granting of a liquor license to a new establishment selling wine and cheese in my area (Ward 2). I wonder why these letters were not publicized and this one was, to my detriment. Could this have been politically motivated?

Open Letter to:

Squantum Neighbors and Friends
Bay State Ambulance Personnel
Quincy City Hospital Staff

We acknowledge with gratitude the swift and concern of the many people who participated in our rescue from Dorchester Bay, Squantum, on the afternoon of May 20, 1981.

Thank you all so very much from the bottom of our hearts. We will always be grateful to the men who plunged into the bay, the men and women who provided blankets and assistance in so many ways, the Bay State Ambulance EMT's and the staff at Quincy City Hospital.

All these people were so very kind. Their assurance and assistance helped us through a most harrowing experience.

God bless you all.

Superintendent Appreciative For Memorial Day Help

Editor, The Quincy Sun:

The Cemetery Board of Managers and I wish to publicly thank and commend the Personnel of the Park, Forestry, Public Works, Water, Sewer and General Services (Police Dept.) for augmenting the Public Burial Places staff in preparing the seven City Cemeteries for Memorial Day.

Their tenacity of purpose, co-operation and workmanship manner was always evident.

Twelve days of overtime work (including Saturdays and Sundays) were spent in achieving this monumental task. Both the lot owners and citizens of Quincy can be justly proud of their accomplishment and sincere empathy for the families of lost loved ones. Thank you for a job well done. We are also appreciative of the School Department for the generous use of their lawn mower equipment.

Kathy, Chip And History

The Coletta family of West Quincy will again be much in the spotlight at this year's State Police Academy graduation ceremonies.

And, they'll be making a bit of history.

Gerard A. Coletta, III — better known as Chip — will be among the new troopers graduating in Framingham June 27.

Three years ago his sister, Kathy, graduated as the only female in an otherwise burly class of 84 members.

She was the third female trooper in the academy's history and the first woman to complete the 20-week training course that both men and women must now undergo.

When Chip graduates, he and Kathy will be the first brother-sister team in state police history. (There is a husband-wife team).

Chip and Kathy are the children of Mr. and Mrs. Gerard A. Coletta, Jr. of Gardiner St., West Quincy.

COLETTA

Three years ago, he had the honor of pinning Kathy's badge on her at the graduation ceremonies. This year, Kathy will do the honors for her brother.

Kathy incidentally is now doing undercover work for the Major Crime Unit based at state police headquarters and doing mighty well for herself.

Gerry hopes someday she might be assigned to the Norfolk County district attorney's office. And, maybe some time later, Chip, too.

And that would really be a family affair.

SPEAKING OF FAMILY affairs, City Councillor Francis McCauley, has one of his own going.

He will present the diploma to his daughter, Julie, at the Quincy High School graduation exercises June 9 at Veterans Memorial Stadium.

McCauley presented diplomas in 1973 and 1975 to sons, Mike and Bob, when he was a member of the School Committee. And two years ago, as a city councillor, he presented daughter, Melissa, his diploma.

A candidate for mayor, McCauley hopes to present a diploma to his youngest daughter, Jennifer, in 1984 as the city's chief executive.

TWO FAMILIAR Quincy figures are hospital patients.

Chairman Guy Faiella of the Board of Voter Registration is in New England Deaconess Hospital, Boston, after undergoing lung surgery. Former City Councillor Edward Graham, a member of the Quincy Housing Authority, is in Quincy City Hospital for tests.

CITY COUNCILLOR Daniel Raymondi will open his Mayoral Campaign Headquarters at 1143 Hancock St., Quincy Center (Thursday), at 7:30 p.m.

RAYMONDI

"I hope many of Quincy's residents will join us at the opening," says Raymondi.

"The evening's festivities will kick-off an aggressive and honest campaign in which my qualifications will clearly offer the voters a candidate who can best serve them and the city."

Office hours at the Raymondi headquarters will be (temporarily), Monday through Friday, 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. and 7 p.m. to 10 p.m. Telephone number is 786-9827.

THERE'S A NEW City Councillor-at-large candidate in the wings. Timothy Cahill, 22, of 35 Packards Lane, West Quincy, will officially enter the race June 11 at an announcement party at 8 p.m. at the Torre Dei Passeri Social club, 252 Washington St. Admission is free. There will be refreshments and live entertainment.

"SALUTE TO QUINCY" will be shown on Ch. 5's Sunday Open House this Sunday between 9:30 a.m. and 11:30 a.m.

WELL, IF YOU'RE thinking of running for office in this year's city election, now's the time to start moving it.

Nomination papers are available at the City Election Department at City hall. Deadline for taking them out is Aug. 14 and deadline for filing them is Aug. 18.

Election dates are Sept. 22 for the preliminary and Nov. 3 for the final.

And those dates will come up faster than you think.

(In fact, you might be interested in knowing that there are only 203 days before Christmas.) Happy, New Year.

MBTA Bus Blockade Looms

South Quincy, and I'm sure Councillor (Daniel G.) Raymondi will as well, we are going to do everything humanly possible to prevent that station from opening. We have no choice. We are tired of repairing damage done by the MBTA."

Elected officials presented a virtually united front against the MBTA's busing plans in North Quincy, which are scheduled to go into effect Saturday, June 20, and continue to Dec. 26 when reconstruction of the Dorchester Red Line is finished.

The MBTA's "lack of consideration and inefficient manner" particularly annoyed Rep. Michael W. Morrissey (D-Quincy).

"I was contacted once by the MBTA six months ago," said Morrissey, "and I was told that this project would have little or no effect on the city of Quincy. Now, through newspaper accounts, we have learned that we will have a major problem.

"Meetings between MBTA officials, elected representatives and neighborhood groups should have been held months ago. The MBTA has spent a great deal of time with the Boston neighborhoods but left out Quincy, which is expected to bear the brunt of the impact."

"MBTA officials have suggested that they are not locked into any one alternative at this time. To say they have not committed themselves less than three weeks before construction is to begin is a complete lie."

Councillor Francis X. McCauley wrote to MBTA General Manager James F. O'Leary suggesting that it would be a better idea to bus the Ashmont commuters directly to South Station and Park St. and pick them up at Columbus station on the way home.

"It makes no sense," he said, "to add to the harassment of commuters in the North Quincy area who, even now, have difficulty boarding trains during rush hours."

Councillor Joanne Condon, who sponsored the North Quincy home rule petition, said that the MBTA plan would mean as many as 50 buses an hour coming over the Neponset Bridge and down Hancock St. to the station.

"It does not make sense in this day of economy and energy problems to be putting people in buses in Boston to come to Quincy to get on trains to go back to Boston," she said.

Raymondi, who was also concerned with the opening of the Quincy Adams station, pictures a city tied up at both ends by MBTA traffic problems and "suffocating" in the middle.

"What they're asking the people of Quincy to accept in the fall of 1981," he said, "is our two major arteries on the north and south sides to be so bottlenecked and congested that it will be virtually impossible for any commuter to get into the city of Quincy in rush hour."

At Chamber Breakfast

Legislators Feel Prop 2½ More Popular Than Ever

Proposition 2½ is more popular with the voters today than it was when it passed last November, the South Shore Chamber of Commerce was told by its legislative delegation last week.

"If 2½ went on the ballot tomorrow it would win 75-25," said Sen. Joseph B. Walsh (D-Boston), who also represents Milton and Randolph. "The people think it's wonderful."

"I've received 108 letters to date on the dog pound seizure law and I haven't received half that many letters on 2½," said Rep. Elizabeth Metayer (D-Braintree).

"The letters we get come primarily from teachers, firefighters and policemen. They are the people who are writing to us and saying 'We can't live with 2½.'"

"The message I'm receiving from my district is that they don't want any changes in 2½," said Rep. Mary Jeanette Murray (R-Cohasset). "If the vote were taken today it would be even stronger."

"The legislature is not going to make any but technical changes in 2½," said Rep. Thomas F. Brownell (D-Quincy) who sits on the Taxation Committee. "I don't know one legislator who advocates repeal."

A baker's dozen of South Shore legislators turned up at the Chamber of Commerce's breakfast at the Lantana, Randolph last week, primarily, as it turned out, to discuss Prop 2½ and its effect on the state budget.

"We are faced with an impossible situation," said Sen. Allan R. McKinnon (D-Weymouth), "if we're going to give the type of aid the cities and towns are looking for and maintain state services.

"There is a half billion less in the pot for the towns and the state to spend than there was last year."

"If we're going to give cities and towns $200 million we don't have, then we're going to have to raise taxes," said Walsh, who called the controversy "the continuing soap opera of 2½."

"Where are we going to get the money? I hate to be the bearer of bad tidings, but it's coming from you, the business community."

Brownell said the state can expect an additional tax program by fiscal 1984.

"There are three plans kicking around for 1984," he said. "One is to broaden the state sales tax. Another is a piggy back tax that would require a change in the state constitution."

"The third plan would eliminate the 10 per cent tax on unearned income and increase the 5.7 per cent tax on earned income to 6.5 per cent."

"The budget that we have been discussing," said Rep. M. Joseph Manning (D-Milton), "calls for a minimum of $240 to $275 million in local aid and for cuts of about $175 million in state government."

"If it stays intact, we can put a budget on the governor's desk that calls for no new taxation in fiscal 1982. The fly in the ointment will be in the fall when the impact of federal cuts becomes known."

Rep. Andrew H. Card, Jr. (R-Holbrook) warned that "the most responsible thing the legislature can do is develop some credibility by reducing state spending."

"There is $300 million in the current state budget that can be offered to the cities and towns without a reduction in state services."

"If the legislature responds to 2½ by reducing state spending and providing more local aid then you would tend to believe us if we worked responsibly on restructuring the tax program in 1984."

Sen. Walsh disagreed.

"We have to keep supplying the services that the people need," he said. "I don't know if $300 million can be cut from the budget and still take care of people. I'm not an optimist."

Harold Urges Special Celebration For U.S. Constitution

Resolutions sponsored by Sen. Paul D. Harold urging a special celebration of the 200th anniversary of the U.S. Constitution have been adopted by the State Senate.

The resolutions, sponsored in conjunction with the Disabled American Veterans, urge Congress to establish a special commission to commemorate the signing of the Constitution, Sept. 17, 1787. They note that Massachusetts patriots played prominent roles in fostering the basic values of freedom that resulted in the federal Constitution.

Harold said many of the basic ideas of the U.S. Constitution, including the separation of powers and especially the individual freedoms, were taken from the Massachusetts Constitution, which was written in John Adams' law offices in Quincy.

"The idea for many of our basic freedoms began right here in Quincy, and it is my hope that federal government will arrange for appropriate recognition of this historic area in celebrating the birth of the federal Constitution which our Massachusetts forefathers contributed to with great leadership and foresight," Harold said.

Management Week

This is Management Week in Quincy by proclamation of Mayor Arthur H. Tobin.

The week honors members of the National Management Association, which has more than 62,000 members in the United States, including a number of them in Quincy.

Said Tobin's proclamation:

"During the week of June 1 these members will join management men and women nationwide to emphasize the role of management in our society and to encourage the promotion of our American enterprise system."

Striking Bus Drivers Reject EMass Offer

Striking bus drivers and mechanics, on the 86th day of their strike against the Eastern Mass Street Railway, voted by nearly 3-1 to reject a company offer of a 15-cent an hour raise.

The vote came after Norman Brandon, chairman of the union's general conference board, told the membership. "If the majority accepts the management offer it will be the end of the union."

The strike involved 1,800 union members, 226 of them in the Quincy Division, and inconvenienced some 500,000 riders in 75 communities throughout eastern Massachusetts.

SQUANTUM PARK SOUGHT

City Solicitor Arthur I. Burgess said the possibility of Quincy buying the 14.5-acre Squantum Park from the city of Boston is brighter than at any time in the past.

Completion of the Calf Pasture to Deer Island sewerline, which was expected in about two years, will leave Boston with no use for the property, said Burgess.

$135,000 Appropriation

The City Council appropriated $135,000 from the excess and deficiency fund in order to balance $100,000 added to the 1952 budget and trim the expected tax rate by 25 cents per thousand.

The '52 tax rate was expected to come in between $54 and $55.

Surprise Audits Set For State Agencies

A number of surprise inventory audits of state agencies are being planned as a result of the Legislature's Post Audit Committee findings at state colleges and universities.

More than $3 million worth of equipment turned up missing at the state colleges during the audits but some of it, including cameras, typewriters and tape recorders, has been found.

Rep. Michael W. Morrissey (D-Quincy), a member of the committee, said most of the equipment was not actually stolen but rather unaccounted for due to poor inventory control.

Morrissey said the surprise audits are being conducted because there is no uniform inventory control system for state equipment.

Political Considerations Out, Pledges McCauley

City Councillor Francis X. McCauley, a candidate for mayor, has promised that his administration will make decisions "in the best, longterm interest of the city rather than short run political considerations."

McCauley told some 70 North

Quincy businessmen and neighborhood leaders at Kelly's Pub and Grub, 27 Billings Rd., that political considerations in setting the tax rate have in the past cost the city a reduction in its credit rating.

A reduced credit rating, he said, results in higher borrowing costs.

McCauley said he voted against creation of a Water and Sewer Commission because it would have created an expensive, additional bureaucracy at a time when people are looking for a reduction in the cost of local government.

Raymondi Opposes N Quincy MBTA Busing

City Councillor Daniel G. Raymondi, a candidate for mayor, says he is vehemently opposed to busing commuters from Ashmont to North Quincy because of "inadequate MBTA planning on traffic conditions and public safety."

Raymondi explained his views on the plan to bus the commuters while the Dorchester Red Line is closed for repairs to North Quincy residents during a coffee party at the home of Lorraine and Robert Hill, 309 Beale St.

He also questioned the proposal's necessity and logic, the lack of input from local officials and the possibility of the city being assessed for the extra ridership, which would boost Quincy's payment to the MBTA.

"The MBTA put this proposal together without proper planning," said Raymondi.

"What of the school and children and the fire station on the traffic route and what of the more than 7,000 extra passengers during the morning and evening rush hours? What provisions have been made for them?"

Raymondi also discussed his qualifications for mayor, downtown development, the expected effects of Proposition 2½ and his political philosophy.

"Look at my record," he said. "I pledge an aggressive administration in moving Quincy ahead despite the slashes in federal and state funds."

Raymondi also promised that, in addition to monthly meetings in Quincy neighborhoods as mayor, he will appear monthly on WJDA to take phone calls from constituents on any issues they wish to discuss.

"I feel elected officials have a deep responsibility to conduct an open administration and one that keeps in touch and is responsive to the people of Quincy," said Raymondi.

Traffic Commission Meets

The Quincy Traffic Commission held a special meeting yesterday (Wednesday) morning at City Hall.

Among items on the agenda was discussion of down town streets to be designated as tow areas.

Atlantic Associaton To Elect Officers

Annual election of officers will take place at the monthly meeting of the Atlantic Neighborhood Association Wednesday, June 10, at 7:30 p.m. at the new Atlantic Neighborhood Center, Hunt St.

Diana Brooks, nominating committee chairman, has presented the following slate of officers: Thomas J. Nutley, president; Patricia Yovino, vice president; Mary Travers, treasurer; and Ann Fraser, secretary.

A brief business meeting will precede the election.

There will also be presentations by two speakers. Gary Gilmore of Pharmacy will discuss the use and effects of drugs, the availability of lower priced generic drugs, and other subjects.

James McCarthy and Allan Castaline, MBTA project coordinators, will speak on the proposed plans to bus commuters from Mattapan and Ashmont Stations to North Quincy station for passage to Boston.

The busing is expected to take place throughout the summer while reconstruction takes place at the two Dorchester Stations and along the Dorchester Railbeds.

All Quincy residents, particularly those who use the North Quincy Station and those who live near the station, are invited to ask questions and discuss the impact of increased commuter use of the station.

Standish Rd., doorstep. The baby was only hours old at the time.

But Waddington and his wife Carol, who is also a Salvation Army officer, called him Christopher Erin.

Mrs. Waddington is the mother of two girls, ages 19 and 21, and one boy, aged 16. "After being a mother, having held that baby in my arms, I would have no problem adopting that child," she said.

Her sentiments were apparently shared by many. The police and hospital have been flooded with calls from adults who want to adopt the child.

Police believe the mother is a young local resident. They hope to reunite the mother and child.

Police said they do not wish to prosecute the mother. They want to reach her because she probably needs medical attention as well as emotional support.

The letter received Monday by Waddington concludes,

"I am only 17 years old. I was in pain and thought only of my baby. I hope it did not hurt him. My name is Lorie. If you still want me to live, please show up and put my story in the paper."

"P.S. I love my baby."

Council On Aging Status:

Lydon Assures Seniors Programs Will Stay

Planning Director James Lydon spent the better part of an hour Monday night assuring senior citizens that his department can oversee the Council on Aging without missing a program.

The Planning Department took the Council under its wing recently when its budget was eliminated under Prop. 2½ and Director Marion Andrews retired.

"We plan on eliminating none of the programs," Lydon told the City Council and an audience of some 75 seniors. "As a matter of fact, you will probably see an improvement of services."

"Services will be run from what was the Council on Aging office in the Kennedy Health Center and there will be an administrative person, Cleta Tassanary, in the office."

"All 10 of the programs will have people responsible for them and in some cases we are trying pull back together programs that have been dormant in the past."

Lydon's explanation of how the Planning Department plans to handle the services to seniors even drew a laudatory comment from Councilor Francis X. McCauley, a Tobin administration critic.

"From all the experience I've had with the Planning Department, I'm optimistic that they're going to meet the challenge," he said. "I feel the senior citizens will feel the same way once they get to know the people in the Planning Department."

"They are a very professional organization and they have the city's interest at heart and I know they'll have the seniors' interest at heart."

Fears that the seniors have expressed in going to the Planning Department, said Councilor James A. Sheets, "are part of the emotional problem of making the transition."

"Those who face change also face uncertainty," he said. "You must make sure that the seniors feel the Planning Department will provide, not only the same quality of services, but compassion and understanding as well."

"I have the utmost faith in Mr. Lydon," said Councilor Stephen J. McGrath. "I'm sure he will be successful and the seniors will be satisfied."

Lydon assured senior citizen Blase DeLollis of 1025 Hancock St. that the name Council on Aging will be preserved and he told Councilor Joseph J. LaRaia that $115,000 has been allocated for the Council in next year's federal grant budget.

HARD OR SOFT TOOTHBRUSH?

Q: I use a hard toothbrush. Now I hear talk about using a soft brush. Which is better?

A: Years ago, it was thought that a hard brush was better, but that was before we realized how important it is to brush the margins of the gums as well as the teeth. With a hard brush this would be too painful. A soft brush can clean just as well, does not erode or abrade the enamel surfaces of the teeth, and helps stimulate the circulation in the gums. Use a soft, multi-tufted brush with at least three or four rows of bristles.

Should we have a funeral and visitation for Grandpa?

He was very old,
maybe he doesn't have any friends left

The choice of a funeral or visitation for the elderly should not be made on false assumptions. It is easy to believe that old people have no friends. Many have spent their last years in a nursing home away from others. Many of their friends may also have preceded them in death. Nevertheless, today there is a larger population of the elderly than there has ever been before, and that population is growing! Many families who have chosen a visitation and traditional funeral have been gratified to meet friends of the deceased who call to pay their respects because they cared about the person. Others come to express support of the family. When an older person dies, a funeral and visitation, gives friends a chance to express their feelings.

St. Mary's Road Race Saturday

The grand-daddy of all South Shore road races, the annual St. Mary's 10-mile race, will be held Saturday at 1 p.m.

The challenging course, two loops, which starts and finishes in front of St. Mary's Church, Crescent Street in West Quincy, has attracted, over the years, some of New England's great distance runners. The race is sanctioned by the New England Athletics Congress and anyone 16 years of age and over may enter.

There will be 15 open division prizes with special prizes going to the first finishing runner from Quincy, first finishing runner from St. Mary's parish, first finishing woman runner, first finishing runner over 40, first finishing runner over 50. The entry fee is $2.00, post entry fee $3.00. For further information, contact either Fr. McMahon at St. Mary's Church, 115 Crescent St., Quincy, or Bob Seamans, 20 Moreland Road, Quincy, at 471-1265.

Seamans, who is race director, asks residents along the course to have their garden hoses hooked up out front of their homes to spray the runners if it is a hot day or to allow them a quick drink.

There will be official water stops, but they may not be able to service runners as frequently as needed, Seamans said.

The course is as follows:

Race starts in front of St. Mary's Church on Crescent St. in West Quincy, takes rt. on Hall Place, rt. on Quarry St., left on Furnace Brook Pkwy, rt. on Newport Ave., rt. on Adams St., left on Whitwell St., over Hospital Hill, rt. on Granite St. over Quarry St. Hill, left on Furnace Brook Pkwy, rt. on Cross St., rt. on Crescent St., back to St. Mary's Church.

Runners then repeat the course for a total of 10 miles.

Kickers Edge Abington, 3-2

The North Quincy Kickers' soccer teams are still struggling against more experienced teams in the South Shore Soccer League, but the under-12 team recently came from behind to edge Abington, 3-2, behind a spectacular three-goal performance by Kevin Caldwell.

Caldwell gave North a 1-0 lead in the first half with halfback Billy Palmer assisting. Brian Durgin and Adam McGregor also had good scoring chances.

Abington took a 2-1 lead in the second half before Caldwell found the range again. This time Palmer's shot hit the crossbar and Caldwell rammed it home. With three minutes left Caldwell scored the winner on a perfect cross. Robert Hubbard, Lance Panaro and Donald Greene played well for the Kickers and Mike Stanton, playing his first game in goal, played an excellent game.

The under-14 team, again undermanned, played well until the final seven minutes in losing to Bridgewater, 6-0.

Mike Cocce and Dave D'Antona shared the goal tending duties and played well in the first half, North trailing only 2-0 at halftime. It stayed that way until the final seven minutes when the Kickers tired badly. Cocce, Tim Burke, Jim Cahill and Matt Ostiguy played well.

The under-19 team also lost to Bridgewater, 6-1. Trailing, 2-0, Steve Sacchetti hit on an 18-yarder with Bobby Flynn having the assist. North missed several other good chances as Peter McGillicuddy and Chris Butler had the best chances. The second half was all Bridgewater as North again missed several other fine chances. Playing well for North were Alex Coutts, Richie Palma and John Keenan.

Roberts On All-Star Team

Quincy's Jim Roberts, third baseman for the U.S. Naval Academy baseball team, last week was named to the Eastern Intercollegiate Baseball League all-star team for the second year in a row.

The former Quincy High and Morrisette Legion standout batted .356 this season and the senior fell one vote short of being a unanimous choice, receiving 17 of a possible 19 votes from the conference coaches.

Roberts was a member of Morrisette's 1975 state and New England champions who played in the Legion World Series in Rapid City, So. Dakota, and he attended the recent Morrisette reunion.

Foley, Gear Setting Hot Pace

Foley Chrysler leads the American League and Boston Gear tops the National League with 8-1 records in the Junior Baseball League. Rotary fell to second place with a 7-2 mark in the National League after losing last week to Foley.

Foley bombed Rotary, 13-1, with Chris Marshall (4-0) the winning pitcher, striking out nine, giving up just three hits and not walking a batter. He also had three hits and scored three runs. Dan Biagini had two doubles, Kyle Robertson and Sean Gately had two hits apiece and Bob Laracy, Jay DeBartolo, Tom Tegen and Chris Meyer had singles. Steve Minichiello had a double and single and Robby had the other hit for Rotary, a single.

Foley rolled over Keohane's, 10-3, with DeBartolo pitching a six-hitter, striking out six and walking three. He also contributed a double and a single. Biagini had a home run and triple and scored three runs and Marshall had a single and two walks and scored three times. Robertson had a double and Jim Dennis a single.

Foley outclassed the Elks, 16-2, as Marshall pitched two-hit ball and struck out 11. He also had three doubles and a single. Biagini had four hits, including a triple and double and scored four runs. Robertson had a homer, his second of the year, and two singles. Tegen had a double and Dennis, Sean Gately, Joe Gately and Laracy had singles.

Marshall has struck out 46 in 27 innings and DeBartolo has 30 strikeouts in 24 innings. Biagini has 23 hits in 30 times at bat for a fantastic .766 average as he follows in the footsteps of his brother Bob, now playing in the Red Sox farm system.

After being soundly beaten by Boston Gear, 13-3, for its first loss, Rotary came from behind in the sixth inning to defeat Sears, 7-5, on Minichiello's grand slam homer.

Trailing, 5-3, going into the last inning, Timmy Hall walked and Bill Burkhead reached on an error. Mike Mullaney singled to fill the bases and Minichiello hit his grand slam to win it.

Burkhead won his fourth game, allowing only four hits and striking out 15. He also had two hits. Fitzgerald had a triple and John Pennellatore and Phil Thompson also had hits. For Sears Steve Austin, making his first start, pitched well, scattering seven hits and striking out seven. He also hit a long homer and double. Tom Casey and Kevin Segella also had hits for Sears and Peter Tufts played well in left field.

Gear defeated Colonial Federal, 8-4, with Mike Dever and Larry Taglieri combining for a four-hitter and allowing no earned runs. They struck out nine. Ricky Dunham led the attack with a double and two singles. Matt Furtado had two hits as did Chad Hallett and Taglieri, Shawn Craig and Chris Higgins had one hit each. Nancy Flukes, Joe Gendreau, Mossie Houlihan, Mike Leonard, Paul Adams, Mike Paccetti, Mike Cronin, Danny Duncan and Jeff Craig all played well for Gear.

Gear also edged VFW, 3-2, collecting 10 hits but stranding 12 base runners as losing pitcher Danny Overby was tough in the clutch. Gear trailed, 1-0, after three innings, but loaded the bases in the top of the fourth and Hallett ripped a double, clearing the bases for all the Gear runs.

Hallett also had two singles, Furtado had a double and a single, Flukes a double, and Dever, Adams and Gendreau a single each. Dever and Taglieri again shared the pitching chores, giving up six hits and one earned run. Taglieri was the winner. Houlihan, Leonard, Shawn Craig, Higgins, Paccetti and Mike Cronin stood out for Gear.

North Junior Trackmen Wind Up Undefeated

Dave Hourin's North Quincy junior high boys' track team completed another unbeaten dual meet season (4-0) with an easy 70-12 victory over Central and the young Raiders are now pointing for their 25th all-city title in the city meet June 11.

North is expected to receive plenty of competition from Tom Hall's Broad Meadows team, which finished up 3-1, suffering only a close 42-40 defeat at the hands of North in the season's opener.

North's John DeLappe finished unbeaten in the hurdles and the high jump, while Don Fink is undefeated in the 100, Jim Kennedy in the 440 and Dave Blaton in the half mile.

DeLappe won the hurdles in 6.9 against Central with John McGuire second, Fink won the 100 in 11.5 with Chris Gizelis third, Kennedy won the 440 in 58.1 with Phil Iacobacci second and Jim White third, Blaton won the half mile in 2:23 with Bill Donnelly third, Joe Russell won the shot put at 31-5 with Bob King second and Iacobacci third, Fink won the long jump at 16-6 with Fazel Rashid second and John Tamburi third, DeLappe won the high jump at 5-4 with Kennedy second and Tim Sullivan was second and John Sullivan third in the mile.

North won both relays, the one-lap team of Gizelis, Rashid, McGuire and Blaton winning in 42.1 seconds and the two-lap team of King, Fink, Joe O'Hare and Kennedy won in 1:24.

Central's Paul Seegraber, who won the mile in 5:17, is the son of Frank Seegraber, a classmate of Hourin at Holy Cross College, class of 1938. He handed Tim Sullivan his first defeat of the season.

Central's Jamie Paz was second in the 100, Steve Golden second in the half mile, Joe LaPierre third in the hurdles and Jamie Paz third in the high jump.

Hourin is understandably proud of the fact that 12 of his 20 ninth grade team performers made the honor roll.

"I have always encouraged good grades, good sportsmanship and good conduct at all times," Hourin said.

There will be some changes made at North for the city meet with Atlantic coach Doug MacFarlane sending up some outstanding junior varsity boys, including Frank Bangs, who has had a fine season in the hurdles and half mile, Coleen Parker, unbeaten in the 100 and shot put, and Phil Coyne, unbeaten in the mile.

"I know that veteran coaches like Tom Hall at Broad Meadows, Dan Coughlin at Point, Jessie James at Sterling and Jerry Hurley at Central will put all their know-how together in an effort to beat North, but we will win our 25th championship or bust trying," Hourin said.

Coughlin, incidentally, ran for Hourin some years ago at North.

Hall and his Broad Meadows team may have something to say about North adding another title.

BM, which had bounced back from his heartbreaking loss to North to defeat Sterling, easily defeated Central, 59-23, sweeping the 440 with Jim Donahue, Greg Keefe and Bill Gardiner, and sweeping the half mile with Mark Cullen, Bob Zupkofska and John Gleba.

BM overwhelmed a willing, but hopelessly out-manned Point team, 73-9, with Carl Freedman winning the hurdles in 6.2 and the long jump at 18-1, both efforts the best in the city this year.

Cullen won the half mile in 2:16.0, another best in the city, and Gardner won the shot put at 35-7, still another city best.

Also doing well for BM have been Al Conant in the shot put, Vin Servaes in the mile, Paul Burke in the 100 and Mike Flynn, running for the first time this year, in the mile.

The all-city meet will be held next Thursday at 3 o'clock at Veterans Memorial Stadium. The girls' meet will be Friday, June 12, at 3 at the stadium.

CHARCOAL AND CARBON MONOXIDE

Do-it-yourself barbecue chefs should do their barbecuing out in the open. Otherwise, warns the National Safety Council, what starts out to be a festive meal may result in a tragedy.

Many persons regard charcoal briquets as harmless to use indoors, never dreaming that large quantities of carbon monoxide can accumulate.

You need plenty of air to get rid of the poisonous gases from burning charcoal. Poisonings and even asphyxiations have been reported when briquets were burned indoors.

Some advice: Don't burn briquets in a garage or basement or any other enclosed area such as a porch, tent or cabin. If you absolutely must use charcoal indoors, place it near an open window or door as a sensible precaution against accumulating carbon monoxide. If used in a fireplace make certain that the damper is wide open - not half way. It's the only way to be sure the lethal gases can escape.

THE COST OF PAINT SEEMS TO BE RISING AT A FIERCE RATE. DO YOU KNOW WHY?

A.

When our raw materials go up we have to pass the cost along. We refuse to lower our quality like some do. Remember this! Good quality paint like Hancock is your best buy because it will last longer. Since we manufacture our own Hancock Paint and sell it in our own factory stores we are most competitive!

Elks Donate Outboard Motor To Recreation Dept.

The Quincy Elks have contributed a new 7.5 horsepower Evinrude outboard motor to the Quincy Recreation Department's water safety program.

The motor was presented to the Park and Recreation Board by Exalted Ruler David Montani Jr. and Past Exalted Ruler and Chairman of the Board of Trustees Joseph McArdle.

Also attending the presentation was City Councillor Daniel G. Raymond, chairman of the Council's Park and Recreation Committee.

The motor will be used on a safety patrol boat at the William F. Ryan Boating and Sailing Facility at Black's Creek, providing a safety factor for the hundreds of youngsters and adults who receive instruction in rowing, canoeing and sailing in the natural salt water lagoon.

The boat is also used to provide rides for handicapped children from the Happy Acres Day Camp sponsored by the Recreation Department.

The Elks have long recognized the value of safe boating instruction in a community with 27 miles of waterfront and for many years have provided scholarships for department staff at Red Cross Aquatic Schools.

In 1979 the Elks donated two Pari-Pram row boats for use in teaching boating skills.

The boating facility is named after the late Director of Recreation William F. Ryan, who was an active member of the Quincy Elks and a former "Elk of the Year".

Board Chairman Gerard Coletta commended the Elks for their long standing generosity to the Recreation Department and their commitment to the youth of Quincy.

WEEK OF JUNE 4
AQUARIUS - January 21-February 19
A long-awaited opportunity opens up and you may have to make some quick decisions. Domestic obligation disturbs weekend plans but you're rewarded in an unusual way.

PISCES - February 20-March 20
Possessive though you sometimes are, you achieve your best results now - socially - through a live-and-let-live policy. In finances, question even the most trivial details.

ARIES - March 21-April 20
Counting your blessings isn't going to help your sagging emotions, but it's a start. And by the end of this period you're off in far newer - and far brighter - directions.

TAURUS - April 21-May 22
Efficiency is at a peak, but you can't expect helpers to be as conscientious as you are. If trying to impress, you succeed through modest touches, not with a splashy approach.

GEMINI - May 23-June 21
Chatty Gemini is given to Introspection this week, with important personal goal under review. Take time out to enjoy outdoor gatherings - especially if fellow Gemini is present.

CANCER - June 22-July 22
Facts squirreled away last winter can come in handy this week. Possible strain in relationship with advisers; bend over backward to see their points of view.

LEO - July 23-August 22
Facts squirreled away last winter can come in handy this week. Possible strain in relationship with advisers; bend over backward to see their points of view.

VIRGO - August 23-September 22
Your tendency to be critical about "trivial" matters wins you applause, not bricks, this week. Emotional friend becomes more rational and finally sees your viewpoint.

LIBRA - September 23-October 22
A superb week for anyone starting a job, making a career shift or checking out real estate. Standoffish relative begins to warm up, but don't ask for that yet.

SCORPIO - October 23-November 21
Intense Scorpio? This week finds you capricious and fun-loving, no doubt due to a very close friend's sentiment and a higherup's great confidence in you.

SAGITTARIUS - November 22-December 22
Good week for launching a sideline or taking on part-time work. Stay clear of doubting Thomases. Upbeat personalities make you feel justifiably confident.

CAPRICORN - December 23-January 20
A major career or academic opportunity is within sight. Express sincere interest, but don't rush into anything. Social life is lively, enhancing your winning, glamorous personality.

BIRTHDAY THIS WEEK
Words come quickly, whether you're speaking or writing. You seem to exist on nervous energy at times. Important career or academic goal keeps eluding you. It's yours - eventually - but patience and optimism are musts.

BORN THIS WEEK
June 4th, actor Gene Barry; 5th, director Tony Richardson; 6th, artist Diego Velazquez; 7th, actress Jessica Tandy; 8th, actor Robert Preston; 9th, songwriter Cole Porter; 10th, singer Judy Garland.

Insurance Agents To Sponsor Scholarships

The Independent Insurance Agents of Braintree-Quincy has announced it will sponsor scholarships for three students from Braintree, Quincy and North Quincy High Schools to attend college next fall.

They will be administered through the scholarship committee of the three high schools.

"We realize that, in some cases, financial aid can mean the difference between a student going to college or not going," said Raymond J. MacPherson, president of the association.

He noted that the scholarship program is just one of the youth programs being sponsored by local insurance agents.

"We will soon be announcing our plans for a Braintree-Quincy Insurance Youth Classic Golf Tournament," he said.

"This tournament will give golfers under 18 a chance to compete and go on to the state and national finals of the Insurance Youth Classic."

The Insurance Youth Classic is part of the Future Legends of Golf tours of the American Junior Golf Association.

MBTA Makes 'Slight' Change In Busing Plan

Last Thursday night's City Hall hearing has produced one slight change in the MBTA's plan to bus Dorchester commuters to North Quincy while their section of the Red Line is closed for repairs.

Rep. Thomas F. Brownell said the MBTA has informed him that it will keep a four-car train with a standby crew available at all times in Braintree in case of a breakdown on the outbound line.

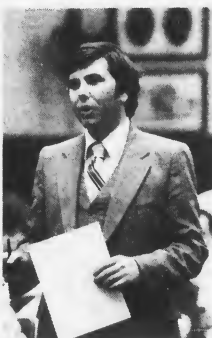

The issue was brought up at Thursday's meeting by Brownell, through aide Robert Gibbons, who noted that an outbound breakdown could halt all service on the Red Line to Boston.

"No trains would be able to come out from Boston and the jam of Boston-bound commuters at the North Quincy station would present a public safety problem," Gibbons told the hearing.

Gibbons said the MBTA called Brownell Tuesday and conceded that it had not considered that problem possibility and would station the standby train at Braintree.

Meanwhile, MBTA General Manager James F. O'Leary indicated that the T is going ahead with its plan to bus some 7,000 people a day in 50 vehicles into the North Quincy station, starting June 20, in spite of protests.

City Council President Leo J. Kelly said he plans to write a letter to the Environmental Protection Agency to find out why the MBTA was not required to file an environmental impact statement on the change.

REP. MICHAEL W. MORRISSEY makes a point at the MBTA hearing into a proposal to bus Dorchester commuters to North Quincy station while their line is undergoing repairs.

"Federal money is paying the cost of the busing," he said. "Isn't a public hearing required by the EPA on things like that?"

Kelly was one of several councillors who spoke against the busing plan at the hearing. He said he was opposed to it because of the traffic jam it would create and the threat to public safety.

The City Council has passed home rule petitions to prohibit the busing in North Quincy and also to ban the proposed opening of the Quincy Adams MBTA station before the Route 3 ramps are ready.

Sen. Paul D. Harold said Tuesday that the legislation has been drafted and sent to the House of Representatives so the Quincy delegation could sign on to it.

"It's hard to say how successful they will be," he said. "The MBTA usually supercedes the authority of the cities and towns in matters like busing. I'd say its chances are not bright."

But, he said, the South Quincy station petition stands a much better chance.

"I talked to O'Leary," said Harold, "and I don't think he realized the implications of what he was saying when he said the station would open without the ramps."

"I don't think he was aware of the history of the T's commitment."

The Quincy legislative delegation and city officials are scheduled to meet with representatives of the MBTA and the DPW Monday, June 15, in the state house to discuss South Quincy and the ramps.

The public is also invited to attend the meeting in Room 446 at 2 p.m.

Robert Devin, the MBTA's operations liaison man who chaired Thursday's hearing, heard a number of threats that Quincy residents might block the North Quincy busing and the Quincy Adams opening.

'Good Legal Questions' City To Appeal Saccone Job Decision

By TOM HENSHAW

Mayor Arthur H. Tobin said Tuesday that "good legal questions" will be the basis for the city's appeal from a Civil Service order reinstating Sarah Saccone in her job in the auditor's office.

"There is no position to reinstate her to," he said. "The job is not funded in the budget. Can the state mandate a patronage position for her under Proposition 2½?"

The Civil Service decision, handed down by Hearings Officer Mary E. Stanton, found that the June 24, 1980, layoff of Saccone "was motivated by political reasons."

Tobin said she was laid off because the accountant's job that she had held in the auditor's department since Sept. 6, 1966 was eliminated under restraints of a 4 per cent budget cap.

Saccone had taken two years out of her job in the auditor's office in 1976 and 1977 to serve as budget coordinator in the administration of Mayor Joseph J. LaRaia, Tobin's bitter rival.

Saccone showed up Monday to reclaim her job. She went to the auditor's office, then to the mayor's office and finally to the office of Executive Secretary Thomas Burke.

Burke informed her that City Labor Negotiator Joseph McParland had just called and that she would be notified by mail that the city was appealing the decision so there was no job for her.

"I'm ready, willing and able to work," she said, adding that acting auditor William Grindlay had told her by phone that "if I want to work I can, but there is no money to pay me."

The Civil Service decision ordered Saccone reinstated with back pay to June 1980, which would amount to between $15,000 and $17,000, minus money she earned in seven months as town accountant of Canton.

"If they want to continue appealing it let them," she said. "But they could let me work. They're going to have to pay me eventually. The taxpayers are paying that money and they're not getting the service."

Hearing Officer Stanton's ruling questioned Tobin's claim that there was not enough money in the auditor's budget to fund the position of accountant held by Miss Saccone.

"At the same time that Mayor Tobin recommended that the position of accountant not be funded, he recommended that the position of deputy auditor be created," she said.

"This rather schizophrenic behavior on the part of the mayor is not consistent with a policy of fiscal restraint."

She noted that the accountant's job paid about $15,000 a year while the proposed position of deputy auditor, which was turned down by the City Council, would have paid $19,000 a year.

"At the hearing," said Stanton, "no evidence was introduced to establish that there were no funds for the position of accountant. Rather, the converse is true."

"Clearly, there appears to be sufficient funds in the light of the fact that the mayor was willing to expend $4,000 more for the proposed position of deputy auditor."

Tobin said that the deputy auditor's job was created to replace Mary Louise Steen, who had resigned her job as assistant auditor to become executive secretary to the Retirement Board.

The Civil Service ruling said that Steen was still doing the work previously done by Saccone and given compensatory time off, even though her primary duty is to the Retirement Board.

"Some of the work formerly performed by Ms. Steen as executive secretary of the Retirement Board is being performed by Alice McCarthy, who was called back from retirement," said Stanton.

"To pay Ms. Steen's salary from the Retirement Board budget is merely a device employed by the city to create the appearance of lack of funds in the auditor's department."

5 New Candidates

Take Nomination Papers

Five new names have been added to the list of those who have taken out nomination papers to run for city offices in the fall election.

One of them, John Timothy Isbister, 43, of 77 Cleverly Court, who identifies himself as a general contractor, took out papers for mayor.

John J. Tompkins, 41, of 19

Holmes St., received papers to run for the School Committee.

Two incumbents signified by their papers that they are running for re-election — John J. Sullivan for School Committee and Joanne Condon for City Council in Ward 6.

Patricia Toland, currently a member of the School Committee, took out papers to run for the City Council at large.

Comfort Man To Make Appearances In Court, Texas

HAND OVER HAND, Comfort Man starts his climb of the front. Fifteen minutes later, after a change in rope and with a helping hand from spectators, he made it.

By TOM HENSHAW
Comfort Man is taking his show on the road.

In real life, before he steps into the comfort station to change into leotards and cape, the flamboyant Comfort Man is Sandy Rounseville, mild-mannered proprietor of Beacon Fabrics.

For the past couple of months, Rounseville has gained national attention by leading a one-man protest against parking tickets and, more recently, the lack of comfort stations in downtown Quincy.

Last week, the city, citing the health code, confiscated the two comfort stations that Rounseville had installed in the doorway of his store at 1568 Hancock St.

He was due in court yesterday (Wednesday) at 10 a.m. to answer to an alleged violation of the code that says public toilet facilities can be offered only with permission of the health department.

And all the publicity has earned for Rounseville an invitation to display his pictures and news clippings at the national convention of Comfort Castles of Newton, manufacturers of comfort stations, in San Antonio, Texas, in November.

But not even the loss of his comfort stations could faze Rounseville.

In his alter ego role of Comfort Man, dressed in red trunks, blue leotards and red cape with a half moon on the back, Rounseville last Thursday climbed the outside of COMFORT MAN, armed with his trusty toilet brush, sits astride his moped, ready to defend his comfort stations, which have already been confiscated by the city as a violation of the health code.

It took more than a single bound.

Shortly after noon, while some 150 people gathered to gape and to cheer, Comfort Man arrived at his store on a moped, suction cups on feet and wrists, wearing a white helmet emblazoned with the words, "Together We Sit."

"What's happening?" asked a woman passerby.

"A man is going to climb the building," said another.

"I mean seriously," said the first, eyeing the one-story facade.

Comfort Man whistled. A knotted rope came down from the roof of the building. Hand over hand, with the generous assistance of some spectators, he began the ascent. He got about six feet off the ground.

"The knots have to be closer together," advised Bob Colman of Colman's Sporting Goods, who knows about such things.

While the rope was being readjusted, Comfort Man autographed pictures of himself as Paul Revere for the assembled youngsters, who had never seen anything like it outside of Action Comics.

Finally, after much heaving, straining and struggling, and not a little danger to the pizza parlor sign next door, Comfort Man made it and stood waving a toilet brush on the roof of his store to the cheers of the multitude.

His next appearance, presumably in the role of Sandy Rounseville, mild-mannered storekeeper, was to be in Quincy District Court.

Courthouse Takeover Would Cost Taxpayers $951,000

By FRANK MORTIMER

A proposed state takeover of six county courthouses will cost Norfolk county taxpayers $951,000 per year and give no benefits in return, according to a report released Tuesday by James J. Collins, chairman of Norfolk County commissioners.

Quincy's share of the cost will be over $140,000, to be paid through state income tax and sales tax.

"Home rule has never been more at stake than it is with this dictatorial state attempt to steal county property," the report says.

The report is being sent to all nine state senators representing Norfolk County, urging them to oppose passage of a budget bill calling for "state takeover and pickup by the Commonwealth of the statewide bonded indebtedness of court buildings which amounts to $9.9 million per year."

The proposal also calls for an end to state payment to the counties for space rented in the buildings.

Presently Norfolk County receives $231,000 annually in rental fees from the state, the report says.

The proposal to hand over courthouse ownership to the state is sponsored by Rep. Charles Flaherty of Cambridge, and is part of a budget bill already approved by the House.

Senate action on the proposal may come as early as next week, according to John C. Nourse, Norfolk County Planning Director.

Sen. Paul Harold of Quincy said Tuesday he had not received a copy of the report, but said he would be reluctant to endorse it without first hearing from the Committee On Counties.

Flaherty is Chairman of the Committee on Counties.

Harold suggested that the County Commissioners have a vested interest in retaining county ownership of the courthouses.

"The county commissioners are afraid this is the beginning of the end of county government — which isn't a bad thing in itself," Harold said Tuesday.

Harold noted that several hundred county controlled jobs were lost when the state took over administration of the district courts several years ago.

In defense of the county commissioners, Harold said Norfolk County "is run better than most counties in the state."

Calling Middlesex County "the worst run county in the world," Harold agreed with the reports assertion that the courthouse takeover proposal may be designed to bail Middlesex out of its fiscal woes.

The report states that Middlesex, which has a 22-story courthouse, is responsible for more than half of the $9.9 million statewide bonded indebtedness on courthouse buildings.

Under the takeover plan, counties would share state court maintenance and bonded indebtedness costs based on population.

"Norfolk County's bonded court debt is only $270,000 per year but because we are 10 per cent of the Commonwealth's population we will be paying $990,000 per year of the statewide court debt," Collins' report states. "This is $720,000 per year more than our actual court debt. Add to this the elimination of the annual rental fees at $231,000 and the cost increase county-wide to the Norfolk taxpayer is almost $1 million."

The report charges that the state is trying to "arbitrarily confiscate $20 million worth of county property that has been paid for entirely by the taxpayers of Norfolk County. Not one cent of compensation will be returned to the people of Norfolk County."

MARY GILL of Avon holds daughter, Victoria, who was born at Quincy City Hospital on May 26 at 7:04 a.m., the exact date and time as her mother, only 29 years later.

George Dalton: A Good Friend

George D. Dalton was the kind of man you'd trust your life's savings with. Anytime.

And, the kind of doctor you'd trust your life with. Anytime.

His death a few days ago came as no great shock to his many friends. He had been ill for sometime. He was 83 and he lived a full and good life.

But his death saddened all of us who knew him. Not just because a good and kind friend has passed on. But also because you realize there are fewer and fewer George Daltons coming into your life.

I first met him in the mid 1940's when I was a young reporter covering crime stories and he was Norfolk County medical examiner.

Later he became our family physician and delivered three of our children.

He always reminded me of Jean Hersholt as Dr. Christian in the movies back in the days when you could sit in a theater with your wife and kids and not have to worry about what you might see up there on the screen.

Like the fictitious Dr. Christian, the real Dr. Dalton was kind, wise, always available and professionally honest and astute.

Dr. Dalton did his thing quietly and without fanfare. But there were witnesses — thousands of them: his patients who came to admire him as both a doctor and friend.

He always shunned the limelight even though as medical examiner for 28 years, headlined murder cases often thrust him to center stage.

His medical career spanned 48 years — a near half-century of dedication. In fact, the "D" in his middle name might very well stand for "Dedication." But it actually is for Dewey.

He was born in Braintree in May, 1898 during the Spanish-American War. He was named after Commodore George Dewey, Naval hero of that war.

Like his good friend, Dr. Alfred Mahoney, who died a few weeks before him, he climbed out of bed many a night to go to someone in need. And, like Dr. Mahoney, he used to "forget" to send bills to a lot of people who couldn't afford a doctor when they needed one. They were of a vanishing breed.

"He took everything seriously," a friend once said, "and gave every case his all — even if it were only a cut finger."

"Money never interested him. He didn't become a doctor to make money. He became a doctor to serve his fellow human being."

DALTON

In these days of cynics when the motto of so many is "do it unto others before they do it unto you", it is too bad there aren't a few more George Daltons.

We sure need them.

WE COULD ALSO use a few more Denny Ryans. Denny who retired May 13 as clerk-magistrate at Quincy District Court for 30 years, was honored by some 800 friends at the Lantana in Randolph the other night.

Among those paying tribute were Sen. Edward Kennedy, Lt. Gov. Thomas O'Neill, Atty. Gen. Francis Bellotti and Norfolk County Sheriff Clifford Marshall who made him an honorary deputy sheriff and presented him with a gold badge.

City Council President Leo Kelly presented him with a special council resolve commending him for his long, dedicated service to Quincy as a member of the School Committee, Quincy Hospital Board of Managers and clerk-magistrate at Quincy District Court.

Kelly added an Irish touch: the commendation was in a green frame on a white and orange mat — colors of the flag of Ireland.

BARBARA RIGHINI, member of the Quincy Park-Recreation Board, still can't believe it. First, her boss at the Neponset Valley Dodge, gave her two tickets to the Frank Sinatra benefit concert for the Jimmy Fund at the Metropolitan Center sponsored by Chrysler Plymouth which was a treat in itself for her and her husband, Paul. During the concert two cars were raffled off. The first one was a $10,000 Plymouth wagon. Barbara was daydreaming when Paul nudged her and said, "You've got the winning ticket." And she did. Up until then, the only thing she had ever won was a casserole dish.

COUNCILLOR Francis McCauley opens his mayoral campaign headquarters tonight (Thursday) at 7 p.m. at 1661 Hancock St., Quincy Center. That's at the corner of School St. There'll be entertainment and refreshments. He invites you all to drop by.

YEP, that was WJDA's Herb Fontaine on the Ch. 2 auction last Friday. He followed Ch. 4's Bob Label and WEEI's Upton Bell. This was Herb's third annual appearance for this worthy cause.

Water, Sewer Budgets Reach Finance Committee

The City Council's Finance Committee was scheduled to take up the Water and Sewer Department budgets last night (Wednesday) at 5:30 p.m., five days before their official submission.

Mayor Arthur H. Tobin left those departments out of his original budget submission in February in anticipation that they would be self-supporting under his proposed Water and Sewer Commission.

The Council, however, refused to approve the commission concept, so the departments had to be reinserted into the budget.

Tobin said two other departments that are awaiting legislative approval as revolving accounts probably will be before the Council before long for funds to meet July payrolls.

Supt. Dr. Lawrence P. Creedon was scheduled to ask the School Committee last night for a $100,000 appropriation to keep the Quincy Junior College going.

Tobin said it would be plainly stated in the appropriation order that the sum is "subject to deduction from the Junior College budget when the revolving account is enacted by the Legislature."

He said a similar appropriation may have to be made for City Hospital, which is also awaiting approval of a revolving account.

The mayor said he has arranged with the Legislature to have emergency preambles attached to both bills so that they would become effective immediately, instead of waiting the usual 90 days.

'Slight' Change In Buses

"We learned a lot from Boston in the past six months," said City Councillor James A. Sheets. "If you attempt to open the South Quincy station you will get more than just passive resistance."

"The only way we can stop this is to do what the people in East Boston did," said Mary G. Murphy of Squantum. "You are shoving this down our throats."

"If we had confidence in the operation of the MBTA we might be able to accept some of the proposals," said Harold. "But we don't."

"We have no confidence in the MBTA to begin with," echoed Rep. Michael W. Morrissey.

Burgin Elected, Pledges 'New Deal' In City Politics

Thomas S. Burgin, pledging a "new deal" in city politics, soundly defeated acting Mayor Leo E. Mullin in a special election, winning 20 of the 24 voting precincts.

His margin was 15,056 to 10,192, the largest majority ever given a Quincy mayor.

The Burgin celebration in Quincy Square, which was compared to that which followed Quincy High School's 3-0 football win over Brockton in 1925, featured brooms waving from office windows.

The Burgin sweep started immediately with the resignation of City Solicitor Charles R. Young and the firing of Public Works Commissioner Angelo Bizzozero, who was replaced by Ezekiel Sargent.

In one of his last acts in office, Mullin awarded a $288,000 contract for construction of a new wing on North Quincy High School to the A. Piotti Co. of Dorchester.

FORE RIVER WINS

Orrie Corella singled home Art Duffy with the winning run in the eighth inning as Fore River defeated the Civics, 4-3, to extend its lead in the Quincy City League.

TEACHERS OATH PROPOSED

Rep. Charles W. Hedges (R-Quincy) took the floor of the State House of Representatives to make a fiery speech in opposition to the proposed teachers oath law.

"This measure is merely an opening wedge to secure the surrender of the rights of citizens," he said. "Next year a bill probably will be introduced to have truck drivers take the oath."

STRIKE VOTE POSTPONED

Members of Local 5 of the Shipbuilding Workers Union voted to pass up a strike deadline and asked negotiators to continue their talks with the Bethlehem Steel Co. about a contract.

Workers were seeking a 15 percent general pay hike, 10 percent more for night work, union recognition, seniority rights and a week's pay or a week's notice on dismissal of employees.

Management "declined to sign any written agreement."

SAUNDERS SUSPENDED

Jeppy Saunders, manager of the Fore River baseball team, was suspended for refusing to replay the ninth inning of a controversial game with the Civics.

City League President John McCue said he was suspended "for committing the greatest offense in baseball law, refusing to field a ball team on orders to do so by the league."

Progress and Growth

Annual Report to Shareholders of The Quincy Co-operative Bank

By President John R. Herbert

Our Shareholders undoubtedly have been following carefully the news stories of the plight of thrift banking in the United States for the past year. Thus, a doom and gloom annual report by your President might not be unexpected.

It gives me great satisfaction therefore to report that your Bank is in excellent condition.

We had a year of steady growth and what I have to say here reflects the effect of good management policies brought about by the close partnership of our Board of Directors and our Officers and employees.

However, the successful results of the year were not easy to achieve. We are living from day to day with ever changing interest rates and the problems created by a lack of stability in the money market.

In the case of The Quincy Co-operative Bank we feel the operating figures for the past year speak for themselves:

1. While many banks are reporting a decrease in assets, we are happy to report that our assets are now $137,070,000 which is up $8,570,000 from the preceding year, or a growth of 6.67%. This is good solid growth and it was not achieved by the merger process.
2. When I speak about growth, one of the measuring devices to gauge banking activity is to check the twelve month total of transactions. Last year for the first time our transaction total exceeded a billion dollars. This year our transactions totaled $1,334,000,000, a considerable increase over the preceding year.
3. Your Bank has always maintained a high liquidity ratio. As we pointed out to you last year, the law requires a liquidity ratio of approximately 7% and double that is considered good. Once again we closed our fiscal year with a liquidity ratio of 29.5%.
4. One of the indicators of customer use of our Bank can be seen in a look at the share capital or the money on deposit here. It might be easy to rationalize a possible decrease in share capital with the theory that people are running out of money. With the growth of our number of customers our share capital almost doubled the increase of the preceding year. Our share capital of $120,022,840 is an increase of $8,321,708, up 7.45%.
5. We were overjoyed this year that the interest payments were made to our customers set a new record. The size of the interest payments, of course, reflects the high interest rate we are paying on so many accounts. Total payment for interest was $9,309,110, up $1,737,802 for an increase of 22.9%.
6. Another indicator of growth is in the number of new accounts opened during the year and the figure for this year is 10,454. Within the 10,454 figure is a total of 1,755 new NOW accounts for an increase of 17% over last year. We think our NOW account activity is nothing but amazing. The New England area pioneered NOW accounts several years ago and the concept is now taking hold all across the United States. We looked upon NOW accounts initially as an opportunity for young people to have a checking account at a minimum cost with a minimum balance and this is still what NOW accounts are all about. However, the figures showed that during the past year our NOW accounts represent a very much accepted checking account service. We had, at the close of our fiscal year on April 30, 7,690 NOW accounts and the average balance for the month of

JOHN R. HERBERT

April was $891.01, which represents a record for average NOW account balances in this Bank. Also, it should be pointed out, there is nothing dormant about the activity within that department because the total number of checks processed during the fiscal year amounted to 984,077.

7. When we spoke at the outset of this report about the problems created by a lack of stability in the money market and the constant change in interest rates, it is worth noting during the past year the popular 26-week certificates bounced around from a low interest rate of 7.75% to a high of 15.781% and the 30-month certificates had an interest range from the high of 12% to a low of 9.50%.
8. We feel that the real victims of the bouncing interest rate situation are those folks who want to buy a home. If interest rates continue upward, which is possible, many people will not be able to buy a single family house because the economics of interest costs will drive home buyers out of the market. The period from April 1980 to April 1981 saw some of the most difficult times for lenders and borrowers alike. During this time economic conditions caused interest rates and money market rates to fluctuate very often and with substantial changes in these rates. As a result of this, costs of funds for lenders tended to drive many banks away from traditional lending practices and to the position of having to sell their loans. In the view of some experts, loans that are sold, in some circumstances, have an adverse effect on borrowers. When loans are sold to an investor who is concerned over yield on his investment only, the personal touch and flexibility is removed from the borrower's options of improving his situation at some time in the future. Through good planning in our investment of shareholders' dollars, we have not been in the position of having to sell our mortgage loans. We feel we performed well last year in making mortgage money available. For the past fiscal year, we wrote $14,307,916.66 worth of mortgages. There are two comments that should be made on this figure. The first is that the available interest rate was approximately 2 percentage points over the preceding year; and the second thing is that for a very large part of the year we were offering the lowest interest rate of any bank around. In other words we did our best to make mortgages available.
9. Finally we must thank all of our shareholders for their resounding vote of confidence in this Institution. This is reflected by the fact that over the last six years the assets of this Bank increased $54 million dollars for a growth figure of 65%.

This kind of growth has made it possible for us to continue to provide the kind of service we want to give our customers especially within our downtown office. We hope that by Fall our new headquarters will be opened at 85 Quincy Avenue. With two acres of land and 22,000 feet of banking space, we will be able to offer at 85 Quincy Avenue such services as a triple drive-in facility, safe deposit boxes and unlimited parking. We will maintain our present downtown office for those who may find it more convenient to bank here. A study of our customers shows an increased use of automobiles for shopping and banking activity. We believe that our ultra-modern services at Quincy Avenue will be a great boon not only to the customers but to the Bank itself.

The patriotic event has been sponsored for three decades by the Koch Club. Richard J. Koch, parade coordinator, invites volunteer community and civic associations to join in the endeavor.

Although the event primarily involves youth participants including Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, Camp Fire Girls, Koch Club Boys Baseball and Girls Softball Leagues, St. Ann's Baseball Leagues and the Quincy Track Club, military and veterans units are requested to join in the activity.

The event started in 1952 with 120 Koch Club boys and girls marching from Cavanaugh St. through the streets of North Quincy and back to the stadium for a flag raising ceremony. Expansion of the organization forced the transfer of the program in 1964 to Quincy Center and the flag raising to Veterans Stadium where it has been conducted for the past 17 years.

Each of the boys and girls participating in the parade will be provided with a 12" x 18" United States flag to carry during the march and keep as a memento.

Flags are donated each year by the Quincy Center Business and Professional Association, the Quincy City Club and individuals who contribute toward the purchase of flags. Over 30,000 of the red, white and blue flags have been distributed to the youthful marchers for the past 29 years.

In 1975, General George S. Patton, Jr., son of the famous United States Panzer Division Commander, served as grand marshal of the parade. U.S. Navy Commande Richard A. Stratton, longtime Vietnam prisoner, was honorary marshal in 1976. A number of distinguished dignitaries have reviewed the Flag Day Parade as guests of the Koch Club for the past 25 years.

Feeling Guilty? Many people do. Reasons range from broken homes to unbroken habits. Whatever the cause, it's an ugly feeling. Guilt is both the fact of having done wrong and the feeling of blame for doing it. It's worst when the way you live leaves you empty, frustrated, and filled with regret. But there is a solution. Face the fact and remember God forgives. Then let Him! Before this ad was posted we started praying for you because we care. Give us a chance to share.

DENTAL ESTHETICS

Q: My teeth are crooked and I'd like to have them capped. Someone told me I should have them straightened first. Is that necessary?

A: It depends on how crooked they are. Some teeth can be moved into better alignment before capping them, which may make the finished case more esthetically pleasing. This "minor teeth movement" may only take a few months and won't postpone the capping long. If your teeth are far out of alignment, you may require regular orthodontic treatment in order to straighten them, which could take years. People who cannot wait that long for the esthetic improvements they desire can have the teeth capped as they are, but the result may be compromised.

Suzanne Rich: 'She Could Be Another Picasso'

By NANCY McLAUGHLIN

"She could be another Picasso" said Richard D. Ramsdell, Quincy Public Schools art education coordinator, of Suzanne Rich, 11, whose art work is on display through June 19, in the City Hall Annex.

The exhibit, Suzanne's first, is part of a Showcase Display spotlighting visually talented Quincy Public School students.

Suzanne's work includes oils, pastels, pencil drawings and an African mask made of construction paper.

Ramsdell considers Suzanne's talent "awesome" and he commented on the number of adults who have passed the exhibit in city hall and have been amazed at the artist's young age.

Daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Rich of Stoughton St., Houghs Neck, Suzanne is a fifth grade student in the Elementary Lab Center at the Lincoln Hancock School. Her home school is Atherton Hough.

Her art teachers are Peter Smith, at Lincoln Hancock, and Robert Rowlin, Atherton.

Suzanne has also been taking art classes at Frantic Framers for two years.

"She's been constantly drawing ever since she was little," says Mrs. Rich of her daughter. "She would draw what ever was in front of her. Art comes very easily to her."

She also gets very high marks scholastically, according to her mother, who added that Suzanne is also interested in zoology and astrology.

"I'm very proud of her," said Mrs. Rich. "She's done an excellent job."

'Camperships For Kids' Hopes To Raise $7,500

"Camperships for Kids", a program of the South Shore Mental Health Center, plans to raise $7,500 to send 75 children from Quincy, Milton and Randolph to camp this summer.

Governors Councillor Peter L. Eleey, who serves on the committee, said contributions to the fund are necessary "because of cutbacks in other funding."

"In other years many of the youngsters were helped with scholarships from public agencies," he said. "But because of Proposition 2½ and federal cutbacks, these monies are no longer available."

Throughout the year, the staff of the Center at 77 Parkway, identify children in their programs who can benefit from a camp experience.

"Some need specialized help because of problems at home or at school," Eleey said.

In many cases parents are unable to pay the total camp fee and the "Camperships for Kids" fund is used for scholarship aid.

A total of $4,700 was raised last year to enable some 41 children to attend day and overnight camps.

"The mental health center staff works closely with the schools and local public and private agencies in selecting the children," said Eleey.

Contributions to the campership fund can be sent to South

Shore Mental Health Center, 77 Parkway, Quincy 02169.

Gail Stack, NQHS:

Life Like Symphony, 'Give It All We've Got'

Life, said Gail Stack, is like a symphony.

"If we have an idea, if we have an arrangement in mind," she said, "we, like the great composers, should let go and . . . give it all we've got."

"As we progress through life let us all try to be more aware of those instruments around us which, when arranged correctly, will help us to make a happier and more rewarding existence for ourselves and for others."

Miss Stack was one of two North Quincy seniors speaking on behalf of the Class of 1981 at commencement exercises Monday evening at Veterans Memorial Stadium.

The text of her talk follows:

As a composer writes a symphony, he pours into it those parts of himself that he feels will best blend together to produce an appealing composition. The composer learns from experience, what will sound good, and he often makes mistakes that will inevitably assist him in improving his next verse.

As we gather here this evening, we, the graduates of 1981, are in the prelude of our own individual symphonies. How we choose to live our lives is just that - our choice; but, as with the composer's choice of style, there are and will be many things that influence our choice of lifestyle. With the conclusion of tonight's celebration we also conclude one phase of our existence that will definitely influence the rest of our lives.

These past four years have supplied us with what we need to begin composing the years ahead. We can now face the future with knowledge and with a degree of logic.

Thomas Alva Edison once said, "We know not one millionth of one percent about anything". Perhaps Mr. Edison was correct, but isn't it far better to know that you can always improve yourself rather than to attain your hopes or dreams and then have nothing left for which to reach?

And what are some of the influences which we have experienced during these years? The classes we've taken, the teachers we've known, the friendships we've developed, the good times and the not so good times all are instruments that will help shape our futures.

Whether a graduate chooses to enter the working world immediately or to further his or her academic career, he or she is in one way or another, a better person for having spent these past four years at North.

Some of you might ask: "How can four years of cruel and difficult labor, not to mention the hours spent in the detention room, possibly make me a better person?"

Well, we may not realize it now, but in a few years we will actually appreciate the fact that we learned our lessons early in life so that we will not make the same mistakes later. Even if the only lesson we learned was not to pitch food into a wastebasket from further away than five feet while the Dean was watching, it was still a lesson learned.

Tonight concludes the prelude and immediately begins the first movement of our symphonies.

GAIL STACK
NQHS Speaker

How will we arrange the next few years? On what aspects of life will we place our accents?

The world is filled with instruments that make up our life's symphony. Our parents are probably the most influential instruments that will determine the style of our futures. We are grateful to them for helping us to shape our futures, but more importantly we are grateful for the love and comfort that they have shown us through years filled with both happiness and sorrow. As the composers of our futures, we will forever try to incorporate that love into our daily lives.

Every musical piece has its climaxes and diminuendos. So too does life have its share of high and low points. The instrument of education, however, has, and will continue to prepare us to cope with the world around us.

The education afforded us here at North has allowed many of us to realize our potentials and has thus endowed us with the inspiration to attain that which provides for a harmonious existence.

Every great composer has one thing in common with his fellow composers; he begins with an idea. He may or may not achieve exactly that which he set out to do, but like us, the graduates of 1981 and the adults of tomorrow, he begins with a set of choices and influences. Perhaps he will choose to write a slow, mellow, evenly-balanced tune, or maybe he will opt for an exciting, emotional and striking composition.

In this same way, according to our influences and choices, we develop a style for the future. And whether or not the composer succeeds at what he or she originally set out to do, the important point to remember is that he or she tried.

As we enter into the next movement of our lives, parents and graduates alike are filled with ideals and apprehensions, but I feel that if we have an idea, if we have an arrangement in mind, we, like the great composers, should let go and, to quote the contemporary composer Chuck Mangione, Give it all we've got.

As we progress through life let us all try to be more aware of those instruments around us which, when arranged correctly, will help us to make a happier and more rewarding existence for ourselves and for others.

The symphony of our lives is just beginning. Let's hope that we will be able to compose our futures in the most harmonious way possible. For then, and only then, can we term ourselves Successful.

Joanne Medicke, QHS: Educated People Can Preserve Or Destroy

Some people use education to preserve lives, Joanne Medicke told her fellow graduates, while others use education to destroy lives.

"It is our choice and for all of our sakes I hope we make the right one," she said.

Miss Medicke, a Quincy High School senior, spoke on behalf of the Class of 1981 at commencement exercises Tuesday evening at Veterans Memorial Stadium.

The text of her talk follows:

The future leaders of America are graduating today. Armed with the knowledge we have acquired throughout our 12 years in school we could very possibly be the class that solves many of the problems the world is confronted with today.

One does not have to look very far to see the problems that the world is facing today.

Millions of people starve to death each day and just as many are killed by acts of violence. Our natural resources are running dry and inflation is continuously climbing. The possible threat of war is always present.

All of these problems could be solved by members of our class and other classes like ours, if we wisely use the knowledge given us.

In past years education has often been used to destroy life rather than to save lives.

It was an educated man that was responsible for the invention of the torture chambers that killed millions of Jews during World War II. It was educated doctors that experimented on and murdered this same race of people. Again it was educated men and women who invented and built the atomic bomb which was responsible for the deaths of thousands of Japanese people when it was dropped in the name of peace at Hiroshima.

The past is also a testimony to the fact that education can be used to protect and save lives rather than destroy them.

It was educated men and women who discovered vaccines for polio, measles and other serious and crippling diseases which have afflicted man throughout time. It was educated men and women who took primitive medical practices and improved upon them. Again it was educated men and women who invented various anti-pollution devices which are now used to protect our environment.

As students enrolled in high school we have not really had an opportunity to play a significant part in our planet's history. But all the same many of us are still guilty of misusing our intelligence and educations.

JOANNE MEDICKE

We have all been educated as to the dangers of drinking and driving yet we continue to mix the two, disregarding the dangers we are to ourselves and other people.

Most of us at one time or another have used our imaginations and intelligence to fabricate excuses as to why we have done what we shouldn't have been doing in the first place.

As we grow older will we continue along this path? Not caring about whose lives we endanger by our callousness? Will we continue excusing ourselves from taking any blame for the consequences of our actions? Many of the Hitlers of the world probably started out this very same way.

The existence of a suspension room lends support to the fact that we have often times misused our educations. But the existence of an Awards Day lends support to the fact that we have also used our educations to help our neighbors.

Many students have volunteered some of their free time to tutor other students who were in need of extra help in order to pass their classes. Several high school students have volunteered their periods to help out at the Cerebral Palsy Clinic here in Quincy. A lot of our clubs have used their talents to entertain patients at nursing homes and at Quincy City Hospital. A large percent of the student body participated in the Red Cross Blood Drives. The blood these students gave will be used to save a life, possibly even their own.

As individuals we can either continue to follow in the footsteps of the men and women who have used education to preserve lives or we can choose to follow in the footsteps of the men and women who used education to destroy lives.

It is our choice and for all of our sakes I hope we make the right one.

Goodnight and God bless all of you.

Joseph Phelan, NQHS

Everyday 'Miracles' Can Change World

JOSEPH PHELAN
NQHS Speaker

The world can be changed, said Joseph E. Phelan, not by miracles or by the words of world leaders, but by "the everyday words and actions of each and every one of us."

Phelan was one of two North Quincy seniors speaking on behalf of the Class of 1981 at commencement exercises Monday evening at Veterans Memorial Stadium.

"Words such as 'thank you' to someone who has done us a service," he said, "or 'hello' to someone we really do not know too well, or 'welcome' to someone who is new."

"Actions such as being patient with someone who is trying, talking with someone who is lonely, listening to someone who is troubled, sharing with someone who is needy, or simply smiling for someone who is blue."

"These are the 'miracles' we must perform."

The text of his talk follows:

We are here today united by the common experience of achievement and understanding; an understanding that was not always present.

We first came to North as freshmen and sophomores, we were all separated into little groups, each one shying away from the others. This resulted in ill feelings and open hostilities among these groups.

As the years progressed, however, we learned to think of each other, not as members of isolated groups, not as jocks, or punks, or brains, or people from the Mount, Montclair, or Squantum, but just people; North Quincy High students. This resulted in new friendships and a more varied and harmonious social life.

As we graduate into the "real" world, we must try to maintain this humanistic approach toward life.

In this past political year we have seen our educators reduced to chunks of a budget and numbers on a seniority list. In this past year of economic chaos we have seen the elderly and the poor reduced to dollars and cents. In this past year of violence we have seen victims reduced to crime statistics.

We must not let ourselves be assimilated into this computerized society. We must remember that people are not just facts and figures, but human beings who work, love, laugh, play, and learn. In this age, when man has the capability to destroy the earth many times over, we must remember that we, all of us, have the power to change our world for the better.

Just as the class of '81 changed our environment at North by minimizing our differences, we can contribute to the changing of the cold and all too often hostile climate that exists in the world today.

When we consider those who have attempted this, names such as Robert Kennedy, Sister Mary Teresa and Martin Luther King Jr. come to mind. But as J.F.K. once said, "the world's problems were man made and thus men can solve them". And I believe we can.

Yet these changes will not come by way of one earth shattering miracle, nor will they come from the words of some world leader. These changes must, however, come from the everyday words and actions of each and every one of us.

Words such as "thank you" to someone who has done us a service, or "hello" to someone we really do not know too well, or "welcome" to someone who is new. Actions such as being patient with someone who is trying, talking with someone who is lonely, listening to someone who is troubled, sharing with someone who is needy, or simply smiling for someone who is blue. These are the "miracles" we must perform.

If we deny this humanity, then we are denying ourselves. Martin Luther King once said, "we must learn to live together as brothers, or die together as fools."

Here today, as we set out to conquer our chosen world, we must realize; that no matter how successful we become as doctors, nurses, lawyers, technicians, carpenters, educators, salespersons, repair persons, or accountants, the success will be meaningless unless we first learn to succeed together as human beings.

The world cannot be free of fear and violence until our neighborhoods are. Nations cannot co-exist in harmony until individuals do.

JoEllen Straughn, Vo-Tech:

Lone Girl Thrives In Shop Class Of Boys

24 Vo-Tech Seniors Receive Scholarships, Awards

Friends and family were aghast when JoEllen Straught told them she was going to study metals and machines at the Vocational Technical School, eventually the only girl in a class of boys.

"I felt I would have to work much harder than any other student," she said. "I proved myself wrong. The boys were great and I no longer felt the need to show off to get attention."

Miss Straughn told of her experiences as she spoke on behalf of the Class of 1981 at commencement exercises Tuesday evening at Veterans Memorial Stadium.

The text of her talk follows:

My decision to attend Quincy Vocational Technical came when I attended St. Joseph's School in Quincy. I was 13 at the time. The Guidance Department came to St. Joseph's to inform the students who were interested in Quincy Vo-Tech what it had to offer; its advantages and disadvantages, and also the many types of future career opportunities students could get from attending Vo-Tech.

After viewing a slide presentation of the numerous departments at Vo-Tech, I became interested in metals and machines. The department was exciting and challenging which increased my curiosity.

A few weeks later I sent my application to Quincy's admittance office. I awaited restlessly for a reply stating I had been accepted. It arrived shortly after. I was more than excited and told my friends and family of the good news.

Their reactions were more of a, "You've got to be joking," reaction, while trying to understand their reasons, it only depressed me more. Despite their attitudes, I decided to stick with my plans.

Now, here I am, a senior graduating from Machine Shop of the Metals and Machines Division. As I look back, I have no doubts that I made the correct choice. It wasn't easy being one of the four girls in a shop of 83 boys, but I made it through.

The attitudes of my friends and family have changed greatly over the last four years. They support my interests in machines and want me to continue with my plans for furthering my knowledge in machines.

JOEELLEN STRAUGHN
Quincy Vo-Tech Speaker

What I have learned is that a female can pursue a career in a "non-traditional" field. I enjoy the shop (in which) I work; there are many new and exciting opportunities that have been opened to me.

Being the only girl in my shop after ninth grade, I felt I would have to work much harder than any other students. I proved myself wrong. The boys were great, and I no longer felt the need to show off to get attention.

In my junior year, I was asked by the division coordinator of metal and machines to participate in the co-operative work program. I was the first girl out on co-op from my shop.

I really believe in vocational training; it is one of the best programs the city has to offer. While working on co-op, I received training in machines, production, assembly and other areas involving my vocation.

I have been happy with my four years here at Quincy Vo-Tech and will be sorry to see them end. I have a better outlook on school, vocational training, and some view on life after high school.

To this I owe Quincy Vocational Technical School so much. Thank you QVTS for an inspiring four years.

Twenty-four Quincy Vocational Technical School students have received 38 local scholarships totalling an estimated $8,605.

In addition, 27 achievement and service awards have been awarded to 16 students. (Scholarship totals from colleges are not available and are not included in these figures.)

367 Receive Degrees At QJC

Three hundred and 67 students received their associate degree at the Quincy Junior College commencement exercises Sunday at Veterans Memorial Stadium.

Paul Dunphy, a full-time day student who achieved perfect grades while working full-time evenings as a supervisor for the New England Telephone Company, gave the student address.

Dunphy also received the Quincy Cooperative Bank $1,500 Scholarship for outstanding academic achievement and community school activities.

Frank Mitchell, bank vice-president, presented the scholarship. Dunphy will attend the University of Massachusetts full-time in the fall to study ancient history and the classics.

Quincy Junior College English instructor Arthur Keough of Scituate awarded the Associate in Arts Degree to his father, Andrew Keough, of Quincy.

Edward Hannon, of Quincy, Director of Career Education, awarded the Certificate Degree to his daughter, Theresa.

School Supt. Lawrence P. Creedon, awarded Associate Degrees to his secretaries, Betty Houston of Quincy, and Jeanne Greene of Marshfield.

Six Honorary Degrees were awarded to the founders of Quincy Junior College who have served higher education and their community: William Brooks of Braintree, Charles Sweeney of Quincy, Cyril McCarthy of Quincy, Robert Krovitz of Quincy, Frank Jones of Quincy, and former School Supt. Paul Gossard, accepted by his wife.

Dr. Joseph Fordyce of Nova University, Florida, delivered the Commencement Address. John McDonald, Student Government President, gave the introduction.

QJC President Dr. Edward Pierce, who conferred the degrees, noted that "the objective of an education is to impart those values intrinsic to appreciations, and to develop that sense of wisdom by which we can make valued and objective judgments and that the graduates have learned these skills." Dr. Pierce also quoted John Morley, "The great business of life is to be, to do, and depart" and continued by saying "We who remain to continue the endless task are proud that you have shared a small portion of your lives with us."

Mayor Arthur H. Tobin extended the greetings of the city to the graduates; Quincy School Committee Vice-Chairman Christopher Kennedy brought the greetings of the School Committee, and Dr. Creedon presented the class of 1981.

Among the guests were State Sen. Paul Harold, Rep. Robert Cerasoli, Rep. Michael Morrissey and Rep. Thomas Brownell, members of the Community College Association, members of the Quincy School Committee, and members of the Quincy Junior College faculty.

ST. MARY'S pastor, Fr. John McMahon (center) poses with the runners who finished second through seventh in St. Mary's annual road race. Left to right, George Kilgallen, John Furey, George Hitt, James Capp, Fr. McMahon; Bob Levenson, Earl McGilvery and Tom Cash.

St. Mary's Road Race Winner, New Dad A Double Celebration For Mahoney

Dick Mahoney of Weymouth had two reasons to celebrate over last weekend.

First, he finally won the St. Mary's 10-mile road race last Saturday, running the race for the fourth time, and Monday his wife, Maureen, gave birth to a son at St. Margaret's Hospital.

"It seems I've been trying to win this race for 15 years," Mahoney said after topping a field of 115 runners in 53:50, 30 seconds ahead of Milton's George Hitt. "It's probably one of the hardest courses in New England."

Mahoney led throughout and was 25:55 at the halfway point, leading Quincy's Jim Capezuto, who finished third.

"I would like to have run faster, but with the high humidity and high temperatures (in the 80s), I knew I couldn't go for time, so I just had to run for pace," Mahoney said. The weather took its toll and several runners had to drop out after the halfway mark.

The course's hills ran a close second to the weather conditions as the runners' enemy.

The race began at St. Mary's Church on Crescent Street, winding up the Quarry St. and Hospital hills, looping back to St.

Sports

Mary's. The runners ran the five-mile loop twice.

"The second time around the hills were really tough," Mahoney said. "I was trying to hang on to the lead."

The former Boston College miler managed to do that, finishing about 80 yards ahead of Hitt.

"Mahoney ran an excellent race," Hitt said. "I think I ran well and I waited until the second loop before I started to turn it on and I started to gain on him a little at around the seven-mile mark. Dick is a great runner and it felt good just to be up in the top of the pack with him. He's a very strong runner, you can call him a world-class runner and he's definitely a world-class guy."

Quincy's Bob Thorne finished fourth and Lynn's Earl McGilvery was fifth.

Mary Hynes of Quincy won the women's division in 68:38.

Phil Pittowski of Medway won the Masters Division (over 40) and Charlie Ratti of Weymouth won in the Senior Division (over 50).

Central Girls Win Softball Title

Led by a strong outfield made up of seventh and eighth graders, the Central Junior High girls' softball team won its second straight city championship with a 7-1 record. Atlantic-North finished second at 6-2.

The outfield of Ann Duggan (.760 batting average, four putouts and one assist), Marlo Levangie (.666 average, 11 putouts and four assists), Terry McLoughlin (.535 average, eight putouts) and Sandy Dunn (.600 average, two putouts), continually denied the opposition the long ball with some tremendous catches and they threw out five base runners. Levangie, a seventh grader, threw out two runners at the plate from center field.

Coaches Ray Whitehouse and Steve Corey agree she is going to be one of the best athletes in the city. "She is ahead of most ninth graders now with an extremely strong arm and tremendous range," Whitehouse said. "The best part is her attitude. Like all our players, she is a real team player."

The infield was anchored by second year starter Colleen Dunn, an eighth grader. One of the finest fielders in the league, she had 27 putouts, 13 assists and only three errors in eight games and she also batted .647 as leadoff hitter. She was the defensive most valuable player.

Other infielders were Stephanie Levangie (.461 and 33 putouts) at first base, Liz Toland (.677, 11 RBI's) at third base and Laura Miceli at shortstop.

The catching was done by ninth grader Karen Koski and seventh grader Carolyn Keddy, who would have been a starter with some of the other teams.

The pitching staff was led by Alison Smith (16 strikeouts in 23 innings), Carolyn Leonard (10 strikeouts in 24 innings) and Kerry Gannon (six strikeouts). Seven grader Janice Ruane rounded out the staff.

Central swept two games from Point, Broad Meadows and Atlantic while splitting with Sterling, losing the final game of the season when Central's pitcher walked in the winning run.

"The team's excellent attitude was exemplified in the loss," Whitehouse said. "The players unanimously voted to start the younger players who didn't play much during the season and let them play instead of going all-out for an undefeated season. The subs did well, with the regulars playing the last three innings."

Central's defense carried it, but the team did manage to score runs thanks to the offensive MVPs, Duggan and Marlo Levangie. Duggan drove in eight runs and Levangie had 19 RBI's with 18 hits. Sandy Dunn, the designated hitter (nine RBI's) and Mary Beth Masters also helped.

Track Club Opens Season

The Quincy Track Club opened its outdoor season on a bright note last Saturday at the State Police Junior Olympic Trials at Braintree High.

The QTC gathered 37 medals and 18 members will represent the club at the June 21 finals at Boston College.

The showing is all the more remarkable as only members of the "B" team were allowed in the meet. "We wanted a meet that the "B" team kids could run in outside of their weekly stadium meets and this filled the bill nicely," said Coach Jeff Hennessy. "In fact, some of the performances were shocking."

The "A" team will compete in a meet at Taunton on June 21.

Outstanding performances were turned in by Bob McDonald, Laurie Ciulla and Colleen Needle at Braintree.

McDonald, only 10, threw the softball 165 feet to win. Ciulla ran 28.5 for second in the 220 and Needle, 10, threw the softball 112 feet for a win.

Kristen McDonald won the softball throw and long jump. Marta Martinez was second in the 100 and 220. Liz Renda was second in long jump and Crissy Kelley third in the 100 in girls 8-9.

In 10-11 girls Colleen Needle won the softball throw and Tracy Cullen was third in the 100 and 220.

In 10-11 boys Bob McDonald won the softball throw. Steve Shoap took second in the 50 and third in the 100. Mike Bartkus took third in the 50 and Brendan Farrell was second in the 220.

In 12-13 girls Laurie Ciulla took seconds in the long jump and 220. Tracy Wilson won the 440 and took second in the 50. Meghan O'Brien and Marie Pion placed 2-3 in the softball throw. Dotty Loisel took third in the 100 and Danielle Morris and Julie Coste took 2-3 in the 440.

In 12-13 boys Pat Nee was third in the softball throw.

In 14-15 girls Sheila Collagan won the long jump and took second in the 50. Karyn Reilly was third in the softball throw. Seth Tracy won the 400 and Beth Regan won the mile with Kathy Toomey third.

In 14-15 boys John Steen took third in the 100.

Stay Alive!

By John Valante

LADDERS CAN BE FATAL

Each year in this country from 300 to 400 people are killed and about 30,000 to 40,000 suffer disabling injuries in falls from ladders. Most of these accidents are caused by improper use rather than product defects. Here are some tips that might help.

Never paint a wooden ladder. Not only will it make it slippery but may mask a crack or serious split. Always face the ladder when going up or down and hold the side rails. If you place the ladder in front of a door, be sure the door is locked. Don't erect a ladder in a heavy wind - wait for a calmer time. Never go away and leave a ladder against a building. A child might climb it and fall off. Resist the temptation to overreach. A good rule to keep your belt buckle between the rails. Finally, never use a stepladder as a straight ladder by leaning it folded against a wall.

North Finishes Strong, Quincy Loses Final 2

The North Quincy baseball team, which had a woe-filled first half of the season (1-8), came along strong over the second half of the schedule and won five of its last six games and six of the last eight to finish with a 7-10 record.

The Raiders wound up with a 2-1 victory over Milton in a non-league game when Steve Belcastro scored on the front end of a double steal with the winning run.

Jamie Walsh got the win, his second, giving up one run in 4-1 3 innings, and Bob Bolster pitched the last 2-2 3 to earn his second save.

Belcastro, who scored the Raiders' first run on Mark Millane's infield hit, led off the fifth with a walk. He was bunted to second, took third on a passed ball and, following a walk, stole home with the winning run.

John Sweet and Millane came up with some outstanding defensive plays and Bolster killed Milton's last inning threat by striking out the final batter with men on second and third.

North lost its previous game to Cambridge Rindge and Latin, 6-3, but in the game before that it topped Newton North, 7-6, for its fourth win in a row.

Walsh got the win with 3-1 3 innings of relief and also drove in the winning run in the top of the seventh.

Millane and Ken Mann had home runs as North, leading, 5-2, after three innings, fell behind, 6-5, then scored runs in the sixth and seventh to win it.

"The boys did a great job over the second half of the season," Coach Charlie Bunker said. "In fact, they didn't play all that bad over the first half, despite our record. We lost five games by one run, leading in most of them going into the last inning. We were a better team than our record indicates."

Quincy wasn't as fortunate as it ended with a 3-15 record. The Presidents lost their last two games, 5-1 to Brookline and 2-1 to Waltham.

As a result, Coach Bud Mosher failed to get his 100th victory. He needed only five wins this spring to make 100.

Quincy, despite its poor record, had some good games and gave the Suburban League's top teams trouble. Gary DiNardo had a fine season, pitching the first two victories and also having a good year at the bat. Jim Bandera pitched the Presidents' only other win.

Cullen Homer Powers Broad Meadows

The Broad Meadows Junior High baseball team is off to a fast start with a 3-0 record.

Joe Cullen's three-run homer with two outs in the final inning gave BM a come-from-behind 7-6 victory over Sterling. Bill Cuneen, pitching in relief, got out of a bases loaded, no outs situation in the second inning and pitched five innings of one-hit ball to get the win. Cuneen also had three hits, Cullen and Mike Notarangelo two each and Chris Herr, John O'Connor and Peter McCarron one apiece.

Broad Meadows outslugged Point, 15-11, with Herr getting the win. Cullen had three hits, Paul Miller, Ed Boyle and Joe Conti two apiece and Robbie Steen, Joe Monahan, Mark Abboud, Herr and Notarangelo one each. Kevin Cabez had three hits for Point.

Notarangelo pitched two-hit ball and struck out 12 as BM walloped Central, 10-4. Miller had a triple and single, Cullen a triple, McCarron and John Palmer two hits each and P.J. Hussey, Monahan, Abboud and Notarangelo one each.

Mazzarella President Jordan's Flying League

Arlene Mazzarella has been elected president for the 1981-82 season of the Jordan's Flyers Bowling League. Kay Alibrandi is the new vice president, Marilyn Enman secretary and Dee Hubbard treasurer.

The annual awards banquet will be held at the Sheraton Tara in Braintree, Friday, June 12.

The Alley Cats, Moe Stankus, Clare Bambino, Kay Alibrandi, Marie Tranfaglia and Carol McGrath, took top honors after winning the rolloff with the first half winners, Ladies of the Night, Debbie Lundgren, Dot Saccardo, Sally Buchanan, Veronica Bertrand and Chrissy Valentino.

The Alley Cats had an 88-48 record and had the high team single of 493. The Ladies of the Night had the high team three of 1368.

Jane Michaels had the high individual single of 126 and Clara Gambino rolled the high three of 328. She also had the high average of 95.7.

Mark Cohen Junior Track Winner

In the Broad Meadows junior high boys track team victories over Central and Point, Mark Cohen won the half mile event in each meet and ran the city's fastest time, 2:16, against Point.

"Mark is an outstanding runner and should win the half-mile in the city-wide meet (today, Thursday)," Coach Tom Hall said.

It was reported in last week's Sun that Mark Cullen had won the two races.

Q. WHAT CAUSES PAINT TO PEEL?

Moisture is the largest single cause of peeling, but it can be many things. Inadequate surface preparation, mildew, chalk, dirt and many other situations contribute to paint peeling. It has to be dealt with on an individual basis which we at Hancock Paint are trained to do. Bring your paint problems to us for long term solutions.

PISCES - February 20-March 20

Many matters are seen in terms of dollars and cents this week. Prestige increases, and so do responsibilities, particularly civic ones. Volunteer assignment has fringe benefit.

ARIES - March 21-April 20

Opt for a subtle rather than overstated approach, especially in interpersonal affairs. Promises made to you now are easily forgotten, so try to secure them in writing.

TAURUS - April 21-May 22

You find at least one good opportunity to demonstrate how warm and affectionate you really are. Legal questions may crop up now, don't seek bargain-basement advice.

GEMINI - May 23-June 21

A little clumsy, a lot charming. Be careful in any kind of sporty venture. More time than usual spent with ailing friends. Expect plans to change at the very last moment.

CANCER - June 22-July 22

Thursday-Friday are creative and profitable. Weekend has merry, off-beat moments. Monday-Tuesday favor long distance communication and a never-ending stream of paperwork.

LEO - July 23-August 22

A good week for buying, selling, trading - and inventing. Cooling off period may be necessary in an up-and-down relationship. Friendly enemies are friendlier than ever.

VIRGO - August 23-September 22

Pets, foreign visitors and congratulations are all on the week's program. On weekend, be wary of virtual strangers taking you into their confidence.

LIBRA - September 23-October 22

Better week for tying up loose ends than for commencing a major project. Weekend showdown with two-faced acquaintance may be unavoidable. Tuesday finds you lucky in love.

SCORPIO - October 23-November 21

Outstanding week for broadening academic and/or social interests. Don't be shy in talking about your good deeds or strong points. Promote yourself - not aggressively, but earnestly.

City To Buy 10 New Police Cars

The City Council Monday night appropriated $72,757 to purchase 10 new cruisers — seven marked and three unmarked — for the Police Department.

Acting City Auditor William Grindlay said the cost of the new cars will come out of federal revenue sharing for 1981-82, which he said is expected to be more than $2 million.

State Aid Needed

More Layoffs Possible With $66.4 M Budget

By TOM HENSHAW

The City Council, with a nervous eye on the State House, passed a $66.4 million budget for fiscal 1982 Monday night, up some $2.8 million from that originally submitted by Mayor Arthur H. Tobin.

But, unless the city receives additional state aid and City Hospital can boost its receipts, the budget will bring the tax levy over the $56.9 million limit set by Proposition 2½.

That would mean further cuts in city personnel and services during the year that starts July 1.

City Councillor John J. Lydon Jr., chairman of the Finance Committee, told his colleagues that "we are looking at over $3 million in added state aid to fund the deficit in appropriations."

The Council passed the budget after Asst. City Solicitor Dennis E. Harrington and City Clerk John Gillis, as parliamentarian, ruled that Tobin's $63.6 million original budget was the only one before it.

That meant that the Council was voting on Tobin's $26.7 million "education allowance" rather than the $28.4 million budget submitted by the School Committee.

The School Committee's budget came to the Council in the form of a letter from the mayor, therefore, said Harrington "you don't have an appropriation order before you to act on."

Harrington cited a decision handed down by Superior Court Justice Paul V. Rutledge that the law "leaves clearly to the mayor what the bottom line appropriation will be."

The School Committee's budget request had included $1.4 million to fund raises for teachers that had never been paid and $300,000 to retain 13 teachers and six security guards.

The $1.4 million has been in litigation for two years, said Harrington, and "I question whether a decision will ever be handed down."

Tobin's original $63.6 million budget was boosted by the addition of $1.8 million for the Water Department, $250,000 for the Sewer Department, $648,000 for water and sewer debt and $38,000 for parking areas.

At the time he submitted the budget, Tobin was hoping that the Council would approve establishment of a Water and Sewer Commission with a revolving account that would take those departments out of the budget. The Council refused.

A total of $200,337 was deleted from the budget at the request of acting City Auditor William Grindlay to make up for the money that had been saved through the induced retirement program.

Grindlay had suggested a $235,618 cut but Councillor Daniel G. Raymond insisted that $13,206 be restored for the depleted Engineering Department and Councillor James A. Sheets wanted the same for Veterans Department ($22,075).

3 To 2 Vote

No Sunday Dancing Rules License Board

By NANCY McLAUGHLIN

If you want to go dancing on Sundays, you'll have to find the music somewhere outside of Quincy.

The City License Board voted 3 to 2 Tuesday to deny the request from Quincy Bay Inn, North Quincy, for a Sunday entertainment permit which would allow dancing by patrons and guests.

Granting the request would have opened the door to public Sunday dancing in Quincy.

Fire Chief Edward Barry made the motion to deny the request saying "our concern is for all sections of the city, not just one particular section." Health Commissioner Dr. Robert P. McKeogh seconded the motion and Building Inspector Allan MacDonald was also in favor of denying the license.

City Clerk John Gillis and Police Chief Francis Finn voted against the denying the license.

Barry said his feelings on the subject have not changed from last week when he said that, "dancing by itself is not a great issue."

"Many neighborhood residents owned their homes before liquor dispensing establishments came in... people have rights to reasonable quiet on Sundays," Barry had explained.

A decision on the matter had been postponed from last week's meeting at the suggestion of Barry who wanted to see if the City Council would "act or fail to act" on a proposed ordinance to prohibit public Sunday dancing.

No action was taken at last night's council meeting on the topic which Gillis said he considered "our (the License Board's) decision."

Richard J. Vita, manager of Quincy Bay Inn, asked the board to consider granting the license since there seemed to be "no strong objection" to Sunday dancing.

Vita suggested the board make a list of restrictions to go along with the license to alleviate concerns. He suggested limiting hours or granting a temporary license.

After the license was denied, Finn said that Vita could come back again in time with the request.

"I understand the board members (who voted against the request) and to a great degree agree with them," said Finn.

Finn said, however, that he was concerned over veterans organizations where there are dances. "I'll be darned if I want to shut them down," said Finn who added that the board should review the topic and talk it over.

Barry urged that those violating the license should be brought before the license board and their liquor licenses effected.

"The police will do their job," said Finn.

Point Traffic Lights To Be Repaired

Bids to repair damaged traffic signals on Washington St. at Baker Ave. and South St. are scheduled to be opened June 23, Sen. Paul D. Harold has announced.

The $7,000 project is expected to take about 150 days once the contract is awarded by the State Department of Public Works, because of the time needed to obtain parts.

Past Due Licenses

The City License Board requests that all past due licenses be paid for and picked up as soon as possible.

The project is state-funded because Washington Street is a state highway.

The licenses include common victualer, gasoline and dancing licenses, many of which expired Dec. 30 or April 30.

To Determine Best Use City Gets $12,000 For Abandoned Schools Study

By FRANK MORTIMER

The Planning Department has been awarded a $12,000 state grant to look into the best ways to use six elementary schools that have been turned over to the city.

James E. Lydon, director of planning, said Monday the grant will be combined with $15,000 in community development block grant funds to hire a consultant.

The state grant was issued by the Executive Office of Communities and Development specifically for paying a consultant to evaluate options for re-use of the surplus buildings.

The six schools are the Hunting, Great Hill, Adams, Gridley Bryant, Cranch and Quincy School.

Hunting and Great Hill schools were closed last year and have been under the care of the Dept. of Public Works. The other four are scheduled to close June 23.

The school committee voted last week to turn the other four over to the city.

In the same meeting the committee voted to retain control of the Beechwood Knoll school, which closes June 23, and the Myles Standish, which closed last year.

Lydon said the consulting contract will be awarded to Anderson-Nichols Consulting Co., Inc. of Boston, which will take inventory of the schools' physical assets and make recommendations for their future use.

Lydon said it was too early to tell how the buildings will be used. A key question yet to be settled is whether to sell or lease the structures.

"Building and land costs are going up all the time," he said. "It doesn't make sense to sell a school if we're going to have to build a new one in the year 2000."

Lydon said the city could "realize this appreciation" in value at no cost by renting the buildings.

He stressed, however, that the final decision to lease or sell will be guided by the consultant's findings.

The Planning Dept. hopes to lease or sell the buildings in late fall to avoid additional heating costs. Even if the schools are unoccupied, they must be heated to prevent structural warping.

Lydon said the Planning Department has received about 20 unsolicited proposals from companies interested in the abandoned schools. He said the Montessori School may want to start a school in Quincy. Other firms wish to use the schools for offices.

Lydon said some communities have converted schools into condominiums, but no such proposals have been made for the Quincy buildings.

Fuel Assistance Funds Available

Quincy Community Action Organization is seeking eligible individuals who have not been applied for fuel assistance for the 1980-81 heating season.

Persons already accepted into the program who have not exhausted their total allocation are encouraged to send in outstanding primary heating source bills by Monday, June 22.

The program ends on June 30, 1981.

For more information, call 471-4025.

Raymondi Sees 'Most Aggressive, Positive Campaign'

City Councillor Daniel G. Raymondi cut the ribbon to open his mayoral campaign headquarters recently, to begin what he called, "Quincy's most aggressive and positive political campaign."

Joined by his wife, Sharyn, and supporters from throughout the city, Raymondi recalled his political career and the path which led him to seek the office of mayor.

Citing his extensive experience in Quincy's political, fraternal, civic and judicial circuits, he promised an "administration of openness, fairness, accountability and superior fiscal management."

"I'm not only pledging to work as mayor as long and hard as humanly possible but I also promise to bring into my administration qualified individuals to help operate city government more efficiently," said Raymondi.

Raymondi touched upon the qualifications he said he will bring to the office of mayor.

He has served on the Parks and Recreation Board, the School Committee, and acted as an assistant-district attorney and public defender for Norfolk County. Raymondi has also served as chairman of the City Council's Downtown Economic Development Committee.

"My work on the Downtown Development Committee has given me the intimate understanding needed to master this problem," he said.

"The importance of redeveloping downtown Quincy cannot be understated, and its successful redevelopment will be a high priority in the Raymondi administration."

The Raymondi for Mayor Headquarters is located at 1143 Hancock Street and its hours are, temporarily, 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. and 7 p.m. to 10 p.m. The telephone number is 786-9827.

May Building Totals $844,459

Building Inspector Allan MacDonald issued 94 permits for projects estimated to cost $844,459 during the month of May.

The list included a new one-family dwelling valued at $41,000.

There were permits for 65 residential alterations, 14 other alterations, three signs, one removal and 10 miscellaneous projects.

The department received $4,401 in permit fees and $465 in fees for public inspections.

Only One Ward Race?

It's beginning to look like there could be a shortage of City Council ward challengers this year.

Question: is it just one of those ho-hum off years when candidate interest just wanes or is Proposition 2½ the reason?

With less than two months to go to take out nomination papers, there is only one ward race so far.

Joseph Cortese and Ted DeCristofaro are announced candidates for the Ward 2 seat being vacated by Daniel Raymondi to run for mayor. And, John H. McDuff, Jr. has taken out nomination papers. He ran for the School Committee two years ago.

Early speculation had a half dozen or more potential candidates eyeing the open seat. But it now looks like it may be just DeCristofaro, Cortese and McDuff.

None of the other ward councillors have any official competition at the moment. And there are no rumors of challengers waiting in the wings. That, of course, could change.

But as of this week Ward Councillors Leo Kelly (1), John Lydon (3), James Sheets (4), Steve McGrath (5) and Joanne Condon (6) have what could be a free ride to re-election.

Some political observers think Proposition 2½ is the big reason for the lukewarm interest. The ward councillor is the closest politician to the people in the ward. He's the easiest one to get to with beefs. They know where he (she) lives, shops, goes to church, etc. etc. They know where to catch up to him and tell him how they feel if they don't like something.

The ward councillor probably has more people telling him what they think than any other political figure.

And Proposition 2½ is giving them more and more to tell him — louder and louder.

It may be coming down to that old saw: if you can't stand the heat, stay out of the kitchen.

With Proposition 2½, the thermostat is a lot higher this political year than just two years ago.

JUDGE Albert Kramer, presiding justice of Quincy District Court will be on WRKO with Dave Brudnoy tonight (Thursday) starting at 8 p.m.

GOVERNOR'S Councillor Peter Eley will hold his second annual summer party - KRAMER Tuesday, June 23 from 8 p.m. to midnight at the Wollaston Golf Club, Randolph Ave., Milton.

MISSED AT THE recent Morrisette Legion baseball reunion was Tommy MacDonald one of the top players of several years ago. MacDonald, now a Red Sox scout, was unable to attend because he was on a Sox assignment. MacDonald went on from Morrisette to play pro ball. He was signed by the Yankees and made it up to Triple A ball with Denver.

TIMOTHY CAHILL kicks off his campaign for the City Council at large with a fund-raiser Friday, June 26, from 8 p.m. to 12 midnight at the Quincy Legion Post hall on Mechanic St. Tickets are available from Sandy Cahill at 472-0797.

School Committeeman John Sullivan has just returned from a 10-day visit there with daughters Patricia, Mary Rose, Barbara and Claire. They stayed in Dingle Bay in County Kerry.

And while there, he found a touch of home. While making a phone call to a friend in the lobby of the hotel Brenner, he was amused to find a familiar bumper sticker on the phone booth: "Make It In Massachusetts"

City Club Poster, Essay Winners

The Quincy City Club honored the six winners of the annual poster and essay contest Sunday, at its spring breakfast at Dutton's Restaurant.

David J. Donaghue, co-chairman of the annual competition, announced the following winners in the Grades 1 through 3:

David Campbell, 16 Elm Ave., Wollaston, a student at the Squantum School was the winner while second place went to Renee Feeley, 76 Parkhurst St., Wollaston, a student at St. Ann's School.

In Grade 4 through 6, first place was won by Irene Scott of 27

Sharon Road, North Quincy, a student at Sacred Heart School, while second place went to John Ward of 55 Cummings Ave., also a student at Sacred Heart School.

Both winners of the Grade 7 through 9 competition were students at Quincy Point Junior High School with Paula Foye of 17 Commonwealth Ave., winning first place and second place going to Maria Andrews, 22 Broadway.

The students and their parents have been invited to join the City Club members at their breakfast and will receive a citation in recognition of their achievement.

The group will again be honored on Monday, June 15, at the Flag Day parade when the three first place finishers each will receive a $100 savings bond and the runnerup contestants a $50 savings bond.

The theme for the poster contest was "My Favorite Quincy Historic Site" and the theme for the essay contest was "My Favorite Quincy Historic Site and Why".

Teachers were requested to select the best three posters or essays from their classrooms for final judging.

Quincy City Club Judges included Donaghue, Stephen Kenney and Thomas G. Bowes.

Richard J. Koch, president of the Quincy City Club, will outline the activities of the organization for the 1981-1982 season.

The Flag On Memorial Day

Editor, The Quincy Sun:

During a recent visit to Quincy I rode through the Quincy Square area at four o'clock in the afternoon on Memorial Day. I was appalled by the number of public buildings (fire stations, post offices, etc.) on which the flag was displayed at half mast.

The code of flag etiquette adopted by Congress and amended in 1976 by Public Law 94-344, stipulates that, on Memorial Day, the flag will be flown at half mast until noon, and will then be hoisted to full mast for the remainder of the day.

For a city like Quincy, which boasts of its historical background and interest, to manifest such obvious disregard for, apathy toward, or ignorance of, the proper flag etiquette is inexcusable.

Little Fat In City Government For 2½ Cutters, Says McCauley

There is not as much fat in municipal government as many proponents of Proposition 2½ believe, says City Councillor Francis X. McCauley.

"Certainly there is not enough fat to make up for cuts to meet Prop 2½," McCauley, who is a candidate for mayor, told a Kiwanis Club luncheon Monday.

"Over the years we have expanded many city services to the point where they have become necessities."

McCauley said, for example, when he was growing up there was an occasional traffic officer who crossed kids going to school. Now, he said, there are 41 traffic supervisors.

"If you cut those out, every parent in the city would be leaning all over you," he said.

McCauley noted that the city has to reduce its tax levy by 15 per cent in calculating the fiscal 1982 budget.

"This year is nothing compared to what is going to happen next year," he said, when the city has to cut the budget by another 15 per cent.

"I am the one who is best prepared to address this because of my business experience," he said.

"2½ is an opportunity for us to look at city government and run it as efficiently as possible."

"I would like to ask the cooperation of the business and professional community, perhaps in loaning personnel to the city like they do for the United Fund drives."

McCauley assured the Rev.

Bedros Baharian, the city's $1 a year development coordinator, that he is in favor of downtown development.

"I have always been pro-development," he said. "I supported the early stages of State Street South and it cost me politically."

"In my four years on the Council I have disagreed with the administration many times but not in the area of development."

"I'd hate to see what the tax rate in Quincy would be if we did not have State Street South and the Jordan Marsh warehouse."

"It's basic common sense that we have to go ahead with development or slip back."

School Committee Candidate Gets O.K. For Sunday Dance

The City License Board no sooner voted against allowing Sunday dancing in Quincy, then it had its first request to bend the ruling a little.

The Committee to Elect Jim O'Brien for School Committee requested a one-day all alcoholic license, which was eventually granted for a fund raising dance June 28, 8 p.m. to midnight, at St. Thomas Aquinas Hall.

Police Chief Francis Finn said that according to Massachusetts Law, dancing is allowed on Sundays for weddings, functions and banquets.

Dancing is not an issue in this case, said Finn who felt the fundraiser could be considered a function.

Health Commissioner Dr. Robert P. McKeogh contended the event is not literally a wedding or banquet.

The board held the matter in abeyance for a ruling from the City Solicitor, but the solicitor could not be reached.

Building Inspector Allan MacDonald said he felt the event fell under the special heading of the law outlined by Finn.

The request was granted on a 3 to 2 vote with Dr. McKeogh and Fire Chief Edward Barry opposed.

Smoke Detector Program For Ward 1

City Councillor Leo J. Kelly has announced the initiation of a new smoke detector installation program in the Ward 1 area.

Kelly has been working with the Fire Department and the Planning Department for the past several months to develop guidelines.

Under the program the Fire Department will assist each household in determining the proper locations of detectors.

The Planning Department, through its Community Development Block Grant Program, will provide the necessary detectors and install them.

To qualify for participation, a household of one is limited to a maximum gross income of $14,500; two, $16,550; three, $18,650; four, $20,700; five, $22,000; six, $23,300; seven, $24,600; eight or more, $25,900.

Each home must be an owner-occupied, one or two-family home.

There will be a public meeting Tuesday, June 16, at 7:30 p.m. at the Houghs Neck Community Center, at which the program will be explained and applications distributed.

For further information, contact the Planning Department at 773-1380, ext. 366.

Mass. Fields Playground Improvements To Start Soon

Ward 5 Councillor Stephen J. McGrath announces a rehabilitation project for the playground adjacent to the Massachusetts Fields School will start soon under the 1981-82 Community Development Block Grant Program in the Wollaston target area.

At a recent meeting held with neighborhood residents at the school, McGrath and staff representatives of the Quincy Planning Department presented preliminary design plans for the proposed project. McGrath explained that proposed improvements include resurfacing and replacement of baskets of the basketball court, improvement of the tot lot area for the younger children, and resodding of the open playfield.

"I am pleased that we are able to allocate the necessary federal funds for this purpose, for the playground is an important asset to the neighborhood and its residents, in particular the children," McGrath said. "Only through such efforts can the Wollaston neighborhood adequately conserve its recreational space."

At the neighborhood meeting approximately 30 adults and children discussed the proposed improvements with McGrath and Planning Department representatives. Numerous suggestions were made which will be incorporated into a final plan.

Ferrazzi Urges Jail For Auto Thieves

Quincy Police Chief William Ferrazzi urged mandatory jail sentences and license suspensions for youthful automobile thieves as the best way to curb the "dangerous practice of joy-riding."

Ferrazzi complained that law enforcement officials, the courts and the general public were much too tolerant of teenagers who steal cars just for the fun of it.

"Car theft usually becomes the first step in a criminal career," he said. "I feel we should try another approach to eliminate the germ of this disease."

OLD COLONY SERVICE ENDS

Federal Judge Robert P. Anderson in New Haven, Conn., gave the New Haven Railroad permission to discontinue passenger service on its Old Colony Division on July 8, ending commuter service for 10,000.

"Losses incurred by the New Haven Railroad in operating Old Colony passenger service have been in excess of $1 million a year and in 1957 approximately $2 million," said the judge.

"There is no reason to believe they won't continue to lose money."

WOLLASTON, MORRISSETTE, RAIDERS WIN

Eddie Dunn pitched a two-hitter and Bob Fottler collected three hits as the Wollaston Legion baseball team defeated Quincy, 5-0, for its first Zone 6 victory of the season.

Steve Smalley singled in the winning run in the sixth inning to give Morrisette a 7-6 decision over Braintree and move the West Quincy Legion team into second place in Zone 6.

Pat Drohan and Mary Pratt turned in fine pitching performances in leading Chiminello's Raiders to 4-1 and 13-5 weekend victories over Hartford Laurelettes in Tri-State Softball League games.

CITY RAISES ASKED

Petitions were circulated asking 10 per cent wage increases for some 1,800 city employees, a move that Mayor Amelio Della Chiesa said would cost the city $600,000 or about $4 on the tax rate.

The Job Evaluation Committee, appointed in 1957, had recommended 5 per cent wage hikes in January but the Mayor rejected the proposal on grounds the city could not afford the money.

MISTAKEN LANDING

MIX YOUR OWN POISON

A conscientious housewife was not satisfied with the way her bathroom bowl cleaner was removing stains so she added a dash of household bleach. She was found on the bathroom floor - dead! An unsuspecting victim of deadly chlorine gas.

Mixing household cleaners can be dangerous. The deadliest mixture is the combination of chlorine bleach with an acid-producing substance, such as bathroom bowl cleaner or vinegar. The result will be chlorine gas.

One Medical Newsletter told of 20 persons in separate incidents being overcome by gases from the combination of chlorine bleach and ammonia. These occurred in the kitchen, bathroom and in treating swimming pool water. To be safe - never mix cleaning agents, especially chlorine bleach. Make sure you read the directions and warnings on the labels of all cleaning products.

NORMA E. FINNEGAN of Quincy receives masters degree from son, J. Mitchell Finnegan, at Springfield College commencement. Young Finnegan, a junior, is a Springfield student trustee.

Proud Day For Family

Son Presents Degree To Mother Of 7

Norma E. Finnegan, a Quincy resident who took more than 15 years out of her career to raise seven children, was awarded a master's degree recently from Springfield College.

The presentation was made by a student trustee who happens to be her son, J. Mitchell Finnegan.

A former elementary school teacher, Mrs. Finnegan is now a staff member for the YMCA's Northeast Region and earned her degree at Springfield's Collaborative Boston Learning Center, a program designed to educate executives of non-profit agencies.

After graduating from Boston University in 1950 and briefly teaching elementary school, Mrs. Finnegan and her husband, Martin, who reside at 49 Whitney Rd., began their family in their hometown of Quincy.

In the late 1960's, she decided to again pursue a career and was hired as assistant physical education director at the Quincy YMCA.

In the succeeding years she received a series of promotions and was eventually appointed in 1978 to the staff of the Northeast Region, headquarters for YMCA's in New York and most of New England.

She is also a volunteer for the Samaritans, a suicide prevention hotline based in the Boston area.

Her son, J. Mitchell Finnegan, was elected by the college's 2,200 undergraduates to be the student representative on the college's Board of Trustees.

A junior majoring in physical education, he has served as editor-in-chief of the student newspaper, a group leader of the New Student Orientation Program; a dormitory resident assistant; and a eucharistic minister for the college's Roman Catholic community.

Norma's husband, Martin C. Finnegan has been a physical education teacher at Quincy High School since 1950 and was varsity basketball coach for 14 years. He is also vice president of Management Assurance Corp. of Boston.

Amendment Would Give $250,000 To QJC

A matching grant amendment to the state budget that gives Quincy Junior College $250,000 in scholarship and administrative funding has been approved by the House.

Rep. Michael W. Morrissey said the amendment was filed to correct an inequity in current state funding.

"Last year a similar amendment was filed and adopted by the Legislature," Morrissey said, "but the administration and finance formula did not give Quincy Junior College enough to work with."

Under the new amendment, QJC would be allocated about $130 per full time student, plus administrative monies.

"This money will help the school make up its present deficit and move it a bit closer to standing on its own," said Morrissey.

Cerasoli Number 722-2040

Rep. Robert A. Cerasoli has finally received a permanent telephone number at the State House.

It's 722-2040.

The confusion started in January when Cerasoli left the Committee on Election Laws to join the Committee on Ways and Means. He moved from 26 to Room 251 and his phone number went from 727-8215 to 727-2351.

During the first week in May a new telephone system was installed in the State House and Cerasoli was given a temporary number of 722-2010.

Now he has been relocated -- "permanently", he says -- in Room 251A and assigned the new number, 722-2040.

Cash. Now.

With the price of gold, silver and diamonds at highest (or even declining) levels, now is the time to receive the most cash for yours.

QUESTIONS ABOUT CAPS

Q: My tooth with a brand-new cap needs root canal work. Will I need to have another cap made?

A: You don't say whether you have an all-porcelain cap or one made of porcelain bonded to gold, but often root canal therapy can be done right through the cap without destroying it. Caps made of porcelain are more apt to fracture during the procedure.

Q: My tooth broke off at the gum-line. I was told it can be fixed after root canal work. How can a dentist cap a tooth that isn't there?

A: We start with a post and core to rebuild the part of the tooth that broke off. The post acts as a support. It's anchored into the root, after the root canal therapy, and serves to attach a new top, or core, to the remaining structure. A cap can then be fitted.

Special Children's Day Service At Squantum Church

They were dancing in the aisles of the sanctuary Sunday at the First Church of Squantum.

It was all part of a "Psalm of Saying Thanks to God" presented by the combined Junior and Boys' Choirs in a special Children's Day service.

The Psalm included a litany spoken by the children, a dance which took the children up and down the aisles of the church and the song "Simple Gifts."

Mary Ruth Scott directed the music and Valerie Gorill was choreographer.

"We were delighted to see dance included in our worship service in this way," said the pastor, Rev. Dr. Gene Lanevin. "We hope there will be many more occasions here on which liturgical dancing can be used."

Since it was Children's Day, the entire service was led by pre-teen children. James Sumner played "Onward Christian Soldiers" on the piano as the prelude. Bonnie MacRitchie led the call to worship, Michael Stamos gave the opening prayer. Tracey Gale read the scripture.

David Scott led the prayer of dedication and Krista Colwell offered a prayer for the summer.

The combined Junior and Boys' Choirs sat in the place of the Chancel Choir and provided all the music that the adult choir usually sings.

Ushers were children, too: Matthew Sumner, James Sumner, Kerri Galvin and Kim Galvin were senior ushers; Amanda Young, Blythe Bumpus, Brian Colwell and Gregory Gale were junior ushers.

The sermon, "God Is My Friend", consisted of three plays taken from Bible stories. Participating in the play about the boy Samuel were Edward Myers as Samuel, Christopher Shonis as Eli and Kimberley Galvin as the voice of God.

Participating in the play about the boy Jesus were Brian Colwell as Jesus, Jennifer Cocio as Mary, Amanda Young as Joseph and Colleen Cocio, Kim Olson and Lori Ogilvie as the teachers in the Temple.

Participating in the play about Jairus' daughter were James Sumner as Jesus, Kristen Reister as the daughter, Andrew Ogilvie as Jairus, Blythe Bumpus as Jairus' wife and Lee Ann Miller and Kerri Galvin as friends of the family.

Members of the Board of Christian Education then presented the children with awards. Recilla Stamos and Janet Williamson presented 12 of the children with bibles.

Ellen Ogilvie gave the awards for perfect attendance during the year to nine children. Mary Ruth Scott distributed awards to 20 members of the Junior and Boys' Choirs.

Barbara Colwell gave a flowering plant to each child at the service.

After the service, there was a reception for all the children and their parents hosted by Genevieve Todd, Mary Scott and Recilla Stamos. Greeters for the service were Doris Longmire and May Lewis.

Next Sunday, Father's Day, the service will begin at 10:15 a.m.

Rev. J. William Arnold Installed As Bethany Senior Minister

A large congregation of members and friends gathered at the Sunday morning service at Bethany Congregational Church to participate in the installation of Rev. Mr. J. William Arnold as senior minister.

Following the organ prelude by Linda L. Roberts and call to worship and celebration by Rev. Mr. Elden D.J. Zuern, there was a joyous fanfare by a brass ensemble.

The New Testament Readings were by Mrs. Clara S. MacLean.

The solo Handel's "Sing With Grace in Your Heart," was by Jean E. Bettinson, contralto soloist.

Rev. Mr. William MacPherson Bigelow, minister at Mt. Desert Island Parish, UCC Maine, who served as assistant minister with Mr. Arnold at Trinity Church, Gloucester, preceded his sermon by expressing deep appreciation of Mr. Arnold as his teacher and associate.

Rev. Mr. Arnold was presented by moderator Howard S. Willard, Sr. to Rev. Mr. Charles H. Harper, area minister of the Metropolitan Boston Association of the Massachusetts Conference, UCC, who conducted the covenant of installation.

The charge was given first to the minister-elect, then to the members of Bethany Church. This was followed by A Responsive Prayer of Community Celebration prepared and led by Mrs. Joan P. Arnold.

Rev. Mr. Arnold acknowledged greetings from churches in Quincy and neighboring communities. A special welcome was given to a large group from his former church in Gloucester, and a "thank you" to the many at Bethany who had helped him during his interim ministry.

Immediately following the service, a reception was held in the Parish House. Arrangements and preparation of refreshments were made by members of Bethany Women's Union Board under the leadership of Mrs. Irene M. Streifer, president.

There was also decorated cake in honor of the Arnolds from the 2nd Church in Newton.

The floral centerpiece of garden roses was made by Mrs. Emma Stewart.

Camp Fire Club Sponsors Blood Drive At Point Congregational

Camp Fire Discovery Club girls Kimberly Mayberger, Joy O'Hare, Cheryl Hanson, Kerri Smith, and Beth Greenfield joined regular Red Cross volunteers to make the Memorial Day Blood Drive at Quincy Point Congregational Church a success.

Under the guidance of Advisor Gail Mayberger, the girls sponsored the one-day drive to supplement blood supplies left low by the three day Memorial Day weekend.

They placed posters in local stores advertising the drive, solicited donors on the telephone, helped register prospective donors, and supplied and served food and drink in the Donor Center canteen.

More than 60 people volunteered to donate blood, nearly twice the normal number on a Memorial Day weekend.

Forty-five units were collected. Two of the girls, Kimberly Mayberger and Cheryl Hanson, enlisted as permanent volunteers in the Quincy Red Cross Donor Center, proving that the Camp Fire motto "Give Service" is one the girls really follow.

Feeling Guilty? Many people do. Reasons range from broken homes to unbroken habits. Whatever the cause, it's an ugly feeling. Guilt is both the fact of having done wrong and the feeling of blame for doing it. It's worst when the way you live leaves you empty, frustrated, and filled with regret. But there is a solution. Face the fact and remember God forgives. Then let Him! Before this ad was placed we started praying for you because we care. Give us a chance to share.

I'M NOT GOING TO THE FUNERAL TODAY.

Did you know that students of human history have found ceremonies for the dead in every culture. Egyptians, American Indians, Orientals, Africans, Latin Americans and Eskimos are examples of the many cultures that hold ceremonies for their dead. Ceremonies vary to meet local needs. Ceremonies serve the living! American funerals bring friends and loved ones together to give mutual support. They give the living a positive way to honor the memory of the deceased. When you hear people wondering about the value of funerals, remember that funerals meet the deeply seated needs of the living. When a loved one dies, attend the funeral and visitation to honor the deceased, to support the family and appropriately express your feelings.

First Parish Church Children Raise $30 For Library

Everybody's been talking about the shortage of library funds lately, so the children of Quincy's United First Parish Unitarian Church decided to help.

They raised $30 by renting a table at their church's May 30th Strawberry Festival and running arts and crafts activities and painting clown faces or tattoos on customers.

Mrs. Nettie Sumner, president of the Friends of the Library, visited the table to make a personal donation. She commended the children for their efforts, much needed, she said, since Prop 2½ pared the library budget to the bone.

Sen. Paul Harold heard about the children's project and sent a letter praising them for participating "in this important project." He enclosed a donation to "help the children raise funds for our Quincy library system."

The $30 the children raised, along with Sen. Harold's check, was donated to the Friends of the Library at their June 10th Book Sale.

The youngsters requested that the money be used to purchase books for the Children's Department.

A Tradition Of Service

Peter Kelly

extends a personal invitation to visit Quincy's all new, turn-of-the-century type saloon.

There is no place like Kelly's Pub 'N Grub in the Quincy area. It's unique. It's the culmination of the many ideas gathered thru the years by Peter Kelly, the proprietor.

Mr. Kelly has tried to re-create the old-time atmosphere of the pre-turn of the century saloon, while at the same, adding his own touch of modern day service and design.

Kelly's Pub 'N Grub is for people who work in the area and for people who live in the area. It's a quiet, private cocktail lounge with a low-key, intimate atmosphere. Its friendly waitresses and female bartenders, always with a smile on their face, waiting to make your visit enjoyable.

Businessmen can discuss business privately. Office workers can enjoy a drink together. Everyone can partake of the delicious food being served that day.

It has taken twelve months to complete construction of this new addition to the Kelly family of Restaurants and Pubs. Now the job is finished and you are invited to come and visit Quincy's newest eating and drinking spot. What better time than now, during our grand opening celebration which begins June 21th.

We have also added rooms downstairs which are available for office parties, business meetings and many other affairs.

At 5 p.m., when the job is done, Kelly's Pub 'N Grub is the perfect place to unwind, to eat or to pause before that journey home. Later, it's time for fun where good friends get together to party and raise a glass or two up high. Always, Kelly's atmosphere is dignified, respectful and very, very friendly. After all, it is a very special place for very special people. That's why there is always a dress code at Kelly's.

Quiet & Private

"If you appreciate quality, you'll enjoy being at Kelly's Pub 'N Grub In North Quincy."

If you appreciate quality, you'll enjoy being at Kelly's Pub 'N Grub in North Quincy.

The new addition has a warmth which can only be appreciated by coming in and experiencing the decor for yourself.

Antique mirrors were purchased from a South End mansion about to be demolished as was the mirror over the fireplace. The arch in the center of the bar came from a courthouse.

The bar itself is a combination of many styles blended into one. The stained glass on the back bar is Victorian while the back bar wood columns are Corinthian. The highly polished brass foot rail is turn of the century. The bar is hand crafted using modern day materials by a local Quincy craftsman who has done similar work for many of the finest pubs in the Boston area.

The five brick archways in the middle of the room were installed to provide privacy from the bar area.

Light from modern brass lanterns interfaced with antique brass chandeliers also adds a special touch of class.

Along the walls, you'll find curved booths made of pine wood carved on the premises. The pine blends naturally with the oak tables.

Lots of thought and planning went into the making of this new addition. Peter Kelly has traveled to many pubs in Dublin and London. He has watched with interest the kinds of eating and drinking places that have been successful at Quincy Market in Faneuil Hall. He consulted with Don Aikens and hired the finest craftsman including the Varian Brothers, very creative Irish bricklayers. The Varian Brothers built the fireplace which adds a special touch of warmth to the room. The famous Glass-works of Hanover was hired to provide the artistic stained glass windows which gives Kelly's Pub 'N Grub that special touch of class right down to the last detail.

The last detail at Kelly's is the Kelly Family Coat of Arms which has been hand painted onto the stained glass windows.

Thanks

The opening of this new lounge is indeed a very special occasion for the Kelly family. We have very successful in North Quincy since purchasing the former Tom English's bar. At that time we invested considerable sums of money in the modernization of the building and the creating of Kelly's Pub 'N Grub. That was two years ago and now on June 24th we celebrate the grand opening of our new lounge which has been so well described in this newspaper.

First of all, I want to thank the residents of North Quincy for their patronage the past two years. The new room is designed to cater to your demands for a high-quality place, in your neighborhood where you would be proud to bring a guest.

Secondly, I must thank my loyal staff who through their friendliness and helpfulness have helped this business to grow beyond.

Next, I want to thank the Local Development Corporation here in North

Quincy which has done so much for the business district as a whole and Kelly's Pub 'N Grub in particular. Brendan Gallagher is the president of this group and he deserves a special thank you.

Quincy city officials and political leaders have also been helpful and cooperative and I thank especially City Councillor Joanne Condon and State Representative Michael Morrissey. The City Planning and Building Departments co-operated and helped expedite permits etc.

I thank the clergy and members of Sacred Heart Parish for their acceptance of my ideas. I have tried to bring to this neighborhood the first class type of establishment they want and deserve.

Finally, thanks to Don Aikens, Artist On The Barge, architect & designer who worked so closely with me on every detail.

I invite you all to see for yourself what you have created here in North Quincy.

Thank You!
Peter Kelly

Gregory Brooks Council At-Large Candidate

Gregory P. Brooks, 24, of 949 Hancock St., who works in the Division of Contracting and Property Management of the National Parks Service, has announced his candidacy for an at large seat on the City Council.

"I am representing the people of this city -- and I have met many -- who are fed up with the lack-luster performance which has plagued this City Council for some time," he said.

"It has become nothing more than a 'Tower of Babel'," he said.

Brooks, a 20-year resident of Quincy, is a graduate of Suffolk University with a degree in government services and plans to return to the school's graduate program in Public Administration in the fall.

He is a former legislative assistant to Rep. Andrew S. Natsios (R-Holliston), chairman of the Republican State Committee.

"I feel more confident each passing day," said Brooks. "The people I have spoken with have been both highly receptive and supportive. They, like myself, believe that sometimes change can be the best thing."

"It will be a tough, uphill battle all the way, but we are on the move already. We have been working very hard for three months. We will be a force to be reckoned with, make no mistake about that."

"I hope to carry a message in this election. The people want a clear, distinct change in the operations at City Hall. There's only one way to tell them -- through the ballot. It's time to bring back that trust."

"If the policies of the politicians won't change, then it's time to change the politicians."

4 From Quincy Newman Grads

Four Quincy residents were awarded diplomas from Newman Preparatory School during commencement exercises held recently at New England Life Hall, Boston.

They are: Judith Rebecca Lawson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy A. Lawson of 48 Sherman St.; John Joseph Princiott, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. John Princiott of 36 Warwick St., Wollaston; William Vincent Smyth, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Vincent Smyth of 184 Lansdowne St., North Quincy; and Susan Lee Stearns, daughter of Mrs. Margarita Stearns of 146 Huckins Ave., Squantum and Mr. Richard Stearns of Dorchester.

Miss Stearns was awarded first prize in Chemistry and U.S. History during the ceremony.

Lori Ann McGlinchey of Framingham, daughter of Mrs. Marsha McGlinchey of 175 Russell St., North Quincy and Mr. Hugh McGlinchey of Framingham was also awarded a diploma.

QEA President Warns:

Cutbacks To Ruin City As Education Leader

"Quincy has always been a leader in the field of education," said Jo Ann O'Malley, president of the Quincy Education Association. "It is known nationwide for its school programs, even extra curricular activities such as the band."

"The decimation of the budget is going to destroy this."

"People with children who move into the city, the first thing they do is check out the schools. What they are doing to the schools in Quincy will affect this, too."

Mrs. O'Malley, who was born and raised in Quincy and teaches science at Broad Meadows Junior High School, takes a dim view of the future of Quincy schools under the restraints of Proposition 2½.

Some 200 of the more than 600 classroom teachers are among the 257 school personnel who are facing layoffs under the tight school budget for fiscal 1982.

Others include guidance counselors, librarians, school nurses and administrative personnel.

"Teachers won't have the flexibility that they had before," said Mrs. O'Malley. "The average time per child will be considerably less. The youngsters will not get as much individual attention."

JO ANN O'MALLEY

Pupil-teacher ratios are going up from 20-1 to 22-1, which Mrs. O'Malley calls a deceptive figure.

"That's an average of the whole system obtained by dividing the number of teachers into the number of students," she said.

"That does not take into account that a special needs ratio of 8-1 is mandated and industrial arts classes have to be smaller for the safety of the students."

"My classes have averaged about 25-1. I anticipate that I will have 30 to 35 students in my classes now."

Larger classes means more teacher time spent in reading and grading papers and tests and the loss of special teachers such as art, music and physical education means that teachers will lose preparation time, too.

"Special teachers used to come in once a week," said Mrs. O'Malley. "Teachers could leave class to make preparations for the next classes. Now the special teachers will be coming in every two weeks or so."

Mrs. O'Malley estimated that 40 to 45 per cent of the teachers at the secondary (high school and junior high school) level will be cut from the payroll.

"A lot of them have had expertise in certain areas, which means that the Quincy schools will not be able to offer specialized courses like photography," she said.

"Some advanced science and mathematics courses will be affected to a degree."

All of the teachers to be laid off are on the lower end of the seniority spectrum. They range from one year in experience up to as much as 15 years depending upon their areas of specialization.

"They are the younger teachers," said Mrs. O'Malley. "A lot of the coaches are in that group."

She anticipates that discipline in the classroom will become even more of a problem.

"Discipline is a difficult task now," she said. "I'm concerned that it will be more difficult with a larger number of students in the class. That means a large number of difficult children in a class."

"There will be an increased possibility of having things occur in class. All you need are two or three different students in a class to set things off and they snowball."

"You and I might say, 'Why when we went to school discipline was no problem,' but the nature of the person and the system have changed."

"The emphasis is on students' rights now rather than their responsibilities. It used to be that what the teacher said was law. But that has changed now."

"We have to be careful how we admonish children."

It is hoped that Quincy will get about $4 million in increased state aid in Gov. Edward J. King's budget.

"The schools should get a fair share of that money," said Mrs. O'Malley. "But how much is a fair share? $1 million? How much should go to the libraries, recreation?"

"Have you noticed that the areas hardest hit by the cutbacks in the city have been those related directly to youth? Schools, libraries, recreation, etc."

"If the others are helped it will take some of the pressure of the schools."

To Our Colleagues:

'Goodbye And Thank You'

When we say goodbye to our colleagues we are also closing out 1966 years of dedicated professional service to the children of the Quincy Public Schools!

Gone will be 257 members, about one third of the professional staff - Classroom Teachers, Art, Music, Physical Education, Home Economics, Industrial Arts, Guidance, Psychologists, Speech-Hearing and Media Specialists.

The students will be deprived of the caring, the expertise and the talents of these many dedicated people.

These are not just statistics we are talking about in the Proposition 2½ cuts. They are flesh and blood people who long ago chose an educational career because they loved children and teaching. They certainly never entered public employment for any financial gain.

Among these people are husbands and wives now both without a job. Many are in the age bracket not looked on favorably by new employers for retraining. All spent many years in preparation for this profession and can't now just go out of Quincy and get another teaching job because in Massachusetts education is not making it!

Many face unemployment for some period of time before being able to find a new career - there will be no CETA program for these people. Part of all this tragedy is that all their great talents which relate to working with children are being lost.

These people are being tossed out with nary a concern from the general public, which, for the most part, apparently feels teachers are not only expendable but not worth much of anything. From all sides public education is being made the whipping boy and the scape goat in the mad rush to solve the property tax problem via that ill conceived 2½ legislation. That law made no provision for the state to find new revenue through state cuts and shifting the burden from property taxes to other more equitable taxes.

In Quincy it will be interesting to see the reaction when homeowners get their new increased tax bills and new additional service charges and fees.

Some parents and a few citizens without children in the schools were and still are fighting the good fight to maintain a quality school system in Quincy. We sincerely appreciate their efforts. However, they are deluged, as are the professionals in education, by the narrow minded, unintelligent approach to the problem of paying for all the services now demanded of schools.

The sad thing is that as we say goodbye to our colleagues we know that what will be lost for many years to come is the incentive for young people to enter a profession and indeed public employment which is so reviled and held in such little esteem. Years down the road where do you think you are going to find anyone to recall or any new people who want to teach?

For the immediate future of next year we look to a bleak year with a demoralized and disillusioned staff. Next year many more will be waiting for the ax to fall on them when another $4 million cut will come in the salary line. How would you like to teach, develop special individualized programs, coach sports, be a sponsor for a club, yearbook, drama, help students with school work, emotional problems, discipline problems be a surrogate mother or father when no one at home cares? Where will the enthusiasm and energy come from? Sometimes one wonders who will end up with the better end of a bad deal - those who are leaving or those who stay?!

The Quincy Education Association cannot allow our colleagues to depart without a protest. We join in saying Thanks, with the students whose lives these people have touched so productively in so many ways.

We will all miss them.

PAUL PHILLIPS and MARGARET KING,
Quincy Education Association

June 26: 'Black Friday'

In the annals of public education, June 26, 1981, should long be remembered as "Black Friday."

It is not only the loss of thousands of talented and dedicated teachers that makes this day so infamous, although this is most regrettable, but it marks as well the end of a golden age of scholarship.

The reduction in funding brought about by Proposition 2½ has foreshadowed a death rattle in the public schools that will be obvious to all by next September.

When students return to their buildings for the 1981-1982 school year, many will face unenviable conditions. Some classrooms will be bulging at the seams (The 25 to 1 ratio quoted by the School Committee here in Quincy is predicated upon total staff figures. In reality, many classes will be over 30). Lack of planning time, flexible scheduling and time, will make it difficult for teachers to provide individualized programs for academically-talented or academically-impaired students.

The sheer numbers of students with which a teacher must deal make increased impersonalization likely. Moreover, there is bound to be a curtailment of extracurricular activities, despite the probable end of work to rule, simply because there will be fewer teachers to sponsor and supervise such events.

Oddly enough, all of these austerity measures are being forced upon the schools at a time when parents are demanding higher S.A.T. scores. With an additional $4 million to be cut from next year's school budget, the situation can only worsen as each teacher's duties grow in inverse relationship to remaining personnel. So few are called, but so much is expected.

Little attention is being paid to a projected increase in enrollment at the elementary level beginning in 1983. Those teachers who are being laid off now probably will not be available for recall later. Most have families to support and, although they would prefer to teach, they cannot afford to remain idle until communities recognize a need for their services. Several have, of necessity, found other jobs already. Indeed, some teachers who did not receive termination notices have sought employment in other fields rather than witness the unconscionable destruction of an institution they revere. Disillusionment has taken a toll on the teaching profession that will not soon be reversed.

Those of us who remain in teaching, while hoping to rebuild from the ashes of 2½, are saddened to say goodbye to so many of our colleagues. We are in your debt, not only for the countless hours of service you rendered, but also for your infectious idealism, a quality which many of us were beginning to lose. We salute you and wish you well.

City Wins Minor Skirmishes In Bus Battle

Quincy has won minor skirmishes in its two-front war with the MBTA.

The MBTA will not use Hancock St. to bus some 7,000 commuters from Dorchester to North Quincy Station while a section of the Red Line is being repaired. It will use Commander Shea Blvd. instead.

"That will solve about 50 per cent of the problem," said City Councillor Joanne Condon. "But I am still concerned about what will happen when 7,000 more commuters try to use the platform at North Quincy."

And labor problems have delayed the opening of the Quincy Adams Station in South Quincy past the scheduled fall of 1981 date. The earliest it can open is the spring of 1982.

"This is progress," said City Councillor James A. Sheets. "But we should remain vigilant to see that the station does not open until the Route 3 ramps are ready. We are after the whole loaf."

The busing of 7,000 commuters daily from Ashmont and Mattapan to North Quincy is scheduled to start Saturday, June 20, and last until Oct. 16 when repairs are finished between Andrew and Fields Corner.

The change in the bus route from Hancock St. to Commander Shea Blvd. was announced following a State House meeting between MBTA General Manager James F. O'Leary and elected officials from Quincy.

The buses will come over the Neponset River Bridge, take a right off Quincy Shore Drive at Billings St., then left on Commander Shea Blvd. into the MBTA station.

The buses will use Hancock St. on the way back to Boston, however, said T spokesman Paul DiNatale.

"Commander Shea Blvd. would add too much time to the trip," he said. "The return trip would have to go under the bridge and around and merge with the traffic on the bridge."

DiNatale said that a strike by cement finishers has pushed the opening date for the Quincy Adams Station ahead by several months. It was scheduled to open in September.

"Mr. O'Leary will have a committee of people from Quincy to consider the station opening and review the dates," he said. "Probably there will be no decision on opening until the spring of 1982."

Residents of South Quincy feel they were assured by the MBTA months ago that the station would not be opened until the ramps to Route 3 were ready to handle traffic into the station's massive garage.

The ramps, however, are not scheduled to be finished for another couple of years.

The MBTA's concessions in North and South Quincy, said City Councillor Daniel G. Raymond, "shows that the impact of letters, phone calls, etc., from Quincy can influence the T."

Wollaston Mother Receives Harvard Degree

By NANCY McLAUGHLIN

"She's proved that it's never too late to fulfill your childhood dreams," says Quincy resident Joan O'Connell of her sister Norma B. Corey who recently received a master's degree from Harvard Graduate School.

The degree was from the School of Education and it brings Mrs. Corey, who lives on Summit Ave., Wollaston, that much closer to her dream of becoming a teacher.

Says Mrs. O'Connell, "As a young girl, her dream was to grow up to have a large family and become a teacher. She helped the little girl next door to get a double promotion when she was younger because she would sit for hours and teach her."

"At the age of 18, she was married and unfortunately was able to have only one child, Doug. Her home was always filled with the neighbor's children because she always had a helping hand with advice and kindness."

"She became a volunteer at a hospital because she loved to help people. One of the nurses stopped Norma as she was writing a letter for a patient. She told Norma that she couldn't write it because she didn't have a degree in counselling. It was then that she started thinking seriously about going back to school," said Mrs. O'Connell.

Mrs. Corey enrolled at U. Mass-Boston in 1977 when her son was graduated from high school. She received her B.A. degree in two years, instead of the usual four years, and was also nominated for the Kennedy Award.

She was then accepted at Harvard where she studied psychology and counselling.

Mrs. Corey teaches and counsels urban adult students at U. Mass-Boston and hopes to enter the doctoral program at Harvard in 1982.

"She couldn't have done it without the love, patience and understanding of her husband, Leslie," adds Mrs. O'Connell.

Concludes the proud sister, "She has inspired many of her friends and family to return to high education."

Dr. Veronneau is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Gerard Veronneau, of North Quincy. He was graduated from Northeastern University before entering the program at PCO.

His wife is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. L. C. Hoblitzell, of Rainelle, West Virginia. She attended West Virginia University before entering the program at PCO.

Dr. Veronneau and Dr. Hoblitzell will be practicing optometry in Rainelle with Dr. L. C. Hoblitzell.

QCA Opposes MBTA Busing

The Quincy Citizens Association has reiterated its opposition to the busing of Dorchester commuters to the North Quincy MBTA station while the Ashmont-Andrew section of the Red Line is closed for repairs.

The QCA, at its monthly meeting, suggested that commuters from Ashmont and Mattapan be bused directly to Andrew station and return over the same route. The busing is scheduled to start June 20.

The association also reaffirmed its opposition to Mayor Arthur H. Tobin's proposed Water and Sewer Commission and suggested that the sewer charge be listed as an item on the water bill.

It was recommended that Community Development Block Grant Money be used to complete an engineering study of flooding problems in the Montclair marshes.

The QCA also suggested that these points be considered in any proposed condominium conversion ordinance:

- The city's apartment vacancy rate must be 30 per cent or higher.
- The present owner must have held the property for five years before applying for conversion.
- Overdue taxes must be paid before conversion permits are issued.

The QCA will hold its 13th annual dinner-dance Friday, June 19, at the Neighborhood Club. Bernie King's orchestra will play for dancing. The Citizen of the Year award will be made.

Tickets are available from Mrs. Saul Lipsitz, 40 Harriet Ave., Montclair, 328-8327.

Perfect Season

A-N Track Team Gives Hourin 25th City Title

The Atlantic-North Junior High boys' track team ended a perfect season last week when it gave 34-year coach Dave Hourin his 25th city championship in the annual all-city meet at Veterans Memorial Stadium.

Atlantic-North, which had finished 4-0 in dual meet competition, easily won the city meet with 70 points, with Broad Meadows second with 42½. Central had seven points, Sterling six and Point 4½.

The margin over Broad Meadows was surprising, as BM had lost to A-N by only two points in the first meet of the season, BM's only loss.

A-N won seven of the 10 events, including both relays, and BM won the other three events.

"This was just a great team effort," a happy Hourin, who intimated this might be his last year as coach. "This was the best educated, most sportsmanlike team I have coached in my 34 years at North and I thank them all for giving me my 25th city championship."

"This was one great bunch of kids, real hell raisers at times, but smart when the chips were down. They are the greatest."

North's Don Fink won the 100 in 11 seconds with teammates Colin Power and Chris Gizelis second and third.

Jim Kennedy of North finished unbeaten by winning the 440 in 48 seconds with teammates John Tamburi and Joe Bangs 3-4.

North's Tim Sullivan, the first eighth grader to win the mile in the city meet in 34 years, did so in 5:12 with teammate Jack Coyle third.

North's John DeLappe finished unbeaten, winning the high jump at 5-6, with teammate Kennedy third.

Fink also won the long jump at 17-¾, with teammate Tamburi third.

The North one-lap relay team of Gizelis, Power, Banks and John McGuire won in the outstanding time of 41 seconds and the two-lap team of Bob King, Fink, Dimitrios Mantalos and Kennedy won in the excellent time of 1:22.

North's DeLappe was second and Mantalos third in the hurdles, Dave Blaton, running hurt, was third in the half mile and Power was second by one inch in the shot put with a toss of 34-5.

Broad Meadows' Mark Cohen, who earlier had run the fastest half mile in the city, won that event in 2:14. Carl Freedman won the hurdles in 6.5 seconds and Bill Gardiner won the shot at 34-6 to finish unbeaten.

Jim Donahue was second in the 440, Vin Servaes second in the mile, Bob Zupkofska second in the half mile, Freedman second in the long jump, Paul Burke, tied for fourth in the 100, and Cohen, fourth in the high jump.

Central's points came from Jamie Paz, second in the high jump, the one-lap relay team that was third and the two-lap team which was fourth.

Sterling got its points from Jollimore, fourth in the half mile, Fratten, fourth in the shot, Spinks fourth in the hurdles; the one-lap relay team which finished fourth and the two-lap team which was third.

The only points for undermanned Point were scored by Tocchio, third in the shot and tied for fourth in the 100; Gilmore, fourth in the mile, and Kerr, fourth in the long jump.

-- TOM SULLIVAN

STEVE BOWEN of Squantum recently completed his first year on the Babson College baseball team. Bowen, a freshman, was the backup catcher and was called "the best defensive catcher we have" by Coach Steve Stirling. He is a 1978 graduate of Buckingham, Browne and Nichols School where he played baseball, football and hockey for three years. He captained the baseball team as a senior.

Broad Meadows Bombs

Point, 14-4

The Broad Meadows Junior High baseball team defeated Point for the second time, 14-4, last week, to improve its record to 5-2.

Chris Herr pitched 3½ innings of shutout relief to save the victory for Bill Cunneen.

Mike Notarangelo had two home runs and a single, Joe Conti a homer and single, Mark Abboud two hits and Paul Miller, Joe Cullen, Peter McCarron and Herr one each.

BM earlier had come from behind to top Atlantic-North, 15-12. Notarangelo was the winning pitcher, going the distance.

Cullen had three hits, Abboud and Ed Boyle two each and Notarangelo (home run), Conti, Cunneen, McCarron, P. J. Hussey and Joe Monahan one apiece.

Quincy Girls Softball Team Better Than Record

The Quincy girls' softball team, which took the Suburban League title last year with a 16-3 record and won a game in the Eastern Mass. tournament, finished with only a 7-9 record this spring but played good ball after losing its first four games.

"Our record is not as bad as it seems, as we had only three returning starters and had a lot of things happen during the season," Coach Barbara Webster said.

"Three of our girls, third baseman Nancy Chludzinski, pitcher Sue Gallery and outfielder Susan Callahan, made the first team Suburban League all-star team, an honor they all deserved."

Chludzinski led the team with a .410 average, Callahan batted .409, Liz Derbes .388, Janet Witham .351 and Karin Kozlowski .343.

Chludzinski and Michelle Derbes had 18 RBI apiece and Callahan led the team in stolen bases with seven.

"My thanks to all the players for another good season," Miss Webster said. "If it wasn't for my sophomores, Michelle Derbes, Heather Slicis and Laurie Prescott, we would have been in for real trouble. Junior Janet Witham and Prescott bounced around the infield more than the ball did, as they were called upon to play a different position almost every other game, they never complained and did a fine job."

"I want to express my special thanks to my seniors, captains Gallery and Chludzinski, Callahan, Kozlowski and Liz Derbes, who have stuck with me for three years. They are all great kids and deserve the best. Barbie Schumacher also did a fine job for us catching."

"Our jayvees, coached by Hank Conroy, had another outstanding season with a 13-3 record. Kim Moccia pitched every game. Susan Dacey was our catcher and did an outstanding job. Kathy Duggan did a fine job at third base and Nancy DeChristofaro was an outstanding outfielder."

After losing their first four games, the First Ladies won the next four, including an 11-4 decision over North Quincy, avenging an earlier defeat. They handed Newton North its first loss of the season, 9-7, walloped Brookline, 17-5, and lost a heartbreaker to Brockton, 11-10. Quincy had two runners on and two outs in the last inning, but the Brockton shortstop made a great leaping catch of Callahan's sizzling line drive to end the game.

Quincy also walloped Waltham, which had lost only three games, 15-5 and easily defeated Weymouth North, 16-7. The First Ladies wrapped up the season by overwhelming Brookline, 27-5.

• Junior Farm League Red Sox Clinch A.L. First Place

The Red Sox clinched first place in the Junior Farm League's American League with a 12-1 record.

The Indians and Angels are tied for second place with 9-5 marks. In the National League the Braves and Giants are tied with 20 points apiece, the Braves at 10-4 and the Giants at 10-5.

The Braves edged the Giants, 1-0, with winner Timothy Brillo and loser David Murphy hooking up in an excellent pitching dual. Brillo allowed five hits, while Murphy gave up only three. Robert Ricciardielli's triple in the second inning drove in Sean Murphy with the only run. Matt Buccella and Dan Crespi had the only other hits for the Braves. Peter McLaughlin, Sean Capplis, Sean Burke, Mike Connor and Dave Murphy had the Giants' hits.

The Braves overcame a 3-0 deficit with three runs in the fourth and two in the fifth to tip the Mets, 5-3, with Sean Murphy the winning pitcher in relief of Robert Crespi, who gave up three runs and five hits in four innings. Ralph Richardson, Daniel Crespi and Michael Scolano had the big hits for the Braves. Scolano made the defensive play of the game, a fine running catch in center field which kept the Mets from scoring more than the three runs they scored in the second.

The Giants rolled over the Dodgers, 20-0, backing up Mike Connor's three-hit pitching with a 20-hit barrage and scoring nine runs in the fourth inning and eight in the fifth. Connor struck out 15 and walked seven. Sean Burke and Dave Connolly had two doubles and a single apiece. Paul Flynn had three singles. Dave Murphy a homer and double, Tom Bagley a home home run, Bobby Kane a triple and double, Peter McLaughlin two singles, Karyn Mosher a double and single (and an outstanding play at first base), Carmen Oliva a single and Timmy Collins a single and a fine play at the plate to end the game.

The Giants also blanked the Pirates, 8-0, as Burke scattered eight hits, struck out 10 and walked only two. Kane had a long homer and single and drove in three runs. Burke, Murphy, Capplis, Connolly and Flynn all had hits. For the Pirates Matt Kelly had three hits and Tom Murphy pitched well in defeat.

The Red Sox collected 14 hits and walloped the Yankees, 16-5, as Paul McClellon pitched three innings and struck out eight and Jamie Greene, Don Steele and P.J. McDonough combined to strike out 8 more in three innings. McClellon was the winner.

Ken Staskiewicz and McClellon led the attack with two hits apiece, Brian Zimmerman, Joey Hannon and Martin Feeney each had a double and Kevin Daly, Tim Roche, Greene, McDonough, Nicky Levins and Michael Doherty had one hit each. Chris Kyler, Bobby Moriarty, Matt Smith and Michael Hughes also reached base. Billy Monteigh pitched some good ball for the Yankees.

The Red Sox scored 21 runs in the fifth inning and annihilated the Orioles, 41-7, pounding out 23 hits and taking advantage of many bases on balls. Smith was the Kyler and Roche all pitched. Greene had four hits, Staskiewicz and McDonough three each, Daley two hits including a grand slam homer (he also scored four runs), Roche two hits and two runs scored, Doherty and McClellon two hits each (a three-run homer by McClellon), Smith a homer, Steele a double and three runs scored, Zimmerman a double and four runs scored, and Levins, Hughes and Kyler one hit each. Matt Ryan was on base four times and scored twice and Moriarty walked three times and scored twice.

Mark Dwyer had two home runs and a triple as the Indians rolled over the Yankees, 25-11. Joey Fasano had two hits and Steve Kavol, Kevin Burke, Mike Kiley, Steve Daggett, Sean Carroll and Jackie O'Brien all had hits. Brian Backman, Pat O'Donoghue, Ken Caiewski, Jimmy Collins, Jimmy Cosgrove and the Kiesel brothers, Robby and Richie, were outstanding in the field.

The Indians also topped the Tigers, 14-12, as O'Donoghue and Kiley shared the pitching duties. Dwyer had three hits, Kavol, Burke, Kiley, Carroll, Caiewski and Backman all played well and Fasano continued his hot hitting.

The Dodgers defeated the Cubs, 12-9, with Jim Maloney the winning hurler in relief of Kevin Heffernan. The Dodgers broke the game open in the fifth when Robert Geary hit his fifth grand slam homer of the season and Tommy Mayo followed with his third homer. Suzie Kingsbury, Michael Sullivan, Heffernan and Mark Krantz had key hits. Matt Donovan, Sullivan, Geary and Michael Walsh made fine defensive plays and Bobby Manning, Scott Leonard, Jeff Freeman, Tommy Cossaboom, Mike Danick, Sandy Callahan and Aaron Silverman all contributed to the win.

The Pirates stopped the Dodgers, 12-8, with Mike Baylis the winner, pitching good ball for four innings and also having two hits. Timmy Murphy relieved and faced only seven batters, striking out six in the last two innings. Murphy also had a homer and single. Matt Kelly had two hits and Eric Jancaster, Karen Housey, Rich Curry and Sean Glennon had one each. Tommy Murphy, Kelly, Bob Miller, Craig Galligan, Peter Ryan and Steve Nieters sparked on defense. By TOM SULLIVAN

The Morrisette Legion baseball team is off to a fast start in Zone 6 with victories in its first two games.

Morrisette edged Canton Monday night, 5-4, after walloping Quincy, 12-2, in its opener last week.

Ray Cattaneo's Morrisette team will play at Braintree Friday night at 6 o'clock, will play Wollaston Monday night at 8 at Adams Field and will host Randolph at 8 next Wednesday night at Adams.

Paul Earle pitched a strong game Monday night, giving up only two hits in four innings, but he walked six, the walks keeping him in trouble. Gary DiNardo pitched the last two innings, giving up only a home run by the Canton catcher.

Morrisette scored a run in the first, two in the second and two in the third. Jim O'Toole had two hits for Morrisette.

DiNardo scattered six hits and struck out seven in the victory over Quincy. Morrisette scored five runs in the second and five in the fifth to make a runaway of the game.

Wollaston will host Canton Friday night at 8 at Adams Field, will face Morrisette Monday at 8 at Adams and will play at Hingham next Wednesday at 6.

Falmouth Again Jinx

North Girls Second In State Meet

The North Quincy girls' track team completed its best season ever when it finished second among 125 schools in the recent state meet at Gardner.

Again it was North's jinx team, Falmouth, which prevented the Raiderettes from taking first place. Falmouth finished with 45 points to 34 for North Quincy. Peabody and Brookline tied for third place.

Earlier Falmouth had edged North, 76-71, for the Eastern Mass. title and a year ago North had finished second to Falmouth in the Eastern Mass. championships.

Lou Tozzi's Raiderettes had finished as unbeaten (8-0) Suburban League champions and had dominated the league championship meet.

"This was just a great season," Tozzi said. "It is the best we've done in girls' track and finishing second among 125 schools in the state is a tribute to the girls' hard work and dedication. They are a wonderful group of girls and they can be very proud of themselves. I myself couldn't be prouder."

Michelle Millane, defeated only once previously (in the Eastern Mass. meet), finished second in the discus with a toss of 126-5. The winner was Kathy Durante of Winchester with a toss of 127-1.

Kara Crehan finished second in the high jump with a school record 5-8, her best jump ever. She was leading but 1 1/2 Noble of Weston cleared the same height on her final try and was the winner due to fewer misses.

Mary Kate Kennedy ran her best

440 ever, finishing fourth in 58.2, and Deirdre Donovan was fifth with her best time, 58.6.

Nancy McCarthy finished fourth in the half mile in her best time, 2:16.2.

North's mile relay team of Donovan, Kennedy, McCarthy and Karen Lindenfelzler, finished second in 3:58.2, breaking the old state mark of 3:59.9. However, Beverly was just a bit faster and won in 3:57.1.

"I want to thank Bart Petracca, my assistant coach, who did a fine job with our runners," Tozzi said. "Also, I want to express my appreciation to the Quincy Track Club. Many of our girls compete with the club and it does a wonderful job."

Tom Connolly and Jerry Frazier had two hits apiece and Jack Outerbridge, Ricky Kelley, Joe Grimaldi, Vin Cristiani and John Cristiani had one each. Grimaldi played outstanding defense behind the plate. Scott Mele and Dan Kelly each had two hits for Granite City.

Morrisette also edged Barry's Dell, 11-10. Barry's took a 2-0 lead in the top of the first, but Morrisette came back with three in the bottom half with key hits by Grimaldi, Vin Cristiani and Matt Elofson. It added a run in the second, but Barry's came back with two in the third and three in the fourth to take a 7-4 lead. John Cristiani came on in relief and pitched four innings of excellent relief, giving up three hits and striking out three.

Trailing, 10-9, going into the bottom of the seventh, Morrisette scored twice, with Brian Scolata driving in the winning run with a two-out single. Gonzales was on base four times. Frank Reynolds, Mark Vielpando, Bob Bradley and Bob Drury had two hits each for Barry's.

Central Track Girls Tie A-N For First Place

The Central Junior High girls' track team finished in a tie with Atlantic-North for first place in the league with a 3-0-1 record.

Central had three fine milers in Tracey Corrigan, Mary-Ann Kelleher and Lynne Maloney.

In the half mile Bernadette Murphy and John Sullivan had excellent seasons.

In the 440 Geraldine Murphy had the best time and Diane Callow and Jennifer Golden also did well. Christine Francis ran the best time in the 100 and Karen Marnell also ran well and in the hurdles Lauren O'Rourke and Kristen Howard were the best.

Central also had some fine performances in the field events with Francis, Joan Sullivan, Bernadette Murphy and Lynne Maloney doing well in the long jump.

In the shot put Geraldine Murphy, Callow, Darlene Federico and Golden turned in fine efforts.

O'Rourke, Howard, Marnell and Terry Maloney were outstanding in the high jump.

The relay teams did well. Leading the junior varsity were Tricia Biagini in the hurdles and shot put, Stacie Nigro, half mile and shot; Michelle Proude, 100 and long jump; Jennifer Rush, 440 and shot; Mary Lou Wirtz, 100 and long jump; Ann Lombardi, 440; Kelley Fallon, mile; Leanne O'Rourke, hurdles and high jump; Marivic Escano, 440 and long jump; Elizabeth O'Brien, 100 and long jump; Cathy Hooley, 100; Stacey Carvalho, high jump and hurdles, and Kathy Gorzyca, half mile.

"These jayvees will be on a varsity level next year if they stick with it," said Coach Ralph Koelsch. "Due to Proposition 2 1/2, this is probably my last year coaching Central track. This was definitely one of my hardest working teams and I want to express my appreciation to all."

Rotary played its best defensive game in defeating Keohane's, 17-4, pounding out 17 hits. Bill MacDougall and Thompson made fine catches in the outfield and Mullaney was outstanding at second base. Burkhead was the winning pitcher, giving up four hits, Collins and Joe Mulvey were solid behind the plate and had a hit each. Fitzgerald and Burkhead each had four hits, Thompson and Mullaney had two each and MacDougall and Mark Zimmerman also had hits. Joe Rabbs, injured in his previous game against Boston Gear, bounced back to play well for Keohane's.

YMCA Plans Fenway Trip If Strike Over

The South Shore (Quincy) YMCA will sponsor a trip to Fenway Park on Saturday, June 27, providing the major league strike is over, for a game between the Red Sox and the Detroit Tigers.

The cost is $4.50, which includes a reserved bleacher ticket and round-trip transportation from the "Y" to Fenway Park.

Tickets may be purchased only on Saturdays from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. at the "Y" Youthroom. The bus will leave the "Y" at 12:30 p.m. the day of the game.

This event is open to the public.

Kickers Edge Holbrook, 6-5

The North Quincy Kickers' under 19 soccer team won its first game recently, edging Holbrook, 6-5.

Steve Sacchetti, the team's leading scorer, had four goals. North trailed, 3-2, at half time with Sacchetti scoring both goals. His third goal tied the score and Mike Bourikas put North ahead. Rich Palma, playing an outstanding game at wing, scored late in the game and Sacchetti scored the game winner with five minutes left. Bobby Flynn, Jay Williams, John Keenan and Alex Coutts played well for the Kickers.

The under 12 team, playing one of its finest games of the season, tied second place Brockton, 2-2. Playing with only 10 players, North took a 1-0 halftime lead on Mike Benson's goal. Benson's second goal, coming off a corner kick as did the first one, gave North a 2-1 lead but Brockton tied it up with six minutes left in the game.

Andy Hirst, Adam McGregor and Lance Panaro played well on defense and Benson and Brian Callow also played excellent games.

The under 14 team lost to league leading East Bridgewater, 8-0. Trailing by only 2-0 at the half, because of David Fasano's excellent goal tending, North fell apart in the second half as nothing went right. Jay Osgood, Tony Losordo and Timmy Burke played well for North.

Q.

WHAT ARE THESE GREY AND BLACK SPECS THAT ARE ALL OVER MY HOUSE?

A.

It could be dirt but if it won't wash off with soap and water then most likely it is mildew. To determine if mildew is present place a drop of household bleach on the surface. This would destroy the mildew and whiten it but do nothing to the dirt. Mildew must be removed correctly before repainting to insure a good job. To make certain that your paint job is a good one be sure to shop at Hancock Paint.

by Clare Annswell

WEEK OF: JUNE 18
AQUARIUS - January 21-February 19
You may find this a difficult week where group efforts are involved. On your own, you could be a trail-blazer, especially where environmental work is concerned.

PISCES - February 20-March 20
A gentle touch isn't very effective this week. If you have a point to make, best to use a bullhorn. On the other hand, soft colors are your best bet where dress is concerned.

ARIES - March 21-April 20
Ensure that guarantees and other promises — made to you or issued by you — are in writing, and are realistic. More time than expected may be spent sifting through financial and legal papers.

TAURUS - April 21-May 22
It's easy to underestimate the expenses of a trip or the work involved in a recreational program. If visiting or traveling now, it's wise to have some alternate plans.

GEMINI - May 23-June 21
When the going gets tough, Gemini gets going. This week you face important professional challenges with a determination that wins plaudits from a select circle of admirers.

CANCER - June 22-July 22
While you're enjoying quiet dinners and pleasant jaunts to romantic places, people in high places are planning important things for your future. Love shows its funny side on the weekend.

LEO - July 23-August 22
Be wary of flatterers, and avoid any kind of reckless activity. Romantic alliances are favored for Leo people, married or single, but avoid playing matchmaker for others.

VIRGO - August 23-September 22
Problems with partners should be resolved before the week's end. Weekend amusements offer unexpected bonus. Home improvements are favored, but don't try cutting any corners.

LIBRA - September 23-October 22
Discoveries are made in every nook and cranny, and at least one find can lead to a profitable venture. Emotions may be running high among your nearest and dearest.

SCORPIO - October 23-November 21
Travel is spotlighted, and perhaps you're called on to perform some mission improbable. You're successful — in this or any other venture — if you combine humor with compassion.

SAGITTARIUS - November 22-December 22
Heavy responsibilities plus demanding social life mean that balance is current keyword. Actually, it's not too difficult a time, thanks to loving support from favorite partner.

CAPRICORN - December 23-January 20
Articulate Capricorn can put across difficult concepts and controversial ideas with ease and persuasiveness. Reunions held now focus more on the future than on the past.

BIRTHDAY THIS WEEK
Often blessed with psychic powers, you're emotional as well as intuitive. Year ahead offers string of financial bonuses. Career-education conflict should be resolved by autumn. Some important changes won't be of your making.

BORN THIS WEEK
June 18th, actor Richard Boone; 19th, actor Louis Jourdan; 20th, pianist Andre Watts; 21st, actress Jane Russell; 22nd, actor Karl Malden; 23rd, director Bob Fosse; 24th, comedian Ozzie Clark.

Timothy Cahill Candidate For Council At-Large

Timothy Cahill, '22, of 35 Packard's Lane, Quincy Point, a former legislative aide to Cong. Brian J. Donnelly, announces his candidacy for an at-large seat on the City Council.

"I do not run for this office opposed to any man or woman," he said in his announcement. "I run to seek new policies, to close gaps between young and old, rich and poor in this city.

"I run to unite the differing political factions, with the hope that we can use all our resources in a positive way.

"I base my candidacy on two important concepts: Dedicate myself to seek solutions to our problems and commit myself to work for the benefit of the entire city."

Cahill said he feels that tax reform and city wide development are the keys to the future of Quincy and he promised to exert his efforts to see that the city remains a cohesive and productive community.

Cahill attended Quincy public schools and was assistant wrestling coach at Quincy High School. He was graduated from Boston University this year with a degree in political science.

While he was attending Boston University, he interned as a legislative assistant to Donnelly in Washington.

Ward 2 Council Race Now Three-Way Fight

The race to succeed mayoral candidate Daniel G. Raymond as city councillor from Ward 2 turned into a three man race this week.

John H. McDuff Jr. of 216 South St., a 47-year-old hospital supervisor, took out papers to contest for the seat with Joseph Cortese and Theodore P. DeCristofaro.

McDuff is no stranger to Quincy politics. He ran for School Committee two years ago, finishing fifth in a field of five seeking the three seats on the board.

Seventh, eighth and ninth candidates were added to the growing field seeking an at large seat on the Council.

Picking up papers were William J. O'Hare, 27, of 59 Hamden Circle, a lawyer; Dennis Buckley, 26, of 24 Summit Ave., an accountant; and John J. Quinn, who will be seeking a 13th two-year term.

Council President Leo J. Kelly also took out papers to run for a fifth term.

FACILITY PLAN FOR WATER POLLUTION CONTROL

In compliance with the National Environmental Policy Act of 1969 and subsequent rules and regulations adopted by the United States Environmental Protection Agency effective February 11, 1974, the City of Quincy Department of Public Works will hold a Public Hearing to discuss the Facility Plan which has evaluated improvements to the City's existing sewerage system. The planning area for this report includes all of the City of Quincy except the South Quincy/Faxon Park Area that was previously studied in 1976. The Facility Plan investigated improvements to the existing Quincy Point Pumping Station and the City's Interceptor Sewer System, all in relation to their adequacy and compatibility for wastewater collection and transmission to the regional treatment facilities located at Nut Island. The principal alternatives evaluated in the planning process as well as the environmental consequences of the proposed project will be discussed.

The hearing is scheduled for Harry W. Tirrell Hall, City Hall, Quincy, Massachusetts, beginning at 7:30 p.m. on Tuesday, July 14, 1981. DeCristofaro Outlines Reasons He Seeks Ward 2 Seat

Ted DeCristofaro, candidate for Ward 2 Councillor, outlined his reasons for seeking the Ward 2 seat at a recent coffee hour at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Bagen, 782 Southern Artery.

DeCristofaro said that, this year, more than ever, Ward 2 needs a voice on the City Council which will accurately reflect the views of all its citizens, from South Quincy to Quincy Point.

Citing the "inherent distrust many people seem to have of our political system," DeCristofaro emphasized the need to elect an individual "whose record is unblemished, someone who has proven by his acts, rather than his words, the kind of councillor he will be."

As a life long resident of Ward 2, and an active member of several community based civic groups, DeCristofaro said he has demonstrated his willingness to get involved long before his bid for the City Council.

"I did not come out of the woodwork to campaign for this office," said DeCristofaro, "and I will not disappear when the election is over. Win or lose, I will remain in constant touch with the people of the ward because with me that's not a method of campaigning, it's a way of life."

Agreement In Sight To Rehire 10 Firefighters

The Tobin administration may be on the verge of another agreement with the Firefighters Union that could restore 10 laid off fire fighters to their jobs.

The first agreement was voted down by the rank and file of the union a month ago.

Mayor Arthur H. Tobin said the new negotiations had reached the point where special negotiator

Charles L. Shea and acting auditor William Grindlay were calculating the precise savings to the city.

The mayor said he expected their report momentarily.

Basically, the agreement is similar to that which the firefighters turned down in May, they would give up some benefits to bring back the 10 who had been laid off.

"I haven't seen the details," said Tobin Tuesday afternoon. "But Charlie Shea tells me they are more specific."

If Tobin accepts the agreement and it is ratified by the members of the union, the mayor said, there could be a break in the issue before July 1.

Strand Theatre Granted Video Machine Permits

The Strand Theatre, Quincy Center, which scrapped plans for a Backstage Arcade in late 1979, was granted permits for three video machines at Tuesday's License Board meeting.

Anthony Delpideo, who now owns and operates the theater, said two machines would be located downstairs and one, upstairs.

They will only be in use when the theatre is open, said Delpideo who added he didn't think noise from the machines would interfere with movies being shown.

"If they do (interfere)" said Delpideo, "we'll take them out."

The machines will help generate funds to pay the utilities, according to Delpideo.

City Clerk John Gillis noted that at one time, the theatre had permits for five pinball machines.

Police Chief Francis Finn said he thought Delpideo was entitled to try the machines. "That's a big nut to crack," said Finn referring to the expenses of running the theatre.

Building Inspector Allan MacDonald said he saw nothing wrong with the three machines.

Fire Chief Edward Barry opposed the permits.

17 Jobs At Stake

Despite Hazards, Firefighters Lose Injunction Bid

By TOM HENSHAW

The work of a firefighter is, by its very nature, hazardous, said Superior Court Judge Paul G. Garrity, therefore it is not possible for a union contract to set minimum safety conditions.

And, he added, the laying off of firefighters is a political decision, not one for the courts.

With that, Judge Garrity last week denied the Quincy Firefighters union a preliminary injunction that would have prevented the layoff of 17 firefighters and the deactivation of Company B at headquarters.

Judge Garrity concurred with the union's contention that the layoffs would increase the risk of serious injury or death to other firefighters, but, he added:

"Neither Quincy firefighters nor for that matter any firefighters in the Commonwealth, have either a constitutional, or a statutory or a common law right to so-called non-hazardous working conditions."

"In fact, it almost goes without saying that the working conditions experienced by firefighters in the course of their fire suppression activities are of their nature hazardous."

The judge called it "inconceivable" that a union contract could set working conditions "from the perspective of safety considering the nature of the work firefighters are typically engaged in."

He noted that provisions of the contract "clearly contemplate that the city might at some point have to engage in the politically difficult task of discharging or laying off firefighters."

"That -- politically difficult decision-making -- is what this case is all about."

"Decisions about the size of the firefighting force and the deployment of its members are political decisions not properly the business of the courts."

Judge Garrity said that in this case he was weighing the chances of irreparable harm being done to the firefighters against "that elusive concept called the public interest."

"There can be no doubt that the impending layoffs and deactivation of equipment would irreparably harm the interests both of the union and its members," he said.

"In my opinion, any increased risk of danger to the city's firefighters which could conceivably result in their death or serious injury is the most basic kind of irreparable harm."

"However, in my opinion, the union has little or no choice of prevailing on the merits of its claims."

UNIDENTIFIED MAN falls from bus in North Quincy station during opening day of massive transfer of commuters from Ashmont and Mattapan. MBTA banned pictures after Sun photographer Dave Gillooly photographed the mishap.

'Better Than Expected'

MBTA Busing Starts Smoothly In N. Quincy

The busing of commuters from Dorchester to North Quincy has started off so smoothly that some people who regularly take the MBTA Red Line trains in North Quincy may be sorry to see it end.

"One person told me that the service is better than ever," said City Councilor Joanne Condon, who was skeptical of the whole proposal. "He said, 'What are we going to do in October when they cut back?'"

Busing commuters from Ashmont and Mattapan started last Monday when the Dorchester branch of the Red Line was closed down for repairs. Busing to North Quincy will continue until Oct. 16.

Mrs. Condon was on hand at the North Quincy station from 5 a.m. to 10 a.m. and 4 p.m. to 6 p.m. Monday and from 6:45 a.m. to 9:30 a.m. Tuesday to watch over the interests of her constituents.

"It's working better than people thought," she conceded. "There were some delays but there were plenty of trains and the buses were working very smoothly."

However, things were not working smoothly inside the North Quincy MBTA parking lot Monday evening when Quincy Sun photographer Dave Gillooly was told he could not take any pictures after he photographed a man falling off a bus.

A loudspeaker from a station wagon in the parking lot warned MBTA personnel: "Don't talk to the press. Don't allow any pictures to be taken."

Gillooly said he was told by a man in an MBTA uniform that any pictures had to be cleared with the MBTA's communications office. It started raining at that point and no further pictures were taken.

The man who fell from the bus got up and walked away with no apparent ill effects.

Mrs. Condon credited at least 50 per cent of the early success of the busing to the fact that the buses used Commander Shea Boulevard instead of congested Hancock St. to reach the station from the Neponset Bridge.

The little-used Shea route was suggested by Mrs. Condon's 13-year-old son, Christopher, who promptly became an opening day celebrity with interviews in Boston newspapers.

"He's not certain he likes being a celebrity," reported Mrs. Condon. Christopher was even less certain when one newspaper confused him with his 23-year old brother, Michael.

The MBTA pulled out all stops to make at least the first few days of the busing a rousing success.

Some 20 "Bluebird" trains were converted and brought over from the Dorchester Red Line. Some trains were halted at North Quincy, loaded and sent back into Boston to alleviate the crowded platforms.

The station swarmed with MBTA personnel, including some with walkie talkies to move the crowd smoothly. The MBTA bent over backward to be helpful, too.

Mrs. Condon said she had one complaint from a resident on Billings St. about a bus with a loud muffler and by the time she had gotten in touch with the MBTA the problem had already been taken care of.

"The MBTA was very cooperative," said Mrs. Condon. "I hope they keep the same number of people here so that they can continue the smooth operation."

Thieves Take $50,000 In Jewelry

Thieves swapped a power drill, crow bar and sledge hammer for up to $50,000 in jewelry during a Monday night break in downtown Quincy.

They smashed a 16-by-24 inch hole through the cinder block wall in The George Stone Jewelry Co., Inc., 1470 Hancock St., and made off with gold chains, diamond rings and watches taken from the store safe.

Detective Robert Bird described the break as a professional job.

The entry was made from an adjacent abandoned storefront, formerly occupied by Public Finance Co.

The thieves apparently entered the empty building by prying a back door.

They attempted to break through to the jewelry store through the ceiling and the 8-inch thick wall. They entered the jewelry store's back room.

The thieves used the drill to pry the steel back off the five foot high safe, and departed without their tools.

The store was closed Tuesday afternoon while employees took inventory.

Cemetery Lots, Care Going Up $50 July 1

The cost of dying in Quincy is going up for the second time in eight months.

Howard L. Gunnison Jr., chairman of the Board of Managers of the Public Burial Places, announced that the price of cemetery lots is going up from $300 to $350 effective July 1.

At the same time, the cost of perpetual care will be raised from $100 to $150, but all other fees, including internment, cremation, etc., will remain the same.

Cemetery Supt. J. Vincent Smyth said the hike in prices is in line with increases in fees made by other city departments.

Quincy's fee schedule, he said, is still on a par or slightly below that of other municipal cemeteries.

Last Nov. 1, the price of a cemetery lot in Quincy went up from $250 to $300 but perpetual care and other fees remained the same.

Masons, Carpenters Strikes Delay UDAG Garage Opening

Completion of the $5 million UDAG parking garage at Granite St. and Burgin Parkway has been delayed six weeks by strikes of masons and carpenters.

And if the strikes continue, all work on the garage that is being built over the MBTA tracks will come to a standstill in about two weeks.

But, if the strikes were to end today, the garage would open as scheduled in late September because it was six weeks ahead of schedule when the masons walked out.

If the strike persists it will upset Mayor Arthur H. Tobin's plan to open the garage, with its more than 550 parking spaces, in time to provide additional parking for Thanksgiving and Christmas.

Moscone, Inc., the contractor, notified the city last week that the strikes were affecting the work on the concrete walls and the wooden forms used to contain them.

Tobin said plans to open the garage in time for the holidays will be held in abeyance depending on the length of the strike.

Masonry workers and bricklayers went on strike May 1 and the carpenters went out June 16.

Community Pride

Russell Park Residents Do It Themselves

Some people sit back and grumble about community services cut by Prop 2 1/2. Others do what they can to minimize their loss.

Residents of Russell Park near Quincy Center are the latter sort.

When a 25 percent reduction in the Park and Forestry Department budget eliminated city-supplied flowers on the Russell Park medium divider, the residents chipped in and bought marigolds.

Then they got down on their knees and planted them.

The result: no evidence of Prop 2 1/2 on Russell Park.

Richard J. Koch, executive secretary of the Park-Recreation Board, said this community effort represents a "new concept in municipal citizen participation."

Koch's remarks came in a letter of thanks to Karen C. Rydwansky of 53 Russell Park, who was among those who purchased and planted the flowers.

The residents obtained permission from the Park Dept. before going ahead with their street beautification project.

For Selling To Minor Board Suspends Liquor Store License

By NANCY McLAUGHLIN

The City License Board voted 3 to 1 Tuesday to suspend the liquor license of Keltic Liquors of Quincy, 301 Quincy Ave., for one day, June 29, for allegedly selling to a minor.

Health Commissioner Dr. Robert P. McKeogh voted against the one day suspension. City Clerk John Gillis was not present at the meeting.

This is the second time in less than a month that the board has suspended the license of a Quincy liquor establishment for selling to a minor.

According to the police report, the alleged incident involving Keltic Liquors took place May 1, when clerk Michael McDonald sold four cases of beer to a minor.

McDonald asked the minor for a proper ID which the youth was unable to produce. The youth then pointed out an older man in the store and said that the liquor was for the second man who indicated to McDonald, that that was the case.

However, it was the minor who paid for the liquor and took it out of the store.

The minor was later taken to court and the case was continued without a finding, though the youth was requested to pay court costs of $25.

Building Inspector Allan MacDonald said he was disappointed with the courts which "teach kids they can break any law and get away with it."

"Then we wonder why they have no respect for the law," said MacDonald.

Atty. James Shannon, representing Keltic Liquors, told the board, "The clerk made a mistake...one transgression."

Shannon said the incident with the minor was "an occupational hazard."

Fire Chief Edward Barry said that the liquor business is a "privileged business."

"Employees know the rules," said Barry, "the License Board requires proper identification (for liquor transactions). He should've known better."

Barry commended the police for "doing a good job". He urged that the board take proper action to support the police.

Police Chief Francis Finn said, "The police are not out for blood." He pointed out that the establishment admitted doing wrong.

"Not many admit the facts," said Finn.

Keltic manager James P. McGrath told the board that he has problems in his parking lot with minors who ask others to buy liquor for them.

McGrath said that he orders the youths out of the parking lot when he can. He also said that boulders have been thrown through his front window in retaliation.

McGrath told the board he would spend more time at the establishment, especially during busy nights such as Fridays.

Barry at first commended suspending the establishments license for one week, but later agreed to Finn's suggestion of a one day suspension.

In parting, Barry told McGrath, "You know the thorny path having a liquor license entails. We don't want to see you back here (at the License Board)."

LaRaia Files For Council Re-election

Joseph J. LaRaia, the former mayor who made a political comeback as a city councillor at large two years ago, has taken out papers to run for re-election.

LaRaia, 48, who lives at 54 Grogan Ave., West Quincy, joins a list of candidates for three at large seats that now totals 10, the largest field since 1967, if all 10 qualify for the ballot.

The field includes two of the three incumbents, LaRaia and John J. Quinn, plus Patricia Toland, a member of the School Committee. The third incumbent, Francis X. McCauley, is running for mayor.

Opposition appeared for Council President Leo J. Kelly last week when David MacMillan, 43, of 19 Bell St., a liquor clerk, took out nomination papers for Council in Ward 1.

Kelly defeated MacMillan by a wide margin in 1979.

Pass Needed To Photograph MBTA

"Private citizens must obtain a pass to take photos on MBTA property," said Paul DiNatale, the MBTA's information editor.

DiNatale was explaining why MBTA personnel tried to stop Quincy Sun photographer Dave Gillyooly from taking pictures of the buses bringing Dorchester commuters to North Quincy Monday.

"The pass," he said, "stipulates that the T is not responsible for injuries the photographer receives and the photographer is responsible if he causes any injuries."

He called it "standard operating procedure to notify the MBTA where and when a photographer will be shooting a picture.

"If you shot a flash at an oncoming train or bus driver," he said, "you could momentarily blind him. We've had blinded drivers in the past."

Gillyooly was taking pictures (without flash) of passengers boarding and getting off buses in the North Quincy MBTA parking lot when he photographed a man who fell from a bus.

After that, he said, MBTA personnel were advised over a loudspeaker not to talk to reporters or to permit picture-taking.

And Now, Comfort Woman?

Well, there's been Superman, Batman, Spiderman and Quincy's own Comfortman.

And there's been Wonder Woman, Bionic Woman. Don't look now, but is there a Comfortwoman about to make her debut?

Sandy Rounseville, alias Clark Comfort, has been running newspaper ads challenging Spiderman who climbed the Sears building in Chicago — the tallest building in the world.

Comfortman wants Spiderman to come to Quincy and race up the Beacon Fabric Building in Quincy with $1,000 going to the winner.

Spiderman was the name given Daniel Goodwin, a 25-year-old dancer, who recently scaled the Sears building in Chicago. That's quite a climb: 110 stories, or 1,454 feet, or a quarter-mile high.

The Beacon Fabric Building on Hancock St. in downtown Quincy is a puny 20 feet high.

But Comfortman thinks that will work to his advantage.

"Spiderman will take one look at the height of the building and by the time he stops laughing, I'll be up the side and on the roof waving down at him," says Comfortman.

In fact one called who said he was the man who climbed the First National Bank building in Boston wanted to know if he could get in on the $1,000 challenge.

When he asked how tall the Beacon Building was and Comfortman told him 20 feet, the guy started howling with laughter and hung up.

Comfortman plans to send a letter to Johnny Carson asking his help in locating Spiderman. While he's at it, he might even challenge Carson.

Comfortman has been getting quite a response to the ad. Among the many callers were women.

A few of them hinted they thought Comfortman was flirting with discrimination.

"Why can't we climb the building?" they wanted to know. "Why just you and Spiderman? What's the matter with us women?"

Comfortman explained that he's challenging Spiderman because of the latter's exploits in the Windy City.

But, he thinks out of all this, Comfortwoman might emerge.

"I can just see her now," he says. "Yes — Lois Comfort . . ."

THE FUTURE OF Quincy schools apparently wasn't too certain back in 1914 either. The QHS class of that year — the so-called "worst class" that included actress Ruth Gordon, was told by School Committee Chairman John D. Mackay in his address:

"If you will show by your walk and conversation that you are high school graduates, you will be making it easier for us and our successors on the school board to obtain from the City Council the money wherewith to give similar education to the boys and girls who are coming after you. You will be enabling us to keep this school going, with powers unimpaired."

GORDON

REP. Thomas F. Brownell's name has been included in the 1981 edition of Who's Who In American Politics.

LISA THOMPSON, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Philip Thompson of 212 Highland Ave., Wollaston, received an unexpected surprise on her 11th birthday the other day: a "thank-you" response from President Ronald Reagan.

Lisa had written to him after the assassination attempt, expressing how upset she was over the event and concern for his recovery.

The President's response, printed on a formal white card with the White House seal, was signed personally by him and reads:

"How delighted I was to receive your get well message! It tells me of your friendship and makes me very happy. I know with so many young people rooting for me that it won't be long before I'm feeling much better."

"From the bottom of my heart, thank you for caring."

Lisa says she will cherish the card the rest of her life.

LaRaia Charges Employee Rights Violated

Editor, The Quincy Sun:

During the last month we have seen decisions by various agencies of the Commonwealth that have confirmed the charges of City employees that their rights have been violated. These rights were contained either in union contracts or civil service law. The agencies ruling on charges of violated rights included the State Labor Relations Board, Civil Service Commission, the Courts and independent arbitrators.

These decisions which were favorable to aggrieved individuals and groups of employees are going to cost the taxpayers plenty. Back wages, raises and interest payments are included in this obligation. The biggest tragedy of all is the violation of individual rights — particularly in this day and age of the recognition of individual rights. For the last 3½ years the Mayor of our City has exercised a complete disregard for the rights of individuals as evidenced by his actions in firing and laying-off certain City employees. He camouflaged his actions during the budget restrictions of the State's 4% cap by claiming the firings and lay-offs were due to the 4% cap.

The decisions handed down proved that the lay-offs in most instances were improper for various reasons. In one case an employee's charge of political retaliation was confirmed by the Civil Service Commission.

Many of these City employees were appointed during my administration as Mayor.

The Mayor of our City in his efforts to display his authority (the authority the public has vested in him) has used every legal maneuver to delay and postpone the inevitable. The delay has cost the City dearly while it has served his purpose of boosting his super-ego.

The employees have stuck it out and endured in their grief, in most cases for up to a year, and still, the Mayor proclaims he will appeal to a higher court.

The whole effort doesn't cost the Mayor one cent, but it will be levied on the taxpayers and be the responsibility of the next Mayor.

Yet, this expense will pay for services the City did not receive through no fault of the employees.

What is more appalling is the thought that the Mayor is slated to be an employee of the Court. The thought is frightening when we still like to believe that Courts and the people associated with them represent compassion, understanding and fairness in dispensing justice.

It is reprehensible that in this day and age when individual rights are paramount that an officer of the Court (Attorney Tobin) has flaunted his elected authority on decent individuals.

Only one person ever legally contested a lay-off during my administration as Mayor which says a great deal for the manner in which I dealt with City employees. That one person was the Mayor's present Labor Negotiator, Joseph McParland. Mr. McParland won his job back during the first year of the Tobin administration — mainly because the City under Mayor Tobin defaulted its own case by not showing up at his Civil Service hearing.

Secretary Connolly Assails Reagan On Preservation Cuts

State Secretary Michael Joseph Connolly visited Hancock Cemetery last week, the final step toward recommending the venerable burying ground to the National Register of Historic Sites.

Connolly, who is chairman of the Mass Historical Commission, took the occasion to throw a few jabs at the Reagan Administration for its penny-pinching in preserving America's historic sites.

"It is ironic that we are trying to preserve consecrated ground while Washington is finding nothing holy about America's heritage," he said.

"The ground we stand on was consecrated through the ideals and devotion of such great leaders as John Hancock and the Adamses.

"But while we in the cradle of America are fighting to preserve the memory of our ancestors through preservation activities, the Reagan axe is cutting to the quick of our heritage.

"There is still time, however, for us to be heard. I asked you to write to our congressional delegation and ask for the reinstatement of preservation appropriations."

Connolly was conducted on a brief tour of historic sites in downtown Quincy by Robert Luongo, preservation planner in the Planning Department.

School Reuse Program Wins Award For County

Norfolk County has won a National Association of Counties award for the fifth time in the past six years for the development of a program for the reuse of closed schools.

The program was completed last November by the Norfolk County Development Council and handbooks have been sent to the mayors of Quincy, finance committee chairmen and members of the school committee.

"We recognized the need for such a program when school enrollments were falling off sharply in Norfolk County," said John C. Nourse of Weymouth, the county planning director.

"With the enactment of Proposition 2½ it became increasingly important."

In many communities, he said, responsibility for the closed schools is given to people "who have neither the time nor the expertise to dispose of them in a manner that is in the best interest of the town.

"This program covers nearly every alternative available from outright sale to demolition and the how-to's to expedite it."

6 QEA Members To Attend National Conference

Six members of the Quincy Education Association will be among the delegates at the 119th annual convention of the National Education Association July 2 to 7 in Minneapolis, Minn.

The local members are Susan

A. Finn, Marcia E. Karhu, Margaret O. King, Joanne A. O'Malley, Anthony V. Penill and Kenneth H. Worth.

Theme of the meeting is "Public Education: America's Strength". Delegates will discuss the crises the public schools are facing in confidence and financing. They will also elect a president, vice president and two members of the executive committee.

New Civil Service List Has Radical Seniority Cuts

Public Works Commissioner Ezekiel C. Sargent released a new state-mandated Civil Service seniority list which radically altered the status of all but 17 of the 227 employees of the Highway and Sanitary Departments.

The new list, which was ordered by State Civil Service Director Ulysses Lupien, based a worker's seniority on the number of successive years in which he worked at least 150 days. Some on the list lost 17 years of credits.

In two of the most radical changes, John Gregory slipped from sixth to 221st on the list and Daniel Flanagan went from seventh to 147th. Both started with the department in 1920.

The jolt was expected to be felt most severely in the fall when the construction season was over and 30 men were scheduled to be laid off.

A court suit against the new list was expected.

HEDGES AT CONVENTION

Rep. Charles W. Hedges (R-Quincy) reported from the Republican National Convention in Philadelphia that Thomas E. Dewey's presidential candidacy was weakening. Robert A. Taft was holding his own and dark horse Wendell Willkie was gaining strength.

Hedges and George Olsson of Brockton were among the South Shore delegates who were trying to hold together a futile drive to gain the presidential nomination for Cong. Joseph W. Martin (R-Mass).

Later, Hedges played a major role in setting up a meeting between Wilkie and Martin that paved the way for Wilkie's victory. The Massachusetts delegation went for Martin 33-1 on the first ballot and 28-4 for Wilkie on the third.

SQUANTUM WINS IN 10TH

Bill Moody's homer and triples by Jim Frazer and Bob Workman highlighted a six-run 10th inning as the Squantum Yankees defeated Hingham, 6-0, in a South Shore League game at Hingham.

Squantum's Mike Grano limited Hingham to seven hits and the Yankees got only five safeties off Bill Morrison in the first nine innings.

House Approves Brownell Elderly Housing Resolve

The State House of Representatives has given unanimous approval to a resolution urging Congress to enact legislation further expanding Section 8 housing subsidies for the elderly and poor.

The resolve was filed by Rep. Thomas F. Brownell.

"The current standard of living of many poor and elderly Americans is such that they are compelled to live in sub-standard housing," said Brownell, "and because of depressed finances are often unable to pay bills other than rent."

"It is incumbent upon all public officials to recognize the seriousness of the problem and give decent housing a priority status on the national policy agenda," Rep. Brownell added.

Section 8 is a housing assistance program based on a distribution formula to give direct rental assistance for the elderly and poor through local housing and redevelopment authorities.

ABOUT HEADACHES

Q: I've suffered migraine headaches for many years. Someone told me it could be my teeth. Is that true?

A: Could be. Many people wake up with a headache or pain in the neck or upper back because they grind their teeth while asleep. This can create severe muscle spasms, which lead to even more severe headaches. Have your dentist test you for bruxism (grinding). If that is your problem, he'll be able to help.

Q: My dentist told me I grind my teeth in my sleep. My husband says he never hears me do it. Who should I believe?

A: You can hear some people grinding their teeth across the room, but others have worn their teeth so smooth, they make no noise at all. (Listen to your dentist! You'll keep your teeth longer.)

Feeling Guilty? Many people do. Reasons range from broken homes to unbroken habits. Whatever the cause, it's an ugly feeling. Guilt is both the fact of having done wrong and the feeling of blame for doing it. It's worst when the way you live leaves you empty, frustrated, and filled with regret. But there is a solution. Face the fact and remember God forgives. Then let Him! Before this ad was placed we started praying for you because we care. Give us a chance to share.

Raymondi Says Downtown Development A Top Priority

City Councillor Daniel G. Raymondi, candidate for mayor, has pledged to make downtown development a top priority in his administration.

In a related matter, he called the Upland Rd. Extension project "vital" for the future economic development of Quincy.

Speaking at a coffee party sponsored by Theresa Lord of 240 Presidents Lane, Raymondi said, "Completion of the Upland Rd. Extension Project is crucial in order for Quincy's businesses to be able to successfully compete for area shoppers. Easy access to our shopping areas would result in more growth and development for our downtown area.

"As recently appointed chairman of the Downtown and Economic Development Committee on the City Council, I have effectively worked arm-in-arm with labor, business and industry for the benefit of Quincy. This experience will enable me, if I am elected Mayor of Quincy, to continue to work with all concerned with the proper planning and growth of our city.

"My background in economic development for Quincy is evidence of the expertise I'll bring to this desperate problem for our city. Without economic growth in Quincy, the burden on the residential homeowner will be too great."

HAVE A HAPPY SUMMER SEASON

— DICK KOCH, JR.

In 1979, Dick Koch, Jr. sought public office in Quincy for the first time. His vigorous campaigning turned an otherwise routine City Council election into a hard-fought race.

When the ballots had been counted, over 11,000 people had chosen Koch. He was runner-up to a former mayor of Quincy by just over 1% of the vote.

Dick did not request a recount, stating it "would inflict an additional expense of thousands of dollars for the city and its taxpayers to absorb during a serious fiscal period."

Morrisette Defeats Wollaston For 4th Win

Morrisette Legion baseball team defeated Wollaston Monday night, 6-3, to improve its Zone 6 record to 4-1.

Morrisette will play at Hingham (Cronin Field) Friday night at 6 p.m., will play at Brockton (Edgar Playground) Sunday at 5 and will play at Milton Monday at 6, ending the first round of the schedule.

Paul Earle and Mark Millane combined for a two-hitter Monday against Wollaston. Earle, the starter, had control troubles, however, walking nine batters. He struck out seven.

Morrisette scored three runs in the first when Marty McLoughlin reached on a fielders choice, Brian Reale singled, Bob Beniers walked. John Balzano scored McLoughlin with a sacrifice fly. Steve Pecevic singled Reale and Beniers scored on a fielders choice.

Wollaston scored twice in the bottom of the first without a hit, as Earle walked four.

Morrisette added a run in the second on singles by Earle and Gary DiNardo, a fielders choice and a sacrifice fly by McLoughlin.

Wollaston added its third run in the sixth and Morrisette added its last two runs in the seventh on hits by Balzano and Pecevic and an error.

Pecevic had three hits and Reale two for Morrisette, and McLoughlin continued to do an excellent job catching.

Morrisette suffered its first defeat, 4-0, at the hands of Braintree, last week, as Jack Holzman held Morrisette to one hit, a single by Balzano. Gary DiNardo was the losing pitcher.

Earlier in the week Morrisette topped Braintree, 6-1, with DiNardo pitching a five-hitter, striking out three, driving in a run and having eight assists and two putouts.

Morrisette scored a run in the second on two walks, a wild pitch and an error, and in the fourth Balzano hit a home run. In the sixth Pecevic doubled, Balzano singled him home, Kevin Howlett walked. DiNardo reached on a fielders choice, Balzano scoring and Jim O'Toole singled home DiNardo, who had reached second on an error. In the seventh McLoughlin doubled and scored on an error.

Balzano had two hits for Morrisette.

Quincy turned in its best performance at Holbrook, getting its only win in six starts, 9-4.

Jamie Walsh pitched six-hit ball, giving up only one earned run and striking out 12, giving him 21 strikeouts in two games.

John Costigan drove in three runs and Sean McEhin had two hits and two RBI.

Quincy was walloped by Randolph, 13-4, and also bowed to Brockton, 6-1. In the Brockton game the lone Quincy run came in the fifth inning when Paul Quigley walked, moved up on Walsh's slow chopper and scored on Costigan's two-out single.

Quincy will host Braintree Friday at 6 o'clock at Adams Field. will meet Wollaston Sunday at 1 at Adams and Monday night will wind up the first round of play against Hingham at 6 at Adams.

Wollaston evened its record at 2-2 Sunday with a 3-1 victory over Canton as Rich Hallberg pitched his second outstanding game, giving up only three hits. He earlier had pitched Wollaston over Randolph, 2-1.

Wollaston dropped a 4-3 squeaker to Weymouth, despite an excellent pitching job by Wollaston's Steve Healy of B.C. High, who pitched a four-hitter and struck out nine.

Wollaston will be home to Milton Friday night at 8, will meet Quincy Sunday at 1, will be home to Norwell Monday night at 8 and will host Randolph Tuesday night at 8 in the final first round game. All games will be at Adams Field.

• Junior Farm League

Braves, Giants Finish In Top Tie At 11-5

The Braves and Giants finished in a top tie in the Junior Farm League's National Division with 11-5 records and were scheduled to meet Tuesday night in a playoff game to decide the division winner, which will play the American Division champion Red Sox (14-1) in the championship game Friday at 5:45 at McCoy (Artery) Field.

The annual all-star game picnic will be held Saturday from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. at Faxon Field #1.

Q. MY HOUSE IS IN GOOD SHAPE EXCEPT FOR A "POWDERY FILM" ON THE PAINT. SHOULD I REMOVE THIS BEFORE RE-PAINTING?

A. That "powdery film" is called chalk. All paint will chalk to some degree as the normal results of exposure to sunlight. If the chalk dust covers your entire hand when rubbed across the surface it should be repainted. The chalk residue should be removed with a stiff brush and a strong spray from a garden hose. When thoroughly dry use a primer to uniformly seal the surface and follow with a good quality top coat. For the solutions to your paint problems be sure to see the "problem solvers" at Hancock Paint.

"UNINTENDED" WATER DEATH

No one "expects" to drown, yet, unbelievably, more than half of the 7,000 persons who lose their lives annually from drowning never intended to get into the water. Fishing, for instance, looks safer than water skiing. However, fishing accounts for nearly 50 percent of all fatal boating accidents; water skiing less than 5 percent.

The Red Cross estimates that 40-50 percent of those engaged in boating cannot swim well enough to save themselves and would drown if they had to swim over 50 feet.

The moral of the story is always be prepared for an accidental dunking. If you're a boater and cannot swim, take the time to learn - and always carry life preservers in your boat. Drowning, my friends, is never a scheduled event.

"Step in the read direction" is the theme of this summer's program for children, ages 4 through 12, at Thomas Crane Public Library.

Registration will be held Friday, June 26 at 10:30 a.m. in the main library branch in Quincy Center. Children who register will be given colored chalk and a space to draw their versions of feet that "step in the read

WEEK OF: June 25
AQUARIUS - January 21-February 19
A change of scene can bring about a favorable change of temperament. Older members of the opposite sex begin to give you more respect, responsibility, and affection.

PISCES - February 20-March 20
Relaxation proves the rarest of commodities, so enjoy quiet moments as they come. A conflict of interests may prevent advancement, but dedication pays dividends by Tuesday.

ARIES - March 21-April 20
While you shouldn't throw caution to the winds, a more adventuresome approach - in travel, in romance - brings pleasant results. Important messages come from unlikely sources.

TAURUS - April 21-May 22
Travel can broaden your horizons and influence your lifestyle and values. Healthwise, avoid foods that look strange and don't let the sunshine intoxicate you.

GEMINI - May 23-June 21
You take on the role of interpreter this week, explaining foreign phrases, cryptic comments and odd symbols. Make a determined effort to put more variety into your life.

CANCER - June 22-July 22
Thursday-Saturday favor business negotiations, especially ones involving property. Weekend accents study and romance, perhaps in combination. Monday is for meditation.

LEO - July 23-August 22
Promptly look after minor aches lest they hinder vacation plans. In fact, overall caution is favored; take a reserved approach to romance and a traditional view of financial matters.

VIRGO - August 23-September 22
Rewarding times can be spent with older relatives; draw on their expertise for advice on romance or career. Great attention to detail is required in all manner of activities.

LIBRA - September 23-October 22
Speak out against injustices or errors you witness; you're the voice of the public. Small but welcome windfall brightens weekend. Don't spend it all in one place.

SCORPIO - October 23-November 21
Intense Scorpio lightens his/her mood this week, no doubt thanks to a merry round of socializing. Weekend can include visits to beautiful places... among beautiful people.

SAGITTARIUS - November 22-December 22
Now's the week for making difficult announcements - and without mincing words. At the same time, you can show off your finest attributes - and are in for a little bit of luck.

CAPRICORN - December 23-January 20
A fine week for blending business and pleasure. Social life improves gradually. Younger friends and relatives liven up the weekend. Hunches pay off by Monday.

BIRTHDAY THIS WEEK

Maureen Bisognano Named Nursing Director At City Hospital

Maureen Ann Bisognano, a member of the nursing staff since 1973, has been named director of nursing at City Hospital, succeeding Michaeline Russell, effective July 1.

Mrs. Russell will be named to the new position of nursing systems coordinator.

Mrs. Bisognano, who lives in Milton, is a graduate of the Quincy City Hospital School of Nursing in 1973 and received a degree in nursing from the State University of New York in 1979.

She is currently working toward a masters degree in nursing administration at Boston University and expects to obtain it in May, 1982.

Mrs. Bisognano joined the staff at City Hospital as an operating room nurse in 1973 and later served as a staff nurse in the intensive care unit.

While she was studying in SUNY's external degree program from 1978-79, she was head nurse in the Intensive Care department and clinical supervisor in the Intensive Care Unit.

She has been assistant director of nursing since February, 1980, the year in which she was named as an "Outstanding Young Woman of 1980" and registered in "Outstanding Young Women of America".

Mrs. Bisognano, who lives with her husband, Peter, at 31 Beacon St. Circle, Milton, is a graduate of Fontbonne Academy.

Brooks Running For Council As Republican

The city election may be non-partisan and Democrats may outnumber Republicans by 4-1 in Quincy, but Gregory P. Brooks is running for the City Council as a member of the GOP.

"I am running as a Republican," the 24-year-old Brooks told a Ward 4 Republican fund-raiser last week. "I believe in the Republican party platform.

"Our message to the Democrats this September will be that we will no longer allow each and every Democrat a free ride into an elected office without a fight."

Republicans, who once ran things in Quincy, have become increasingly rare in the city over the past 20 years. Registered Democrats now outnumber them 31,940 to 7,814.

There are only two Republican officeholders in the city -- Councillor Francis X. McCauley and School Committeeman Francis Anselmo -- and neither makes a point of it in non-partisan city elections.

Brooks, however, urged his listeners to "let the Democrats know that Republicanism is alive and well in the city of Quincy. Together we can become part of the Republican party's grassroots rebuilding program that is already sweeping America."

Brooks, who was once a legislative aide to Rep. Andrew Natsios, chairman of the Republican State Committee, said he believes that "many of the ideas being used to solve our national domestic problems can be used to solve city ills as well.

"President Reagan wants to limit federal spending. We on the city level as well must learn that you cannot solve every problem by taxing the people for it, taking that money and then throwing it at the problems you are trying to solve."

MacMillan Attending Boys State

Michael F. MacMillan, son of Mrs. Kathleen P. and the late Joseph E. MacMillan, is attending Boys State at Nichols College in Dudley this week.

He is sponsored by Houghs Neck Legion Post.

Michael is attending Quincy High School where he made "Distinction" during both his sophomore and junior years. He was recently inducted into the National Honor Society, is a member of the Chess Club and the South Shore Career Collaborative, and received a letter of recommendation for the National Merit Scholarship Program.

Boys State is an American Legion week-long program to teach government to high school seniors. Senator Paul Harold will be among the guest speakers.

It takes a solid bank to meet the challenges of the 80's.
